All Fronts Blacked Out On Involvement In Laos

Denial To Any Border Crossing Amid Rumors

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

One of the tightest security blackouts in memory remained in force today on the progress of a major offensive by 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops to drive the North Vietnamese out of the northwestern corner of South Vietnam.

The White House, the State Department, the Pentagon and the U.S. Command in Saigon all refused to life the curtain of secrecy, and the Laotian defense minister denied that the offensive had crossed the border intoLaos as Russian and Japanese reports claimed.

Reliable Washington sources said earlier this week that 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops were involved in the operation.

The Ho Chi Minh Trail leading from North Vietnam southwards through Laos into South Vietnam and Cambodia dips into South Vietnam near Khe Sanh, a onetime U.S. Marine base just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and 10 miles east of the Laotian border.

East-West Highway 9 which parallels the DMZ crosses South Vietnam at this point and extends into Laos where the Communist defenders of the Ho Chi Minh Trail are at their greatest strength. The Washington sources said the South Vietnamese presumably would be assigned to go across the border for a broader cleanup. The Nixon administration said no U.S. ground forces would enter Laos but did not rule out air support.

There was no confirmation of Japanese press reports that South Vietnamese troops actually had gone into Laos or of a charge by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia that South Vietnamese had gone into Laos and were being led by American officers.

The Viet Cong itself did not make these charges. It said "tens of thousands" of Americans and Vietnamese were massed in the Khe Sanh area just below the Demilitarized Zone for an invasion and that South Vietnamese and Thai "mercenary" patrols had entered Laos.

Indication Of Report On Operation's Scope

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration indicated today that details would be made public soon on the scope of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese operations said to involve 34,000 troops in an area around the border of southern Laos.

Amid growing criticism among Democratic members of Congress about lack of consultation on the operation, administration officials said privately that they expected a news blackout in effect since last weekend on the campaign would be lifted relatively soon.

However, President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, turned away as he has since Friday all questions about the reported plans for use of 25,000 South Vietnamese troops —possibly crossing the border into Laos —to break up a Communist concentration.

Other administration officials, while hinting at a break soon in the embargo, cautioned reporters against making assumptions on the type or scope of the joint operation.

Ziegler did say under the daily barrage of questioning by reporters at the White House that it should be "quite clear that our objective in Southeast Asia is not to widen the war but to reduce U.S. involvement through Vietnamization." Vietnamization is the name given by Nixon to his plan for gradually turning over combat in Vietnam to the South Vietnamese.

Ziegler said the Nixon plan for reducing U.S. forces in Vietnam was containuing. This calls for a cutback to 284,000 men —almost half what the total once was —by the middle of May. The administration has expressed hope of reaching that level even before then, and Nixon plans to announce the next phase of the winding-down program about mid-April.

New demands for curbs on Indochina moves by the administration were stirred in the Senate by the mysterious new operation. Extensive hearings are planned by the Foreign Relations Committee.

At a news conference this morning in the House Rayburn office building, an antiwar group called the National Peace Action Coalition condemned what it described as an American-sponsored invasion of Laos and said antiwar demonstrations would be held April 24 in San Francisco and Washington.

Next door to the White House, a delegation of 10 to 15 women went to the office of Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's communications director, to protest the news blackout.

He would not discuss the embargo specifically with them but told the women there had been more extensive news coverage of the Southeast Asia war than any in U.S. history.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman, said he knew nothing about the operation and did not know why a news blackout was imposed. But he said "I think it's another case that's being blown out of proportion by the media and Senator Fulbright."

LONGHAIRED FIREMEN CLOG SMOKE MASKS

Firefighting and long hair don't mix in San Rafael.

That's what the city fire commission was told last night as it asked Chief Vance Trivett to write a set of rules governing the appearance of hirsute firemen.

Trivett said the problem is that smoke masks won't fig snugly on the faces of some long-haired firemen.

The chief said the new rules will restrict hair to neck-length in the rear; outlaw sideburns beyond ear-lobe length and ban long, bushy moustaches.

Spaceship Feels Tug Of Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14's astronauts today inspected their lunar craft for the first time since blastoff and pronounced it "in really good shape" for America's third moon landing Friday.

The two and one-half hour inspection, which ground controllers said "went very well," ended two days of near-idleness for the crew.

"Apollo 14's progressing very nicely," said taciturn commander Alan B. Shepard as he and rookie space fliers Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell beamed a 42-minute television show to earth.

During the inspection, Apollo 14 passed the distance from earth where an explosion wrecked the Apollo 13 moon mission and forced its crew to return home without attempting a landing.

The two and one-half hour inspection, which ground controllers said "went very well," ended two days of near-idleness for the crew.

They were resting again when Apollo 14 sped into the noon's sphere of influence. It was their last sleep period before the spaceship goes into orbit around the moon early Thursday.

Both the command ship Kitty Hawk and lunar lander Antares were described by Mitchell as "immaculate." He said the crew found a washer "floating around a day ago" but had seen no other objects loose in the spacecraft.

Ground controllers turned

Hot School Race Goes To Aitken

A 27-year-old Marin County Sheriff's deputy who favors more control in the classroom, captured a seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School District Board yesterday in a race to the wire against a Bolinas housewife.

Michael E. Aitken defeated Barbara G. Wilson, mother of three and a student at Dominican College, by 11 votes. Some 474 votes were cast in the election, a turnout of about 50 per cent of the 925 registered voters.

Aitken said today he will work "to bring people together to work for the betterment of the school" and promised to "do as much as I can for the school and the district."

For several years, the Bolinas - Stinson district has been a battleground between residents who favor unstructured classes and innovative programs and residents who lean toward more traditional educational methods.

Aitken admittted this conflict was evident in both the campaign and the election, but said his 234-223 vote win over Mrs. Wilson was not a victory for either the liberals or the conservatives. "It just shows that 11 more conservatives than liberals voted yesterday," he said. "It's too bad people can't stop fighting among themselves and start working together for the goals we all want."

At a candidate's night last week, the newly-elected trustee said he felt a school board member should have some control over what happens in the classroom and expressed displeasure at "the way some of the classes are run." He said in

County Cuts Preserves, Plans Interim Controls

By WAT TAKESHITA

The Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to cut the size of the county's agricultural preserve to the 78,200 acres already under preserve contract. (Other supervisor' stories, page 5)

Supervisors, however, left the door open for some kind of control, possibly an interim ordinance, to prevent the 91,800 acres from being chopped up into subdivisions.

By 3 to 1 vote after three hours of debate, the supervisors asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to draw up an ordinance that would cut the size of the preserve. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste voted "no," explaining that the 91,800 acres deleted from the preserve area would remain unprotected.

Supervisor Michael Wornum joined Chairman Louis H. Baar and John F. McInnis in a "yes" vote, only after assurance that Maloney would also draw up an interim ordinance to keep control over the 91,800 acres. Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. did not attend the afternoon session because of illness.

Supervisors will continue discussion of the agricultural preserves at 3 p.m. on Feb. 16.

Yesterday's arguments settled down to two opposing points of view:

1. The Land Conservation Advisory Board, headed by Olema rancher Boyd Stewart, recommended that the preserve area be shrunk to those ranches al-

Turn-About In Rights Controversy

The Marin County Human Rights Department, whose members resigned en masse last week, was back in partial operation today.

Secretary Anne Smith, and Ursula Gealey, grievance counselor, returned to their posts yesterday when the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked them to withdraw their resignations.

Their boss, executive director Donald C. Moody, has not yet returned Mrs. Gealey said he had accepted a new job with the Urban League in San Francisco but that there is a possibility he may return to the Marin post.

Their resignations climaxed a bitter feud with Bella H. Aaron, who heads the county's police-community relations program.

The program, formerly administered by the human rights department, was removed last month from the department. Mrs. Smith, who had been secretary for Mrs. Arron's program, left that job and returned to the human rights department as secretary, a job she held before she went to work for Mrs. Aaron.

Mrs. Aaron last Tuesday resigned from the human rights commission but retained her job as coordinator of police-community relations.

Moody charged that Mrs. Aaron continued to harrass him and his staff, although they had moved to a room at the other end of the Civic Center Administration Building from Mrs. Aaron. Moody and James Quiett, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, demanded a grand jury investigation of the human rights commission department and Mrs. Aaron's police-community relations project.

Supervisors referred the complaints to the grand jury and also called for an impartial investigation by a five-man committee.

Bagley Seeking To Ease Welfare Pinch

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Emergency legislation —to spare the state a painful choice between ponying up $150 million or losing $500 million in federal welfare funds — was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The issue is Washington's demand that state's welfare maximums be raised by April 1 to meet increases in the cost of living. The state maximums last were hiked in 1957.

Bagley's legislation took the form of two skeleton bills introduced to begin immediately the 30-day wait that is mandatory for all new legislation before it is taken up for action. The bills will remain blank — they were still awaiting even a number today — until it is decided how the problem they deal with should be handled.

The state-federal crunch has landed in the California Supreme Court, which will hear the matter here on March 5.

Bagley predicted the court will require the increase in maximums and California then would face either immediate loss of $500 million in federal matching funds or be forced by Washington to pay $150 million more a year in state welfare. This could double the state's deficit just for the current fiscal year.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Welfare Committee, explained that the additional $150 million would be required because cost control sections of the state's welfare code automatically would be voided if the court found that state welfare maximums were out of conformity with federal requirements.

Bagley said the legislation was urged by John G. Veneman, undersecretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department. Veneman, a former assemblyman, long has been a close friend of Bagley.

Bagley stressed that the Nixon administration was not trying to impose its will on California, but merely carrying out the law as passed by Congress.

The real intent of the Bagley measures, however, was to have them moving through the Legislature by April 1 so California could go to Veneman's department "and have a legitimate basis for asking for another extension," Bagley said.

Veneman's department declared California out of conformity last December, but stayed its order to April 1 be-

Chief Fired For Dividing Town

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Joseph P. Kimble, fired as police chief of this exclusive six-square-mile city last year and then reinstated, was fired once again by the city council Tuesday night.

The dismissal came on a 3-2 vote of the council after a closed-door meeting with two retired superior court judges who presented a report on Kimble's performance as chief.

They said Kimble had brought about "cleavages" in the community that were too deep to reconcile.

TWA Boss Blames CAB For Woes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's air industry, reeling under sudden heavy losses, has told Congress there is nothing wrong with the airlines that a little less government won't cure.

In testimony to a Senate aviation subcommittee Tuesday, airline officials blamed the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) for driving the industry from a combined $428 million profit in 1966 to a $175 million loss in 1970.

And unless strict CAB controls are promptly relaxed, they said, losses could keep building to the point where sinking airlines may have to look to Congress to bail them out.

"Competition has been enshrined as a goal in its own right," said Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., board chairman of Trans World Airlines, "and has become so destructive that the needs of the nation are seriously in jeopardy...

Though neither Tillinghast nor the other two witnesses at the opening day of hearings into the financial headaches of the air industry forecast imminent bankruptcy for any air carrier, they did predict that combined losses could top $300 millon this year unless there is an economic upturn coupled with a policy shift.

But Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said there was "grave danger of financial collapse" in the air industry and said Congress does not intend to "sit back idly and just wait" for disaster to strike as it did with the Penn Central railroad.

ANOTHER KENNEDY CONTROVERSY

'Schools Falling Apart' — Riles Hits Reagan Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State schoolmaster Wilson C. Riles says California schools are "falling apart" and Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget falls far short of improving them.

The governor has recommended that state aid to local schools during the next fiscal year total $1.62 billion—generally the same as they currently receive.

"As far as local schools are concerned, I feel the budget is inadequate," Riles said in an interview Tuesday. "The schools are really falling apart. Many are going to increase class size or cut down on the school day which means further deterioration."

Riles, who defeated Max Rafferty in a third-term bid for re-election, said, "My job is to see that the children of the state get the resources to obtain quality education."

The soft-spoken educator said he intends to "negotiate" with the legislature and governor for more money for schools.

He discussed Reagan's budget with newsmen after a mass meeting of state department chiefs where Reagan's finance director, Verne Orr, told the officials he understood their "temptation to speak out before legislative committees and say, 'Yes, we could use more money.'"

But Orr said that increases in department budgets "could only mean more taxes" and told them the "challenge now is to be a manager with less resources than you would like."

"We in no way can be proud of the job we are doing in public education," Riles said later. "Some of the southern states now are putting in more money than is California for schools."

However, he said he welcomed "abolition" by Reagan of 394 employes in the state Department of Education so Riles could replace them with workers he believed were better suited to perform the job.

"If it works out that way and to see we do not lose any money in the process, then I welcome it," he said.

Orr told the department heads that Reagan's removal of the jobs demonstrated the governor's announced intention to "cooperate" with Riles so the new superintendent can "turn the department around and start it in the direction that Californians want it run."

Truce Plans

By United Press International

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said today Egypt probably will observe an unofficial truce when the cease-fire expires Friday but will not grant a formal extension. The nation's highest policy making body met today to make a firm decision.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers was disclosed to have sent a third note to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad appealing for an extension on grounds U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring has made sufficient progress in his peace talks to warrant an extension, Egypt rejects this viewpoint.

Also before Egypt was an appeal from United Nations Secretary General Thant to avod renewed fighting. Thant did not ask for a formal extension of the truce but urged both sides to withhold fire, exercise military restraint and maintain the quiet.

Barracks Pitch

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon has asked Congress for $68 million to give soldiers and Marines semi-private accommodations with a desk, chair, rug and lamp.

The proposal was unveiled Tuesday by Assistant Defense Secretary Roger T. Kelley as part of the Nixon administration's $1.5 billion program to make service life so attractive that men will join without being drafted. Kelley said Marine and Army 50-man barracks would be partitioned into two and three-man rooms.

"The barracks improvement is to provide decent and ordinary, not fancy, living standards," Kelley told the Senate Armed Services Committee. "It has the probability of good "pay off" in attracting additional enlistments, as well as reenlistments, where barracks housing has been a different."

Against Cutoffs

TEHRAN (UPI)—Ten oil-producing nations decided today against cutting off oil to Japan and Western Europe as a means of forcing higher payments but will try unspecified "other measures," Persian Gulf sources said today.

The sources said a majority of the delegates at a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) overruled demands for a cutoff. There was no indication what the "other measures" would be.

Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Amouzegar, elected president of the OPEC today, told newsmen the group would pass a "very strong resolution" against the companies for refusing to meet demands for price increases.

$2 Million Divorce

She also got a house in exclusive Grosse Pointe Shores, $1.5 million to be paid over the next nine years, and two season tickets to Detroit Lions' football games.

The settlement, totaling an estimated $2.5 million, was the largest ever granted in a divorce case in Michigan and was the culmination of a suit filed by Mrs. Wilson in May, 1967.

Electricity Cut

NEW YORK (UPI)—Electricity in the New York area was cut back again today, the third consecutive day of a bitter cold wave which has reduced the power reserves of five Eastern Seaboard states.

The arctic air which kept the temperature at 8 degrees in the city during the early morning hours today, forced the Consolidated Edison Co. to cut its voltage output by 5 per cent throughout New York City and suburban Westchester County. The reduction Tuesday, begun in similar fashion at 8 a.m., lasted slightly more than 12 hours.

Truman At Home

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S Truman, eating and sleeping well and "in very good health for an 86-year-old man," is back home again following a 12-day hospitalization.

Truman and his wife, Bess, 85, were driven from Research Hospital in Kansas City, Mo., to their Independence home Tuesday afternoon by Mike Westwood, Truman's chauffeur and bodyguard.

Slapped Ex-GI

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Services were scheduled today for Charles H. Kuhl, the man Gen. George S. Patton slapped in a Sicilian hospital during World War II.

Kuhl, a South Bend factory worker, died Sunday of a heart ailment. He was 55.

Patton lost his command of the U.S. 7th Army as a result of the hospital incident. Kuhl was hospitalized in Palermo for examination for a psychiatric disorder at the time, although it later was determined he was suffering from malaria.

Kuhl said after the incident that Patton had kicked him in the hindquarters in addition to slapping him.

Old Law On Rioting Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, has initiated a move to re-establish California's criminal syndicalism law dealing with persons who incite to riot.

Harmer Tuesday introduced a bill aimed at meeting constitutional safeguards for such a law. The state's 1919 anti-syndicalism law was declared unconstitutional two years ago.

Under the measure a person could be prosecuted who tries "to incite or produce imminent lawless action at a time, place and under circumstances that are likely to incite or produce imminent lawless action."

The lawmaker said his measure separates the "abstract teaching of a doctrine" and the use of advocacy which would likely incite "lawless action."

He said with such a law, last weekend's disturbance in east Los Angeles' barrio may have been averted. One man was shot to death in the disorder.

"I am not asserting that any of the leaders of the weekend rally in Los Angeles were guilty of advocating action which resulted in the pathetic aftermath of that rally," Harmer said.

Assembly To Nixon: Halt Boat Seizures

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has voted unanimously to ask President Nixon to use the Navy to halt future seizures of U.S. Tuna fishing boats by Ecuador and Peru.

The lower house, on a 53-0 vote Tuesday, approved and sent to the Senate a resolution urging Nixon "to deploy American Naval power where necessary to protect against such seizures."

"The State Department has miserably failed to protect our ships," said Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, author of the resolution.

Thomas said Ecuador and Peru claim exclusive fishing rights to Ocean waters 200 miles from their coastlines. The United States and most other countries set limits of 12 miles, he said.

Since 1961, he said, both countries have seized over 100 American tuna fishing vessels, including 17 last month, and U.S. fishermen have paid more than $700,000 in fines to release their vessels.

Thomas said the fines were increasing and planes and gunships have fired on the unarmed fishing boats.

Cove Developer To Reduce Project Size

The developer of the controversial Strawberry Cove apartment development disclosed today he will reduce the size of the project from 102 to 90 units to meet objections about housing density.

Developer Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap told the Independent-Journal today he would submit revised plans to the Marin County Planning Commission as an amendment to the development's master plan.

The apartments are planned on 6.5 acres on the east side of Strawberry Cove. The Strawberry Recreation District has sought to halt the project through court action because it allegedly would deny public access to parts of the cove.

"I am contemplating removing a large building in the center to provide about 250 feet of open space," said Broman. "I plan to put in a swimming pool with a Japanese style one-story tea house as a recreation building for the tenants."

At the north lookout point, across from DeSilva Island, Broman said he will remove four units to meet the Marin Conservation League's recommendation that the point be opened up for public use.

In the original plan, the buildings were about 50 feet from Seminary Drive, but because of the reshuffling to lessen the density, the developer said he may bring the buildings a few feet closer to shore.

Rated Chrysler Workers Ratify Three-Year Pact

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers announced today its 110,000 hourly rated workers at Chrysler Corp.'s American and Canadian plants have ratified a new, three-year contract with the company.

Douglas A. Fraser, a UAW vice president and director of its Chrysler department, said all the votes were in and 88 per cent of the unskilled workers and 82 per cent of the skilled workers had accepted the agreement, which will cost Chrysler at least $1 billion in additional wages and fringe benefits.

"I am gratified not only by the overwhelming majority which voted for ratification, but by the fact that a majority was obtained in every single unit voting but one," Fraser said.

The contract will become effective next Monday.

On Tuesday, the second shortest national strike in automobile history ended after three hours when UAW and Chrysler bargainers agreed on a tentative contract covering 10,000 unionized white-collar workers at the company. The shortest auto strike on record was a 15-minute walkout against General Motors Corp. in 1961 in a dispute involving relief time.

Final approval of the agreement by the salaried workers will end the 1970-71 round of auto contract negotiations with the big three automakers which began last July and were highlighted by a 67-day strike against G.M.

The salaried workers' strike Tuesday came after a 27-hour bargaining session that left negotiators red-eyed and haggard. It ended when Chrysler and the union agreed on the two major items which had held up settlement.

Chrysler agreed in principle on a 13 per cent increase for its salaried workers, the same pay increase granted G.M. and Ford Motor Co. salaried employes who are not represented by a union. It also agreed to make the increase retroactive to last Nov. 2, the same date agreed to for production and maintenance workers when they reached settlement on Jan. 19.

The white-collar workers, whose strike could have shut down Chrysler's entire operation within six days had it continued, walked off their jobs at 10 a.m. Tuesday, the strike deadline set by the UAW last week. Picket lines formed immediately.

LAOS

said Tuesday the U.S. raids had been increased.

Members of the U.S. Congress were in the dark about the actual operatons in South Vietnam and such high ranking members as Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said they had not been briefed.

President Nixon called in Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Adm. Thomas Moorer, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, CIA Director Richard Helms, and Henry A. Kissinger, National Security Affairs adviser, for an unscheduled meeting late Tuesday.

There was no announcement after the meeting as to what action had been taken. Any announcement involving the South Vietnamese presumably would come from Saigon.

In the lack of official information on the situation the Communists were reaping a propaganda windfall.

Paris dispatches said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates to the Vietnamese peace talks there announced plans for strong attacks on the United States and South Vietnam and the alleged invasion plans at the regular Thursday meeting.

Communist diplomats said North Vietnam's Minister of State Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's "Foreign Minister," Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, had been instructed to use the weekly meeting to condemn the reported operation. The Hanoi delegation issued a statement today accusing the United States of "masterminding" an invasion.

Sovietskaya Rossia, the Communist Party's No. 2 newspaper after Pravda, repeated previous Russian charges that "a major force of the puppet Saigon troops carried out an invasion on the territory of Laos. Just before the invasion the southern part of the country was bombed by 400 American planes."

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak of Laos made the official denial of any Allied operation in southern Laos as the Laotian cabinet met to discuss charges by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of a U.S. - South Vietnamese invasion of the country. Sisouk said both the report of an invasion and of a delegation to be sent to Saigon from Vietnam were both based on "speculation."

Sisouk also reported that Communist troops had overrun six Laotian positions Tuesday night in the area of the Plain of Jars and had the Royal capital of Luang Prabang nearly encircled.

Soviet and Japanese reports had said an Allied operation into Laos began two days ago.

Education Goals Will Be Studied

The Fairfax School District board, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Manor School, will review a newly drafted report outlining broad education goals for district students.

The document, prepared by a committee of parents and educators, states ideals the committee thinks students should be learning and using.

cause of the pending court challenges. The challenges were filed by opponents and supporters of increased maximums.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, faced by the federal order, had set new maximums, but his action was challenged after the legislative counsel said that the Legislature had not given the governor authority to set new maximums. Bagley said there was "a real possibility" the court would agree with the legislative counsel.

The 1970 Legislature had a bill increasing welfare maximums to meet the federal law, but the bill died in the Senate by one vote on the last day of the session. It was after this last-minute loss that the governor acted on his own to set new maximums.

Bagley said that hearings on his legislation will be heard by his committee Feb. 23 and 24, and that Veneman will testify.

Council To Ponder Zink's Fate

The Sausalito City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.m. today to continue deliberating the fate of former Sausalito police sergeant Thomas H. Zink.

The 33-year-old Zink was fired from the Sausalito Police Department in May after 11 years on the force. He is seeking reinstatement with the department.

A state hearing officer, who heard testimony in extended hearings at city hall in November and December, has recommended Zink be reinstated, but demoted to patrolman.

On Jan. 13, the council reached no decision on whether to rehire the policeman after meeting in closed session for more than three hours to consider the hearing officer's report and hear additional testimony.

PRESERVES

ready under contract. The board also recommended that 38 parcels of land be taken out of agricultural preserve contract because they are not bona fide agricultural land.

2. The Marin County Planning Commission declared that some control should remain over the 91,800 acres of preserve land that are not under contract. The commission suggested that this area be placed in a new A-1 zone that would require a minimum lot size of 20 acres.

Assessor Bert Broemmel reported that 272,000 acres, or 80 per cent of the land mass in Marin, is now under agricultural preserve or are publicly owned open space. Of the 272,000 acres, 78,200 are under preserve contract and getting a tax break; 91,800 are in the preserve area but not under contract; and 102,000 acres are public and quasi-public land including Point Reyes Seashore.

Landowners who spoke from the audience section were split between those who wanted the preserve area reduced with no interim ordinance on the rest of the land, and those who wanted some county limitation to prevent development from chopping up the open spaces.

Strongest advocate of the reduced preserve area was Normand H. Traverso, executive director of the Marin Property Owners Association, who argued that the preserve area should be cut back to 78,200 acres, with the rest of Marin to be controlled by a general plan and appropriate zoning.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell argued that until the county general plan is completed and proper zoning applied, most of Marin's open land would be wide open to subdivision development and urban sprawl.

Charles E. McCully, superintendent of the Shoreline Unified School District, complained that so many ranches in his area got reduced taxes by entering into agricultural preserve contracts that the school district is in a financial bind.

Supervisors promised McCully that the loss of revenue by school districts will be discussed at budget time.

Commune Zoning On Radio Panel

The controversial proposal for a zoning code amendment that would limit commune families in Mill Valley to no more than five unrelated individuals, will be discussed tomorrow at 9 a.m. on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

Guests of moderator Kitty Oppenheimer will be: Mill Valley City Councilmen Robert H. Andresen and Jerome C. Hauke and Mill Valley Planning Commissioners, Robert E. Burton and Mrs. William Garoutte.

some classes the children are "a little too free and run around the classroom more than necessary."

Mrs. Wilson, who campaigned on a platrom of giving the district's school a period of "peace and quiet" in which to develop, won in Bolinas but lost in Stinson Beach and in the absentee ballots.

Final totals from the district's two polling places were: Bolinas School; Aitken, 145; Mrs. Wilson, 167. Stinson Beach Community Center; Aitken, 82, and Mrs. Wilson, 54.

Thirteen absentee ballots cast gave Aitken seven votes and Mrs. Wilson two. Mrs. Donn D. Fischer, who withdrew from the race last week for personal reasons, received four absentee votes and a total of 17 votes throughout the district.

Mrs. Fischer has indicated she will run on April 20 for a board post vacated by the recent resignation of Trustee Warren Fairbanks who is moving to San Anselmo.

Aitken fills the unexpired term of Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon late last year. The term runs through June 1973, as does Fairbanks' term.

Mrs. Wilson could not be reached to comment on whether she will try again for a board seat in April.

The seats of two other trustees, Board Chairman Edward Z. Lewis and Charles E. Hancock (who was elected to replace Jane Phillips Boyer who resigned from the board last year), are also up for election in April.

down Shepard's offer to show more pictures of the docking devices that gave the astronauts trouble on the linkup of Kitty Hawk and Antares.

Controllers explained later engineers were satisfied the Sunday night problem had been resolved.

During the inspection, Apollo 14 passed the distance from earth where an explosion wrecked the Apollo 13 moon mission and forced its crew to return home without a landing.

Ground communicator Gordon Fullerton woke the astronauts at 7:30 a.m. PST when monitoring devices indicated oxygen was escaping from the spacecraft.

After checking with Mitchell, ground controllers said the problem apparently was a combination of a "sticky valve" on the waste management overboard drain and its use after the astronauts began their sleep period. The system, dubbed "Myrtle," eliminates body wastes from the moonships.

Fullerton told the astronauts to go back to sleep when gauges showed the cabin air pressure was slowly returning to normal levels.

A bright yellow, banana-shaped moon was clearly visible during the telecast 207,000 miles from earth as Roosa panned his color camera through the window of the command ship. He then turned it on his companions as they floated into Antares.

The astronauts sent pictures of the crescent moon to early-rising televiewers in Mission Control —including their wives and children.

"From our point of view, the moon appears about the size of a grapefruit held at arm's length," Mitchell said. "The moon is starting to exceed the earth in apparent size."

At a news briefing after Shepard and Mitchell returned to the Kitty Hawk, ground flight director Gerald P. Griffin reported "It all went very well" during the inspection.

Griffin also told newsmen a small course correction probably will be made tonight.

Underwriting Of Bonds Is Assured

Marin County Board of Supervisors veered from normal county policy yesterday and agreed to underwrite $4,400,000 in assessment bonds to finance sewers for Bolinas and Stinson Beach. (Other supervisor stories, page 1)

On a motion by John F. McInnis, supervisors authorized the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District and the Stinson Beach County Water District to sell assessment bonds under provisions of 1915 bond legislation by which the county becomes liable if Bolinas and Stinson Beach cannot pay off the bonds.

Assessment bonds sold under the 1915 legislation carry a much lower interest rate than general obligations bonds sold under legislation passed in 1911, because of the county guarantee.

Chairman Louis H. Baar noted that Bolinas has been ordered by the State Water Quality Control Board to clean up pollution. "They are asking the county to use its credit to solve a problem that is both of local interest and county interest."

In moving for use of the 1915 rules, McInnis explained: "We are departing from our usual policy because of the unusual circumstances."

County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez said he is normally opposed to the use of the 1915 rules, but in this case, Bolinas and Stinson Beach would be unable otherwise to finance sewer improvement.

Edward J. Hyland, financing consultant for the Bolinas and Stinson Beach District, said the Bolinas portion of the bond issue will be $1,900,000, and Stinson's will be $2,500,000. Total cost of the sewer project will be $7,150,000, with the difference coming from federal and state grants.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Administrator Alan Bruce endorsed the underwriting.

Profit Out Of Military Leave Sought By Bagley

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to take the profit out of military leave for public employees yesterday was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Public employees are entitled under current law to their regular pay for the first 30 days of military leave each year, a privilege that apparently accounts for the fact that public employees on military leave take an average of 11.9 days of such leave a year.

This contrasts sharply with the average of 6.8 days in private business, where almost two-thirds of employers do not pay their employees while on military leave.

Bagley's bill would let the employing public agency decide whether to pay employees on military leave. The bill would apply to cities and counties as well as the state.

Youth To Appear In Burglary Case

Two Petaluma youths were arrested yesterday on suspicion of committing burglaries at three homes.

Arrested were Alan Dennis Schaller, 19, of 419 Fair Street, and James Conrad Stull, 16, of 408 Mountain View Avenue. Police said items traced to three burglaries were found at their homes.

Schaller was booked into the city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and Stull was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall.

$195,238 More Into Auditorium

Marin County yesterday poured another $195,238 into the Veterans Memorial Auditorium to bring the theater capacity to a full 2,100 seats.

By unanimous vote, the board of supervisors awarded a contract for 1,188 movable seats and telescoping platform to Rollway Grandstand Co. of Los Angeles. Rollway submitted the lowest of three bids.

These movable seats will be installed behind the 912 fixed seats.

Last week, the supervisors bought $4,400 worth of stage rigging, a motorized movable wall for $19,578, and leased a sound system for three years at $7,290 per year, all for the new auditorium.

North Campus Plan On Tap

The Marin Junior College District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin's Olney Hall, will consider whether to proceed with masterplanning for the north campus.

A timetable submitted to the board Jan. 26 by Dale E. Fleming, district director of planning, indicated the master planning should begin if the Novato campus is to meet its fall 1974 opening schedule.

The board will also consider approval of working drawing for the proposed Kentfield campus library and the demolition of existing buildings on the library site.

Bolinas Library To Have A New Home

The Bolinas branch of the Marin County Library will be able to move into new and spacious quarters in the former firehouse in the Bolinas Community Building.

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a $10,000 outlay to remodel the new quarters, vacated by the fire department.

The library is now located next to Scowley's restaurant, where the county pays $150 per month for 450 square feet. County librarian Bruce D. Bajema said the library will get 1,030 square feet in the new building for the same rental.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

HOUSEBOATS — Ordered four houseboats in Richardson Bay moved or abated within 30 to 60 days, and asked Marine Inspector Richard L. Larson to keep track of repair progress on four other boats, whose owners are trying to meet county standards.

BOLINAS "BUMPS" Heard from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost that Bolinas residents had asked for road "bumps" to be installed in downtown Bolinas to slow traffic, but the request was withdrawn when traffic engineers pointed out the hazards of these raised barriers.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY Heard a complaint from L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, that the county administrator keeps the juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission in the dark about available federal grants. Supervisors asked the administrator to study the complaint and report back in two or three weeks.

BOX CULVERT Continued until 1:45 p.m. Feb. 16 a public hearing for installation of a $39,000 box culvert from Edna McGuire School to Shell Road and Lomita Drive to reduce flooding. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Wheeler of 84 Lomita protested that the culvert would damage their back yard.

ABATEMENT Awarded a $425 contract to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael to demolish an old building owned by Roma Weaver in Forest Knolls because it is a health hazard.

LIBRARY HOLIDAY Authorized the closing of all Marin County library branches on Saturday, Feb. 13, because it falls between Lincoln's birthday on the 12th and Washington's birthday on the 15th.

COMMENDATION Commended Bella H. Aaron for her services as member of the Marin Human Rights Commission. She resigned from the commission last Tuesday after a long feud with other commissioners, who charged she was acting too independently.

Bagley Hits Exemptions In Budget

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill requiring the state budget to include the cost of special exemptions, now hidden, was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

His measure listed 119 exemptions in current law that would have to be computed in the budget. They ranged from the oil and gas well depletion allowances to the rental value of parsonages for ministers of the gospel.

The budget would have to detail the cost of each exemption, whether to local or state government.

Bagley acknowledged that his measure would make special interests think twice before seeking exemptions because they would be visible to the public under his measure.

Klaus K. Jund of 1030 Via Escondida has been elected president of the Loma Verde Homeowners Association for 1971.

Behr, Bagley Seek End To Unification Elections

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation exempting Marin County school districts from the state's requirement for unification elections every four years today was introduced jointly by Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Sen. Peter H. Behr, both R-San Rafael.

Unification elections still could be held in the county, but at the option of school district trustees. Without such legislation, voters in the Tamalpais High School District would have to have a third unification election in June 1972.

Two previous unification elections in the district failed to win voter approval. Bagley said that both proponents and opponents of unification now concede a third election would be a waste of money.

Another bill previously introduced would exempt all counties from the requirement.

DISPUTED FENCE — This is the iron fence which a Marin Superior Court judge ruled yesterday is a legal boundary between the Seadrift community and public beaches in West Marin.

Wilson Says Stinson Fence Can Stay

A 10-year-old dispute over an iron fence at the Seadrift community in West Marin was settled yesterday when Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court ruled the fence could stay where it is.

The fence — a line of iron rails about five feet apart — was constructed at the edge of the Seadrift property in the early 1950s when the William Kent Estate Co. subdivided the sandspit that stretches from Stinson Beach to the Bolinas Channel.

It extends to a high tide line determined by Tracy L. Atherton, a state surveyor, in 1949, and serves as the boundary between Seadrift and public property.

The state of California filed the suit, contending that the high tide mark had shifted landward because of erosion and that the fence now encroached on public lands and was a nuisance.

In his decision, Wilson agreed with the state that the high water mark may indeed shift, but he said the pertinent question was "whether it has moved from its earlier determined location (the Atherton line) in a manner legally sufficient to effect a boundary change."

He ruled that it had not.

He further ruled the fence — now so deteriorated that anyone can walk through it — was not a nuisance, in that it had never prevented anyone from walking in the water along the sandspit.

Wilson's conclusion differed from one he reached in 1964 declaring the property line to be the high water mark "as it may fluctuate naturally from time to time" — rather than the Atherton line — and putting the end of the fence sometimes on Kent property, sometimes on public property.

That decision ended a four-year court battle which had been prompted by citizen complaints in 1960 that they were being denied access to a mile-and-one-half of beach because of the fence.

But the decision was reversed by the state District Court of Appeals, which ruled in 1966 that a fluctuating boundary was unacceptable and ordered the case retried to establish a fixed boundary.

In settling on the Atherton line yesterday, Wilson said that where a line has been established, the state would be better off spending public money buying beach lands rather than filing suits such as in the Seadrift case.

Canyon Owners Elect Officers

Marlo Van Der Zweip of 130 Montura Way has been elected president of the Domingo Canyon Homeowners Association.

Chester Glenn Clinton has been elected vice president; Mrs. Alfred Kenny, treasurer; and Mrs. Theunis Tamsma, secretary.

Members agreed at their meeting Monday at Pacheco School to study the possibility of having commuter bus service to the area, with riders chartering the bus on a private basis.

They also agreed to have quarterly membership meetings instead of monthly sessions, reported Ina Tullinen, outgoing secretary. They ruled that residents of the Esquire Court area were eligible for association membership.

Directory Deadline Set

Deadlines for adding or changing telephone listings in the next issue of the Novato telephone directory are Feb. 12 for yellow pages and Feb. 19 for white pages, according to Gordon Lee, Novato division manager for Western California Telephone Co.

Customers can change their listing or add new listings by notifying the company office in Novato, said Lee.

The 1971 Novato telephone directory will be published in April.

Remodeling Over

Expansion and remodeling work is complete at the Petaluma Police Department and central fire station and open houses will be held at both Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Both projects were completed with funds approved in bond elections.

Council Won't Hear Appeal From Noah

In another set-to in city hall, Ralph C. Noah of Tiburon was refused an appeal to the Tiburon City Council for variance to construct a hill-side parking platform at 6 Rolling Hills Road.

The appeal came unexpectedly after the council noted that Noah had not complied with earlier recommendations for retaining walls and landscaping for his property. The council in December had declared the property a nuisance because it exceeded height limitations.

Rodney F. Friedman, Noah's architect, argued that before landscaping could be done, the matter of the parking platform would have to be decided.

Friedman's original design for the platform would overlap three feet of city easement; the variance was denied earlier in council. He described a second design which would avoid the easement property but render the parking platform larger and less attractive.

Councilman M. Carlisle Becker requested council to reopen the matter in view of the new evidence. The council refused.

"If we must revise the ordinances, then it should be done in the proper fashion, Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said.

Council did agree to consider status of nuisance abatement at its first meeting in March.

The Tiburon City Council also:

RACOON LANE — Reviewed the petition to close Racoon Lane between Mar West and Centro West Streets to motorized vehicles and moved it be resubmitted to council when all quit claims have been turned in at their first meeting in March.

ANIMALS — Reviewed the animal control ordinance that has been under consideration since Aug. 1969 and recommended that amendments, which would conform to the Marin County Animal Control Ordinance, be reviewed at another meeting.

CITY MANAGER — Reported that 80 to 90 applications for the city manager position have been screened and the number reduced to 12 candidates. These would be open for interview by the oral screen board and the city council on Feb. 12, 13 and 14.

SOLID WASTE — Suggested the solid waste removal pilot program go into committee for further study until Feb. 22 on its long range applications with the possibility of adding two free garbage truck pick-ups per year instead.

DISASTER AID — Adopted a resolution designating the acting city Manager as the city representative for obtaining federal disaster area funds.

AUDIT — Authorized the Mayor of Tiburon to contract for the 1970-71 fiscal audit with Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants from San Rafael, for a fee not to exceed $1,000.

FLOODS — Adopted a resolution to enter into the National Flood Insurance Program to make the flood insurance available to Tiburon citizens.

TOWN MEETING — Announced that a town meeting at which local issues would be discussed and policy-making decisions considered would be held March 29 in the Music room at Del Mar.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Feb. 9.

'Nightmare' At The White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Except for a popping hook, a creeping zipper and a failing voice, Beverly Sills gave a sterling performance at the White House Tuesday night.

"It was an opera singer's nightmare," said the buxom, red-haired Miss Sills.

With President Nixon and his guests assembled in the East Room, the first problem for the opera star came when she popped a hook and a zipper began coming down in back on her low-cut white satin gown as she hit a high note in the mad scene from "Lucia de Lammermoor."

That was quickly repaired by a coat during a hasty two-minute intermission.

Then came the last note of her last number, an aria from "the Barber of Seville." She lost her voice.

It didn't seem to make much difference to the guests, who appeared enthusiastic about the performance.

92.6% Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Labor Department says a survey of cities with 100,000 or more population showed the average construction workers as of Jan. 1 was making $6.39 an hour —a gain of 92.6 per cent since 1959.

Medi-Cal Request Delayed

Convalescent home operators in Marin County yesterday asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to contribute $2 per day per patient to offset a cutback in state medi-cal grants, but the supervisors withheld action until a study by the county administrator and a report next week.

He said the medi-cal cutback by the Reagan administration reduced the maximum state aid from $14 per patient per day to $12.60

"The problem is that the $14 was already grossly inadequate," declared Berg. He said the state itself had set the cost at $16.38 in November of 1968, and rising costs since then would bring the figure to $18.68. The cutback to $12.60 means a loss of more than $6 per patient per day, Berg said.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said he is not prepared to act on Berg's request until he has a report from the county administrator.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he believes the county cannot legally supplement the medi-cal payments.

Chairman Louis H. Baar asked county administrator Alan Bruce to report next week.

Housing Program To Council

Preliminary plans for housing adjacent to Sonoma State College were presented last night to the Rohnert Park City Council.

Van Logan of land investor's research presented the proposed master plan for development of 240 acres adjacent to the college. The plan included apartments, a student-oriented mobile home park, 40 acres of open space and a small amount of single-family home development.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council reserved comments on the plan pending review by college planning officials and by the Sonoma County planning department.

Compromise In Tangled Estate; Funds Drained

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The estates of actress Jayne Mansfield and her attorney, Samuel S. Brody, both killed in a traffic accident in 1967, will divide nearly $60,000 under a compromise approved Monday in Superior Court.

The agreement provided that the Brody estate would take 60 per cent of the proceeds from sale of jewelry the actress had on her person and also 60 per cent of funds Brody was carrying at the time of the accident.

Brody's widow, Beverly, 40, had claimed $325,000 from the Mansfield estate which she said were gifts given to the actress by her husband from community property of the couple.

Miss Mansfield's estate claimed $181,262 it maintained the actress had entrusted to Brody. Her estate will take $7,176 from sale of a sports car.

However, Miss Mansfield's estate attorney, Irwin Boscoe, predicted that although assets were appraised at $600,000, the estate would be insolvent because of Miss Mansfield's many obligations and the expense of litigation.

Warrant Is Issued By Judge

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Municipal Court for Shirley Singletary, 20, of San Francisco, who is charged with burglary and felony assault on a police officer.

Judge Peter Allen Smith on Monday set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when Mrs. Singletary failed to appear in court for setting of a date for a preliminary hearing.

She was arrested last April after she and two companions allegedly took clothing from two Sausalito stores. When their car was stopped, Mrs. Singletary reportedly kicked and bit the officer.

'Identifiable Spaces' Sought By Faculty

College of Marin social and behavioral science teachers want their own "identifiable spaces" on the Kentfield campus. And the college's trustees and staff are studying how to do the job.

According to Dale A. Fleming, director of planning for the Marin Junior College District, faculty members presented their arguments at a trustees' workshop session devoted to planning for an eventual 5,000-student maximum at the Kentfield campus on Monday.

Berkeley Johnson, dean of instruction, spoke of curriculaum changes; Norman Bird, business manager, discussed financial problems, and Fleming reported on planning considerations for the crowded Kentfield campus.

Fleming said the social and behavioral science faculty members asked to have their programs concentrated in one building, or at least located near each other on the campus. This would be subject to limitations of existing buildings and space available for future construction, the planning official explained.

The trustees reaffirmed their decision made last year to limit the campus to a maximum 5,000 students.

Fleming said he and the staff were "now in a position to detail specific department or program needs and to allocate spaces for the departments" on a long-range basis. "But there will be changes" due to new teaching techniques and other developments, he warned. "Contact hours" or the time students spend in classes probably will mean other changes. Fleming added.

The trustees also discussed, but took no action on proposals to establish several new technical-vocational studies, including veterinary technology, ornamental horticulture, cosmetology and environmental technician programs.

Fleming said he hoped to have the Kentfield long-range plans ready for formal presentation to the trustees by March 1.

Jury Trial For Youth On Pot

Paul Edward Le Clair, 19, of San Anselmo, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing marijuana.

A jury trial was set Monday for the week of April 12. A date for hearing pretrial motions will be set Feb. 22.

Nights Only Jail Stays Being Sought

Three union officials due to go to jail tonight for actions in connection with the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal are seeking to spend only their nights in confinement.

The three men yesterday asked for and received permission from Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court to start their 15-day sentences today. They had earlier asked for a stay until Feb. 24 when new motions will be presented.

Set to start jail time at 6 p.m. today were Leon Olson, president of International Typographical Union 21; Jack Goldberger, president of Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921 and Donald Abrams, a vice president of the typographical union.

Their preparations to start the jail terms included an appeal to printers, posted in printing shops throughout the Bay Area, to appear at a rally outside the jail as an expression of solidarity and sympathy.

The men were sentenced to jail by Judge Keating who found them in contempt of court for their involvement in a riotous demonstration at the Independent-Journal last Feb. 14.

Today it was learned that all three have applied for the jail's work furlough program in which inmates are released in order to go to jobs and then return to jail for the rest of the day.

County work furlough officer Jesse W. Johnson said today that one of the requirements for the program is that jail inmates have jobs to which they report at certain times of the day and have definite supervisors.

He added that "$30,000-a-year salesmen" had been denied work furlough because of indefinite working hours.

Johnson said he was running a routine investigation on the three union officials and could not yet say whether they would meet conditions for work furlough.

In addition to the jail sentences, Keating levied a $1,500 fine against the typographical union, Olson and Goldberger and a $750 fine against Abrams. These have not been imposed awaiting the Feb. 24 court hearing.

Panel Against Any Manager Of Insurance

The Golden Gate Bridge District should not hire an insurance manager at this time, the district's insurance committee recommended yesterday.

Dale M. Luehring, district manager, explained today that the committee wanted more data to make a number of policy recommendations including whether the proposed insurance specialist is needed on the district staff. The committee discussed but did not decide whether to recommend that the district try self-insurance, or resort to pooling target risk insurance.

Yesterday's meeting also saw proposed specifications on bus fleet insurance held in committee without action as were proposed contracts for dental and health coverage for district employees.

Harpist To Be Quartet Guest

Harpist Anne Adams of the San Francisco Symphony will be the guest artist for the second concert in the current season of the Marin Arts Quartet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Miss Adams will join the quartet in the Debussy "Dances for Harp and Strings."

The quartet composed of Charles Meacham and Michael Gerling, violins; Lucien Mitchell, viola, and Jean Mitchell, cello, will play quartets of Schubert, Dvorak and contemporary Mexican composer Silvestre Revueltas.

Citizen Cited For Contribution

Marin Association for Mental Health honored a citizen for mental health efforts, elected officers for 1971 and heard former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein speak, at the association's annual dinner last night.

Newspaper writer Alice D. Yarish of San Anselmo was given a plaque as the association made its first award for "a citizen's greatest contribution in the mental health field." Nevada Christian, who retired after six years as the association's executive director, also received a gift. Her successor, Dorothy H. Leake, was introduced.

Mrs. Rae S. Taub of Mill Valley was reelected president.

Other officers elected were Dr. Rudolf Kupfer, first vice president; Arcima Taylor Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Fred Dickson Jr., secretary, and Norman S. Campbell, reelected treasurer.

Judge Goldstein, recently retired from the Marin Municipal Court, spoke on "pollution of the judicial environment." He repeated his earlier charges that personal searches at the entrances to the Marin County Civic Center were an invasion of privacy and "but a short step from a police state," Mrs. Christian reported. The former judge also said the courts were clogged with "self-destructive offenses" such as drug cases, although other crime problems were more serious.

The annual meeting was held in Alexander Hall on the San Francisco Theological Seminary campus in San Anselmo.

Reed Salary Talks Reach An Impasse

Reed School District trustees and teachers agreed last night that contract negotiation are at an impasse, and that a meeting should be held to set up procedures for breaking the deadlock under the Winton Act of the state Education Code.

The meeting cannot be held this week, according to Irwin Karp, Reed complex principal, because a key member of the district negotiating team is out of the county. Richard V. Godino, the district's counsel, will not return until the weekend, Karp said.

Meanwhile, Reed District teachers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to reject the latest contract offer, according to Bert Skaggs, director of the California Teachers Association office in Marin County.

Overall, the vote was 102-to-2 to reject the contract, Skaggs said. In addition, the teachers who are members of the Reed District Teachers Association, local unit of the CTA, voted 80-to-0 to ask the CTA to impose statewide sanctions against the district over the contract dispute, and 79-to-1 to ask the CTA to extend its legal, financial and other services to the RDTA in the dispute.

Skaggs said the CTA's first move probably will be an intensive study of teaching conditions in the district, and the contract terms under dispute.

Skaggs added that members of another organization represented in Reed Schools — the American Federation of teachers — voted "unanimously" but would not divulge actual numbers against the contract offer.

Reed teachers who are members of neither organization voted 14-2 against the contract, Skaggs said.

Col. Berlin To Head Daedalians

Col. Edson W. (Jack) Berlin, (USAF-ret.) of Ignacio has been named flight captain of the Order of Daedalians Golden Gate Flight, headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin.

The Daedalians, originally organized by former World War I aviators, now include aviators from all military services.

Colonel Berlin resides at 29 Olympia Way.

20-Year-Old To State Hospital

Art Display

Paintings by San Anselmo artist and costume designer Vera Temoff will be on display throughout this month in the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association office in San Anselmo.

Unusual Cure For Head Cold

COLUSA, Calif. (UPI)—A highway patrolman went on an LSD trip when he took a borrowed coughdrop to curb a cold.

Colusa county undersheriff Joel McDermott Tuesday said the unidentified patrolman was in the sheriff's office when Gary Thompson, 21, Williams, was booked on charges of possessing marijuana recently.

He said the patrolman saw the box of coughdrops among the suspect's possessions and decided to take one to relieve his cold.

"He really went on a trip," McDermott said.

The lozenges were turned over to the nearby Davis police department for analysis and were found to contain a "high amount" of LSD.

No Mercury Danger In Tuna Catches

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Tuna aboard the first three boats of the American fleet just returned from Central American fishing grounds do not contain unsafe amounts of mercury, industry officials reported Tuesday.

"No samples were found to be over the tolerance level," said R. E. Chapman, vice president for marketing for Westgate Cannery.

Architect Protests Out-Of County-Fees

Architects from outside Marin get nearly 98 per cent of the County of Marin's business, a San Rafael architect charged today.

Robert W. F. Severin filed with chairman Louis H. Baar of the county board of supervisors a letter of complaint against what he held is discrimination against Marin's own architects. Baar said he planned to put the matter on the agenda for next Tuesday's meeting of the board.

Severin related in his letter that he had been turned down when he asked to offer proposals for design of the Marin City firehouse and community center and the Novato branch of the county library. Both jobs went to San Francisco architects.

"Apparently, as a Marin County architect, I am not alone in the futile effort to obtain county work," he wrote. "As of Jan. 6, 1971, the County of Marin was responsible for $1,833,369.02 in current architectural fees. These fees went to six architectural firms. Five of these firms are from San Francisco with only one from Marin. This is not the entire story. This one Marin firm received only $40,851.27 of the total or 2.2 per cent."

He reported he had asked Donald R. Frost, public works director, and Alan Bruce, county administrator, how they go about selection of architects for county work. "Their joint answer . . . was, 'We call the office of the AIA (American Institute of Architects) in San Francisco and they send us a list,'" he wrote.

Nearly 90 per cent of the huge total of architect fees cited by Severin represents fees on the Civic Center, paid to Taliesin Associates (Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation). On administration building, Hall of Justice, and Veterans Memorial Auditorium, these come to $1,583,598.

Other firms he listed, their fees and the projects they have designed, include: Kaplan and McLaughlin, San Francisco, $108,639 for Community Mental Health Center; Marquis and Stoller, San Francisco, $38,075 for Novato branch library; Smith-Barker-Hanssen (formerly Neill Smith and Associates), San Francisco, $41,754 for Corte Madera branch library; Garson and Overstreet, San Francisco, $20,441 for Marin City fire station. Only Marin firm on the list is Crawford and Banning, San Rafael, for a total of $40,851 for juvenile hall additions and the Tomales fire station.

State law requires that county contracts exceeding $4,000 be put out to public bid. However, this practice has not been followed with architects' contracts since they refuse to bid against each other.

Baar said he planned to bring up the possibility that fixed fee bids be sought, while inquiring into what practice is followed in hiring for county work.

Lame-Duck Supervisor Bill Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to cut short the political life of lame-duck county supervisors yesterday was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Supervisors would take their seats 29 days after being elected under Bagley's constitutional amendment. Thus, a supervisor elected in a June primary election would take his seat by early July.

Bagley's amendment would go on the baliot in June 1972, thus would apply to supervisorial candidates in that primary election if it passed.

Seating 29 days after election was aimed at preventing lame-ducks from passing ordinances after their defeat. Ordinances take 30 days to become effective, thus a newly elected supervisor could vote to reverse approval of any ordinance which he opposed.

Spreading Chestnut Tree Research

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — A University of Tennessee research facility here, under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, is trying to find a way to bring back the "spreading chestnut tree."

Disease has wiped out most of the American chestnut, but scientists hope that through radiation experiments on the species a disease resistant variety can be produced.

March Of Dimes In Appeal To Business

The National Foundation-March of Dimes has joined with 10 other national health agencies for a proposed joint fund raising appeal to business and industry in the nine Bay Area counties.

Restricted to corporate and employee giving, the joint effort does not include consolidation of the agencies' traditional community campaign among citizens, Ruth Johnson, chairman of the Marin County Chapter of the National Foundation-March of Dimes, reported.

The joint effort was announced last month, but a United Press International dispatch, dated Jan. 6 and published in the Independent-Journal, omitted the fact that the drive would be aimed solely at business and industry and that the agencies would continue their traditional and independent fund raising in the community at large.

A subsequent report in the Independent-Journal also failed to clarify the business community as the target of the drive.

No date has been set for the health campaign.

Such a campaign would be in competition with the United Bay Area Crusade which has said it is stopping contributions to several agencies.

Agencies joined in the new drive are the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis Foundation, the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the American Heart Association, the Kidney Foundation, the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., the National Association for Retarded Children, the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, the United Cerebral Palsy Group, the Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Tidelands Case Goes To Tribunal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court Tuesday took under submission the tideland water question raised by a controversy at Chicken Ranch Beach on Tomales Bay.

The case, which was first filed in 1963 by Larry Marks against Peter Whitney has twice been decided by the District Court of Appeal and was taken over by the state's highest court after the latest decision Oct. 9, 1970.

Attorney Albert Monaco argued that there was a navigational easement of the tideland in front of the land owned by his client Whitney.

He said the waters could be used by any member of the public for swimming, walking, boating or fishing and should not be filled for the private profit of Marks.

Monaco said two statutes adopted two days apart in 1868 had been brought into the case and that the one of March 30 applied only to waters within five miles of San Francisco. Tomales Bay was affected only by the statute of March 28, which was applicable to the entire state, he said.

Deputy Attorney General N. Gregory Taylor shared time with Monaco and said the state was asking only that the court declare an easement did exist.

Attorney Wallace S. Myers, representing Marks whose claim to the tideland dates back to an 1871 deed, argued that there was no showing of any deprivation of any public rights and that the case had been merely a quarrel between Whitney and Marks until it went up on appeal.

The attorney general entered the case on the ground that the issue could affect the right of Californians to hundreds of thousands of acres of tidelands throughout the state.

Compromise Reached On Ignacio Park

The City of Novato has reached a compromise with Soiland Associates on limitation of office space at Ignacio Industrial Park, along Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, near Hamilton Industrial Park.

Soiland last week gained approval of the Marin County Planning Commission to allocate 37 acres of its planned 250-acre development for offices, banks and retail stores.

Novato protested, contending that extensive office space at the Industrial Park would hinder the city's plan to devleop office use in downtown Novato.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said yesterday Soiland proposed using 18 acres for office and retail space.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown explained that Soiland was willing to compromise because it wanted city support when its plan goes to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for final approval.

A city council meeting, scheduled for last night in the event a compromise wasn't reached, was convened and adjourned by a staff member as a formality. Councilmen didn't meet.

Progress Erases 'Atomic Shadow'

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI)—The last of Hiroshima's atomic "shadows"—outlines of people burned into walls of buildings by the heat of the Aug. 6, 1945 U.S. nuclear bombing—disappeared Tuesday.

Workmen tore down the Hiroshima branch of the Sumitomo Bank, which had for 26 years carried the outline of a woman incinerated by the blast.

Such atomic "shadows" were a common sight in the years after the first wartime atomic bombing but they gradually disappeared as roads were repaved and buildings torn down.

Saroyan Magic Is Sad, Funny

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life" — as seen last night in its American Conservatory Theater open — was probably a nostalgic experience for some and for many others a new avenue of exploration into human behavior.

Times may have changed since the play's triumphant opening 32 years ago, but Saroyan's characters are as alive now as then.

We still have our Joes, who would like to let time stay suspended; sad prostitutes, militant elements of society. From these three factors alone, the play seems more somber than when Saroyan wrote it.

Generally speaking it is a worthy ACT venture, though at times the acting in last night's opener was more pastoral than alive and sparkling. It was like looking through a thin coat of Bay Area fog.

As Joe, Ken Ruta, one of the company's key actors, seemed to be too detached in the rather long first act. However, he managed to convey some sparkle in Act II, especially in the gum-chewing scene.

Scott Thomas, as Joe's admirer and disciple, was by far the steadiest performer of the evening. His was a complete characterization of a grown man who would always remain a boy.

"THE TIME OF OUR LIFE" — A comedy-drama in two acts by William Saroyan. Presented by the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Edward Hastings; scenery by Jackson De Govia; costumes by Elizabeth Covey; lighting by Ward Russell and music by Harold Zollman. The cast: newsboy, Caleb Donat; the drunkard, Jerry Glover' Willie, Mark Wheeler; Joe, Ken Ruta; Nick, Jim Baker; Tom, Scott Thomas; Kitty Duva, Joy Carlin; Dudley, Mark Bramhall; Harry, Michael Cavanaugh; Wesley, John Hancock; Lorene, Kathleen Harper; Blick, Jeff Chandler; Arab, Martin Berman; Mary L., Michael Learned; Krupp, Patrick Gorman; McCarthy, Dudley Knight; Kit Carson, William Paterson; sailor, David Gilliam; Elsie, Suzanne Collins; a killer, Deborah Sussel; her side-kick, Lee McCain; a society lady, Anne Lawder, and a society gentleman, Josef Sommer.

Helping Thomas to bring the action alive at Nick's Pacific Street Saloon, Restaurant and Entertainment Palace at the foot of San Francisco's Embarcadero, was William Paterson, another ACT veteran, as Kit Carson, a tall teller of tales.

Other assorted characters floated through Nick's swinging doors throughout the evening, such as Kitty Duval, the prostitute, played by Joy Carlin. I know in a company such as ACT's, the rotating plays sometimes keep the top personnel from all the better roles, but it would have been interesting to see how Michael Learned, who had the small part of Mary L., would have handled the role.

Other notables in the large cast included Michael Cavanaugh as Harry the hoofer; Jeff Chandler as the vice squad "heel" (Saroyan's definition); Patrick Gorman as the policeman who really hates his beat; his close boyhood friend McCarthy, the longshoreman by Dudley Knight, and Mark Wheeler as the pinball machine fanatic.

The set designed by Jackson DeGovia captured the mood of a real waterfront dive and Elizabeth Covey's costumes aided the authenticity of the period.

Though the cast was not as strong overall as seen in other ACT productions this season, it's a play I strongly urge you to see — just for the magic of Saroyan's prose, sometimes humorous, but more often very humanistic and sometimes very sad.

The play now joins ACT's rotating repertory.

New Recreation Program Eyed

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission is investigating the possibility of operating a school playground recreation program all year.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said the staff recommended to commissioners Monday night that the program now operating summers be expanded to two days a week after school and Saturdays during the school year.

Commissioners asked for information about costs and staffing, Adams said.

Piano Students To Perform On Saturday

Dominican College's Department of Music Preparatory Division will present two 12-year-old piano students of faculty member Carol Roth in a recital Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Room 111, on the San Rafael campus.

Laurie Benson and Brian Grant will play works by Beethoven and Mozart, including the Mozart Sonata K 19 for Four Hands.

Behr Asks Stiff Fines On Pollution

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to stiffen water pollution penalties to the tune of $6,000 a day was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The bill would broaden the civil penalty of $6,000 a day under the Porter-Cologne Water Quality Control Act to include accidental or intentional discharges of oil or other pollutants into state waters.

Such pollution now can be prosecuted only as litter, with a maximum fine of $500.

Behr's measure also would give regional water quality control boards more muscle in enforcing the present law by enabling their staffs to seek immediate court action to levy the penalty instead of waiting for a regional board's monthly meeting to issue a cease and desist order.

Present law limits the penalty to dischargers who violate a board cease and desist order, but no penalty can be imposed for violating established waste discharge requirements or for accidental pollution, such as last month's oil spill in San Francisco Bay when two oil tankers collided.

Behr said that regional boards now were "helpless in combating countless conditions of pollution which occur before a regional board has time to meet and issue a cease and desist order."

Behr said that he was asked by the State Water Resources Control Board to carry the legislation. Similar provisions were dropped from the Porter-Cologne Act in order to get it passed into law in 1969.

Water Bond Sale Nets $19,603

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Water Project bonds totaling $100 million have been sold at an average net interest rate of 5.518 per cent.

Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest said the low bidder Tuesday was a syndicate managed by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City, and it included the First National City Bank, New York City, United California, San Francisco, and Salomon Bros., New York City.

The bid carried a $19,603 premium.

Proceeds from the sale will retire $100 million in one-year water bond anticipation notes issued last June, Mrs. Priest said.

The Series N bonds will mature serially from June 1, 1980, through June 1, 2020.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Adaptation' Fails To Really Ignite

By KAY KSANDA

Elaine May is something of a wild and wonderful wit. While her former comedy partner, Mike Nichols, has been establishing himself as a producer and director with such recent credits as "The Graduate" and "Catch 22", she has been gaining her own reputation in the movie business.

In between, she has written a one-act play.

Last year "Adaptation," written and directed by Miss May opened in New York. The play recieved very good reviews and was produced in San Francisco later in the year by the American Conservatory Theater; again, good reviews.

Last night "Adaptation" was produced as a one-nighter by the ACT touring company at Angelico Hall, Dominican College in San Rafael. The comedy received some giggles, but very few laughs.

Miss May's hero is a pawn. He has no dilemma. He plays the game of adaptation on a life-sized board like the games of life or Monopoly. From birth to death, his goal is to find the "security square." With a lot of buzzing and "dings" from the games master's bell, the contestant jumps, leaps, and lurches from emotional fulfillment squares to maturity squares. As he takes a step toward success "ding!" he has failed in "adaptation-resolution", and must take a step back into the penalty box. Seven big and bright boxes on a bare stage make the set.

The action is tense, too fast and garbled. The four actors, the games master, two players, and contestant) know their lines and the expected laughter like wound-up clocks. They switch wigs, change identities, and hardly pause in their effort to finish the game. They have it down to 47 minutes. A lot of the lines are lost.

Lines not lost are: "Dad, I've always had a dream. I want to major in Hotel Management in College."

"Son, I wanted more than anything else to own a liquor store,"

"I understand Dad, you're trying to tell me to have something to fall back on. I'll minor in cinematography." (the audience breaks up.)

Or later in life: "Here I am in charge of all the linens in the Chicago Hilton, and something has happened that I waited for all my life. The Democratic National Convention is in Chicago!"

"Move to one side Son, you're in front of the TV set."

"I forgave them the war, I forgave them the taxes, I even forgave them the Warren Commission, but stealing all those towels and pillowcases!"

Such dialogue is the backbone of the play.

ACT will be touring the Bay Area with "Adaptation," and is not scheduled for a repeat in Marin.

"ADAPTATION" — A one-act comedy by Elaine May; presented by the American Conservatory Theater; directed by James Milton. The cast: games master, James Branch; player, Leo Schaff; player, Sharyn Goldman; contestant, John Getz.

Ensemble To Perform Sunday

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will present a concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in St. Sebastian's Catholic Church in Kentfield.

Singers, brass instruments, percussion and the organ played by Dr. Wolff will be featured with brass instruments performing from the gallery, as heard at St. Mark's Church in Venice.

13 Patients Die In Mental Home Fire

ROLDE, The Netherlands (UPI) — Thirteen patients, most of them children, died Tuesday night when a fire swept a woodenbuilding at a Roman Catholci home for the mentally handicapped, police said.

When the fire started around 10:30 p.m., 47 patients, 12 to 30 years old were in the building.

After Dinner Serve Fruit And Wine

A growing trend is taking hold at American dinner tables.It's the inclination to serve fruit and wine for dessert, especially after heavy company meals.

Fruit desserts are usually rather light and simple but take on sophistication when paired with one of the rich dessert wines from California's vineyards.

The variety of dessert wines makes it easy for a hostess to find just the wine she wants to complement the fruit she has chosen and to climax her dinner.

Sweet or cream sherry is an old favorite. The wine's deep golden color is often a near-amber hue which invites leisurely savoring along with the dessert it accompanies.

Port is another classic dessert wine. It may be labeled ruby, tawny, tinta or white, depending on its color and the grapes from which it was made. Ports are sweet, rich wines, delicious at the end of a meal with fruit, cheese or nuts.

Red or gold muscatel, tokay, black muscat, muscat frontignan, madeira and marsala are among other dessert wines which enrich any dinner. All of these wines, including port and sherry, are usually poured at cool room temperature in 3-ounce servings. They're so pretty in clear, stemmed glasses that show off their rich wine colors, they're often served as the dessert itself.

SHERRY-HONEY POACHED APPLES

4 cooking apples
¾ cup sherry
¾ cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash salt

Pare and core apples, and cut into eighths. Heat sherry, honey, lemon juice and salt together. Add apple slices and simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes, just until tender, basting frequently. Cool in syrup. Serve drained with cheese balls, or in syrup with whipped cream or sour cream. Serves 4.

California sherry works well with pears also. Canned or cooked fresh pear halves take on company manners when topped with Sherry Fluff Sauce and served with glasses of the wine used to make it.

Snow-Capped Grapefruit is another out-of-the-ordinary dessert which calls on sherry for flavor. Basically, this is a baked Alaska with sweetened grapefruit as its base.

SNOW-CAPPED GRAPEFRUIT

3 grapefruit
3 tablespoons powdered sugar
⅓ cup California sweet Sherry
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Wash and dry grapefruit; cut crosswise in halves. Remove seeds, loosen segments with a sharp knife, and remove center cores. Pour off any juice. Sprinkle some of the powdered sugar and wine over each half. Chill several hours. Shortly before dessert time, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in granulated sugar; add vanilla. Heap some of the ice cream on top of each chilled grapefruit half; cover with meringue, making sure the meringue covers the ice cream completely and comes all the way to the edge of the grapefruit. Place on a baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 4 to 5 minutes, or just until meringue is delicately browned. (Watch carefully to prevent burning!) Serve immediately. Serves 6.

The exotic combination of flavors and the accompanying glass of port make Wine Ginger Peaches a memorable dessert that's easy to fix.

WINE GINGER PEACHES

2 (No. 2½ cans cling peach halves
¾ cup ginger marmalade (or ¾ cup orange marmalade plus 2 tablespoons chopped candied ginger)
½ cup port
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
½ cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons brown sugar

Drain peaches. Heat marmalade and wine together to boiling. Add peaches, cut side up. Simmer and baste about 5 minutes. Transfer peaches to glass serving bowl. Simmer wine and marmalade another 3 to 4 minutes to reduce and thicken slightly. Add lemon juice. Pour over peaches. Let stand overnight. Soften cream cheese with fork. Beat in sour cream and brown sugar. Serve as topping for peaches. Serves 6 to 8.

Good Dressing Is Crowning Glory Of Refreshing Salad

A change of pace meal — such as a filling salad, rolls and a sweet — will give a hint of the warm weather ahead.

This week, why not combine some of those leftovers in a refreshing salad? Or, make a hearty salad from "scratch." Chicken salad, ham salad, shrimp salad or vegetable salad in a gelatin base will stir the appetites of all. A good dressing spooned on top of each salad mound will be the crowning glory.

Here is a quick and easy dressing that will enhance just about any meat or vegetable salad. The flavor secret is zesty American blue cheese. The cheese may be stored in the refrigerator just as easily as the leftovers, but it will last much longer because a little tastes like a lot.

BREATH OF SPRING DRESSING

½ cup sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
⅓ cup American blue cheese (about 2 ounces, crumbled)

Pineapple And Chicken For An Oriental Treat

Pineapple and chicken can do wonders for each other. Tender fryers and canned pineapple, available all year around, combine for an oriental accented glazed pineapple chicken.

The sweet sour sauce of canned pineapple syrup, soy sauce and seasonings is cooked with browned chicken breasts so all flavors meld as quietly and as gently as an Oriental scene. Just a few minutes before the chicken is cooked, canned pineapple slices are added to heat thoroughly and are glazed with the sauce.

ORIENTAL GLAZED PINEAPPLE CHICKEN

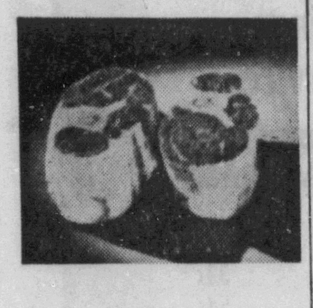
1 (8¼-ounce) can pineapple slices
1½ tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons catsup
4 boned and skinned raw chicken breasts
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Mix together reserved pineapple syrup, soy sauce, vinegar, honey and catsup. Spoon over chicken breasts. Cover and refrigerate for 1 or 2 hours. Drain, reserving marinade. In a heavy skillet, heat together 1 tablespoon butter and oil. Add chicken and brown well.Mix cornstarch with reserved marinade and remaining 1 tablespoon butter. Heat to boiling and pour over chicken in skillet. Cover tightly. Bring to boil; reduce heat and cook slowly about 25-30 minutes or until chicken is tender. During cooking, baste with pan sauce several times to glaze chicken. About five minutes before chicken is cooked, add drained pineapple slices to heat and glaze. Serves 4.



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Shank Cross Cuts.

Q. Where do they come from? How are they identified?

A. Beef cross cut shanks are made by cutting the fore shank perpendicular to the bone. The cross cuts, varying in thickness from 1 to 2½ inches, contain considerable connective tissue as well as a round bone.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. As they are a less tender cut, long and slow moist heat cookery is recommended. Cross cuts make a meaty soup. Brown 3 to 4 pounds of cross cuts in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings, add 2 quarts water and seasonings, cover and cook over low heat for 2 hours. Add vegetables, such as potatoes, carrots, celery, rutabaga or turnips and simmer, covered, about 30 minutes longer or until meat and vegetables are tender.

Salad Greens

Use imagination in selecting salad greens. For interesting texture and flavor, try chicory, water cress, endive, spinach, beet tops, dandelion greens, mint and celery tops.

ORCHIDS MUST be fed and sprayed and taken care of like a child," says Mrs. John Lesoine, who grows them in a greenhouse adjacent to her home in Ross. She spends at least half an hour every day, half a day once a week and several hours twice a week working on the orchids. "You can't neglect them, and it takes a constant routine," she says. "But the results are well worth it."

Prize Winning Orchids Grow In Ross Greenhouse

Perhaps it was because she was born and reared in the snow and cold of Canada that Mrs. John A. Lesoine of Ross, raises prize-winning orchids in her own greenhouse.

Or perhaps it is because of an artistic talent that enables her to offer musical recitals and to paint at a near-professional level that Mrs. Lesoine enjoys growing her beautiful hot house plants.

Members of the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers and their guests have the opportunity to see Mrs. Lesoine's orchids next Wednesday at the Valentine's tea and orchid display in her Del Mesa home.

FLORENCE LESOINE has won several blue and red ribbons for her orchids in competitions sponsored by the San Francisco Orchid Society. But prizes and shows are not why she devotes herself to her orchids.

She spends at least a half-hour each day in her greenhouse working on the orchids. At least once a week she spends half a day at this task, and twice a week it takes several hours.

"Orchids must be fed and sprayed and taken care of like a child," she says. "You can't neglect them, and it takes a constant routine. But the results are well worth it."

Mrs. Lesoine is from Montreal, where she went to school, and to this day she winces when she thinks of the cold and the snow, which she calls, "that white stuff."

SHE HAS lived in Ross for more than 20 years, and about 12 years ago a lath house was built adjacent to her house so that she could grow flowers indoors. Two years afterward, the greenhouse was constructed nearby to provide the enclosed conditions required by her orchids, and by the African violets which she also grows there.

She spends time in her outdoor garden, too, with camellias as a prime example of the beautiful flowers which make her home so lovely. But the greenhouse, heated by pipes containing hot water in a manner similar to home radiant heating, is her joy.

Mrs. Lesoine finds time for her orchids while still nurturing her musical talent. She has been a professional singer, and has trained with several prominent music teachers in San Francisco.

Mrs. Lesoine, a mezzo-soprano, was a pupil of the late Easton Kent, and presently works with Mrs. Ione Pastori Rix. She is active in the Marin Music Chest, the Symphony Guild and the Thursday Musical Club, where she has given several recitals.

MRS. JOHN Lesoine waters the plants in the greenhouse of her Ross home. Her orchids have won several ribbons in competitions sponsored by the San Francisco Orchid Society and will be on display at the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers Valentines tea to be held at her home next Wednesday.

BUT NO NUDE SCENES

Breaking The 'Georgy Girl' Image

London Express Service

"Perhaps it's prudishness on my part, but I just won't appear nude in a film."

There was nothing apologetic about the way Lynn Redgrave delivered the line; no hint of bitterness when she went on to say that she'd lost count of the number of parts she hadn't got because of her refusal to strip.

"There are certain parts that I'd love to play that I'll never get. It limits me terribly because almost every other actress will take her clothes off.

"There is a sort of elite band of us who won't; Elizabeth Taylor, Racquel Welch and some others. One feels that one is in pretty good company."

"Ultimately it doesn't really matter but at the moment films are going through a sort of phase where it's obligatory even when it's unnecessary. In certain films, of course, it's very necessary. Films like 'Women in Love' and 'The Devils' which my sister has just shot.

Her sister is Vanessa Redgrave who is not renowned for prudishness.

"I'M HAPPY to see it," went on Lynn. "But I won't do it. I don't like the idea of appearing nude in front of the crew, let alone the fifty million people who eventually see the film. My husband doesn't like the idea either. And imagine opening the door to the milkman after he'd seen a film in which one had appeared naked!"

"The fact is, it's your last realm of privacy and . . . well, one might be terribly deformed.

Amusing, immensely likeable and extremely talented (as befits a member of the illustrious Redgrave family) most things written about her are true.

There is no trace of vanity, and her dressing room at London's Garrick Theatre (where she is currently playing six roles in Michael Fryan's two player set of comedies "The Two Of Us") full of reminders of her "blissfully happy" marriage to photographer John Clark and of their two children whom she "quite disgustingly" loves.

Every available square inch of wall was covered with watercolors painted by Benjamin and Kelly, and their photographs outnumbered good luck telegrams on her dressing table.

BUT, SOMEHOW, one false myth lingers on; that she looks like the fat, unattractive girl she played in "Georgy Girl", the movie that made her an international star, earned her the rapturous praise of the critics and an Oscar nomination.

Let me bury that myth for once and for all. Lynn Redgrave, at 27, is tall, slim and stunningly attractive with an abundance of red-gold hair.

She put on a few pounds for "Georgy".

"I don't think many actresses would have gone as far as I did. I looked pretty awful and it did hurt my pride after being interviewed on the set to find myself described as some sort of plea for the plain girl.

"Would I do it now? I don't know. I still think I would recognize a marvellous part."

She lost the additional weight after the film, but not the image.

"IT WAS A handicap in some ways. At first, the only sort of parts I seemed to be offered were for fat unattractive girls. But there was obviously another side. The film was — and this surprised me — a very big success and it was a help because I became known in a bigger way."

She became famous — "but the only useful part about that is, you are offered more interesting parts to play. That's marvellous. Being recognized in the street, asked for autographs — that's all unimportant. Anyway, all that's changing now. I think it's virtually irrelevant."

Surprisingly, as a girl, Lynn didn't want to be an actress.

Some people would say I was resisting it. I don't know. I suppose there must have been a certain amount of resistance from me because everyone else in the family acted. And because I didn't feel that I could act. I never had and I wasn'tparticularly stage-struck until I was 16. Then I became stage struck in a very teenage way. Until then, my great love was horses and I loved jumping. When I became stage struck I realized I hadn't the nerve to jump in a big way which was what I wanted to do. I found was what I wanted to do. I found that if I couldn't do it particularly well, I didn't want to do it at all. I hardly ever ride now."

"I suffer appallingly from first night nerves. With me they take a funny form. I tend to yawn a lot and get very tired which is terrible. It's the worst sort of nerves — yawning. It means you've got a lack of oxygen — you're tensing up."

There are, says Lynn, lots of offers for Sir Michael Redgrave's "Bloody Marvels" (As his wife Rachel Kempson and children Corin, Vanessa and Lynn are known in showbiz circles) to appear in a stage production together.

"About four offers a month, actually. We get out of them as fast as we can. It would be unbearable."

Lynn's latest film is a screen version of the Tennessee Williams' play "The Seven Descants of Myrtle", titled "Blood Kin" in the United States although this may be changed when it is released in Britain this year.

IT'S THE story of a girl and two half brothers — one white, one black — in the deep South. Lynn plays a gum-chewing Southern girl who marries the white brother (James Coburn) and falls in love with the black one (Robert Hooks).

The movie was shot in Louisiana.

"There was a lot of worry about going there to make this kind of a film. We had a dummy script with certain references excluded in case the local people got to know what it was about.

"Robert Hooks had previously shot "Hurry Sundown" there and he had a really terrible time. He was barred from restaurants, he got threatening letters about his kids and the drivers on the film used to carry shot guns.

"IT WAS very strange when we got there. Suddenly one realized that this man you are working with — whose color you are not aware of — can't just come up to you and say good morning and put his arm round you. And you can't do the same. It's a very nervy feeling. It was a horrible situation. Nothing actually happened but there were a lot of crazy, crazy people around. They wanted a bit of fun. That's the way they look at it."

Lynn has no roles lined up at the moment for when "The Two Of Us" finishes its run and she's waiting to see what comes along. She says she would eventually like to go back to the National Theatre, but not yet. "I'd like to wait until I'm a little older and can get into another realm of parts." And one day she would like to "have a stab" at St. Joan.

"You know, the female 'Hamlet'."

'History Of The Chicano Must Be Taught In Schools'

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Literature, history and the culture of the Mexican-American must be taught in the schools, Anthony Medrano, instructor at Tamalpais High School and College of Marin said last night at a meeting presented by the Novato Branch of the American Association of University Women and the Marin County YWCA.

For the first in four Tuesday evening lectures, a very small audience was present at the program given to further multicultural understanding.

Medrano chose as his topic, "The Chicano, Voices of the Farm Worker in the Salinas Valley and Beyond" and his topic went far beyond the Salinas Valley.

"What are we?" he said. "I am an American." The Chicano, descendant of people who were here before the search for gold in California and the Alamo, when the Southwest and Texas were lost to the United States.

The Texans don't like to hear it, he said, but they are really the first Mexican Americans, he said.

He attacked the missions of California saying they helped "destroy our people."

A graduate of the University of San Francisco he attended graduate school at the University of California and was working towards a master's degree at the University of California when he married his wife of Irish ancestry.

He is vice chairman and education chairman of the Marin Human Rights Commission and is a member of the Association of Mexican-American Education. In this capacity he previews text books of Mexican-American history published for the schools.

If history is incorrect in the books he tells them, "Hey, that's wrong," and refuses the books. In one book that he turned down on the history of California, among 184 pictures in the book were only 10 pictures of minorities, all showing a certain quaintness, and only three of those pictures of Mexican-Americans.

Son of immigrant Mexican parents, he formerly taught the Chicanos at San Quentin where he said there are 800 Chicanos among the 4000 inmates. He found his textbooks disappearing and books he ordered for his classes never arriving. He finally called the principal some uncomplimentary names, and now he is no longer a teacher there, he said.

"I shouldn't have left," he said, "as the Chicano needed the education."

Of the Chicanos at San Quentin, 85 per cent are there for some drug offense and 82 per cent are there because of the use or possession of marijuana.

How many White Anglo-Saxons from Kentfield, Tiburon and Mill Vally have been picked up under similar circumstances and been released,

More Meats In Future Diets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans as eaters in 1980 will consume more food —particularly red meats and poultry, will eat fewer eggs, dairy products and fresh fruits, will buy more frozen and prepared foods, and will eat out more often.

The trend is among those cited in a new report issued by Chase Manhattan Bank on "Food Prices and Marketing Trends in the United States." The statisticians said the trends in eating habits will be coupled with a 2.5 per cent per year increase in food prices. The food budget, they said, will represent a smaller portion of the average American family's income in 1980 than it does today.

Narcotics Addicts And Tooth Decay

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A dental educator says dentistry must take its proper place within the national health team when it comes to the rehabilitation of narcotic addicts.

Dr. Stewart Shapiro, of Baltimore, told the American Dental Association convention here that: "... Dental health scientists must accumulate all the epidemiologic data associated with this disease so that as a profession, when called upon to render our services, we will have full awareness of the scope of therapy which will be required." Shapiro said one study had shown that confirmed active narcotic addicts and nonactive addicts had slightly higher decay rates than nonaddicts.

Almost Two-Thirds Of Horrible Halloween Stunts Were Hoaxes

DEAR HELEN:

It's a little late for comment about Halloween, but I thought you'd like to know that you and the fellow who doubted the authenticity of all the atrocity stories were right: A study of police investigators' files shows that almost two-thirds of such incidents turn out to be hoaxes, exaggerations, or cover-ups.

While there are a few depraved people who put razor blades in Halloween apples and lace candy with soap, there are also spiteful kids who even the score with "mean" neighbors by planting broken glass in their gifts of popcorn balls.

The much publicized case of the boy who died "after he ate trick or treat candy filled with heroin" was a phony — but the follow-up story didn't get much play. It turns out the five-year-old got a heroin capsule at his uncle's house by accident. Later a member of his family confessed to having "salted" Halloween candy to protect the guilty.

The facts, according to detectives in several large cities are:

No known serious injuries have occurred from booby-trapped treats.

Only one person has ever admitted to booby-trapping Halloween treats, and she was later placed in a mental institution. Hers was the only known arrest.

Horror stories about poisoned goodies and pins in fruit are widely publicized and discussed. The follow-up of truth after thorough investigation, seldom makes big headlines, if any.

Thus parents become so frightened that they accompany their kids on the rounds and forbid travelling out of their neighborhood (a good thing, but sad it must be brought about through fear).

Actually last October 31 was one of the quietest Halloweens in recent years, says a Los Angeles police department spokesman. It may be even quieter next year, for scare stories seldom die. — ALLEN

DEAR HELEN:

You can't imagine how thrilled we've been by the response of your wonderful readers to our drive to collect Betty Crocker coupons for kidney machines in our Regional Dialysis Center. We've received coupons from all over the United States, and may we thank via your column the vast number of HHU fans who responded so generously?

Helen, as you've probably heard, General Mills has announced it will discontinue redeeming Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving devices because of accusations that the firm was trading on human misery. Unfortunately most of the newspaper items on this policy change did not mention that already-started projects which were approved by the company prior to December 1, 1970, can redeem coupons until May 31, 1971. There is still time for us and other non-profit, registered groups to collect the necessary amount for our goal. If we don't, the company will give the institution we designate credits for life-saving equipment to be applied toward a purchase.

Would you please mention the May 31 deadline in your column, so that many hospitals and centers throughout the country may still receive assistance in buying these vitally needed machines? — E. H. Saddle River Reformed Church, 500 East Saddle River Road, Upper Saddle River, New Jersey, 07458

DEAR E.:

I'll be glad to mention your project, and also those of The Candy Stripers at Sutter Memorial Hospital, Sacramento, California and a group at Roseville Hospital, Roseville, Calif. These are among the many organizations who have registered with General Mills to collect Betty Crocker coupons for kidney machines and other life-saving equipment.

Keep those coupons pouring in until May 31, 1971, you collectors out there.

Read on:

DEAR HELEN:

About the company decision to discontinue redeeming Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving hospital equipment: Isn't it a shame that a company like General Mills will overlook the thousands of grateful "thank you's" and cave in to a very few charges that it is "profiteering from misfortune"? Would a barrage of letters asking for reconsideration of this policy change help keep our kidney machine projects going? — W. Z.

DEAR W.;

Maybe. Why not try? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Nadar's Advice On Bad Cars

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — If you are thinking of buying a car or trying to have one repaired properly, Ralph Nader and two associates have a few thousand words of advice for you.

They are wrapped up in a paperback book with a picture of a big lemon on wheels and a title: "What to Do With Your Bad Car: An Action Manual for Lemon Owners." It costs $2.95, from Grossman Publishers, New York.

Actually, the symbol of a lemon as a rare exception to the rule is not exactly what Nader has in mind. For he clearly feels that there are so many things wrong with every car that all of them qualify as "lemons."

The fact is that, like people, no car is perfect or completely defect-free. It's a rare product that is in these times. So the real point of the book is how to protect yourself against all the tricks, traps and just plain human errors that go with buying or repairing a car.

Reading the book is somewhat like having a private two-hour interview with Nader. He is frank to say that your chances of getting full value for your money and maxiumum safety, or getting satisfaction in having defects handled properly, are not great.

BUT HE SHOWS in many practical ways how you can improve those chances. As models, he cites numerous cases in which consumers who chose to fight have succeeded in getting at least some satisfaction. And he suggests some novel methods to use.

Among the precautions suggested in buying a car are:

Avoid optional equipment that increases the chance of repair costs, such as air conditioners, automatic speed controls, eyelid headlamp covers, power windows and power antennas.

Request a copy of the dealer's pre-delivery service and adjustment check sheet as evidence that the vehicle has been checked for defects.

Ask to see the dealer's agreement to provide tire warranty service at the auto dealership. Many dealers are reluctant to acknowledge their responsibility for tire defects as well as vehicle defects.

Try to get the dealer to agree to Nader's model "Consumer's Warranty," a copy of which is included in the book. Your chances here are small, Nader admits, but the effort may someday bring results.

CHECK VITAL points yourself, before accepting the car. These are listed as brakes, tires, steering action, latches, body damage. Also, see that all options are there and in good working order. Nader even suggests a thorough test drive, a privilege few dealers are willing to grant.

Most of the rest of the book is a discussion of ways to get defects corrected and repairs corrected properly. These include: going to the dealer himself, contacting the manufacturer, informing legislators and even the President. The office and home addresses of company presidents are listed.

The book tells how to strengthen your case, how to get through to the proper official, what to do when you get no response, what your rights are regardless of what the warranty says and when to press a legal suit.

There is even a section on "last resorts," such as publicizing a complaint with picket signs, "lemon" signs on cars, bumper stickers, and other means. The value of group action is also described in detail.

There is one other day to avoid auto repair problems. It is symbolized by Nader but not mentioned. He simply doesn't buy cars.

Watches Not Repaired

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's time watch repair companies minimized consumer complaints, says the New York Better Business Bureau. The bureau said it received 1,148 complaints from watch owners in 1969, an increase of 33 per cent over the previous year. Equally high figures are expected from 1970, the bureau said.

he inquired of his audience?

"Do you know what EMR is?" he again inquired of his audience. Of the Educable Mentally Retarded classes in Santa Clara County, 85 per cent are Mexican-Americans he said. "We had to threaten San Francisco with a lawsuit to have the IQ tests administered in Spanish," he said.

He did not mention other high schools in Marin County, but he said there are 337 readily identifiable Mexican-American surnames in the Novato Elementary School District and 78 at the Novato High School. He had no answer to what's happening to the students and questioned whether they were children of Hamilton (Air Force Base) people. He said he was sure Mr. Mobley (Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent of schools in the Novato Unified School District) would cooperate in finding the answers.

Cesar Chavez has been a friend of the Medrano family since the instructor was a sophomore in high school. At that time Chavez was national chairman of the community service organization.

It's strange, Medrano said, but the Chicano farm workers were the first to win a battle for their people.

There is page after page of injustices of "Sheriffs, cops and at San Quentin" against the Chicano, he said, but they have not had to face a Mexican Watts.

"Who is speaking up for our people?" Medrano continued. "The Chicano himself must speak out."

The Mexican-American is thought of as a migrant farmworker, but of the 82 per cent of Mexican-American descent in California, 86 per cent are urban dwellers, mostly in the cities, he said.

He told of his father being ashamed of being a migrant worker, but he said he has told his father to be proud. He has helped agriculture in California. His father "got to the sixth grade" and his mother had a second grade education.

Medrano told his father about the fine hospital plan and dental care the teachers had with the Tamalpais School District. His father said, "What have you given to receive this? Don't make too much noise, I don't want you to go through what I did. They may fire you."

The Mexican-American is forgetting his language and those that receive status in the United States and make money forget their heritage, he said.

He hopes a program will be worked out in the schools where the Chicano can learn English and the English speaking Spanish.

He said his children are bilingual and his youngest son, Emiliano, says "buenas noches" each night as he goes to bed to portraits of the Medrano "heroes" Virgen de Guadalupe, Emiliano Zapata, Che Guevara and Angela Davis and a 15th Century crucifix.

Sausalito 'Prefers' Most Expensive Rapid Transit

By PAT ANGLE

With some hesitation and over the strenuous objections of one councilman, the Sausalito City Council last night went on record as "preferring" the most costly of the Golden Gate Bridge District's five possible plans for long-range transit for Marin.

The proposal which won the limited approval calls for a subway system proceeding from San Francisco over a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, then underground through the western hills of Sausalito. The plan includes stations in Fort Baker and the Marinship area of Sausalito.

The council informed the bridge district that the city will have to approve any terminal site in Marinship and said it wants to see continued emphasis on ferry service between San Francisco and Sausalito.

The action came on the recommendation of Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt, who studied the five plans. He said the district's first alternate plan, which will cost the most money, would have "the least negative impact" on the city.

But Councilman Stephen A. Fraser apparently felt even the "least impact" was too much and voted to reject the proposal. Councilman Wyman Hicks, who left the meeting early, did not vote.

While admitting future rapid transit might be desirable for the forts (for recreation) and central and northern Marin (for commuting), Fraser said he did not feel Sausalito needed rapid transit. "I think a ferry system and buses are enough for Sausalito," he explained.

Fraser said he would prefer the district's proposal to build an underwater tube to Central Marin, but the council rejected that plan because of its possible effect on the Sausalito waterfront. "We don't want rapid transit through our waterfront; that's too fragile an area," Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said flatly. He indicated he did not want to see ventilator buildings, needed below ground or underwater transit tubes, dotting the bay.

Mrs. Sweeny objected to the term "Marinship" which figured in most of the district's alternate plans, saying it covered too large an area. "I wouldn't mind a terminal at the northern border of Sausalito, but I certainly don't want to see one on, say, Spring Street, which is also Marinship," she said. "That could destroy the city."

City engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, objected to a transit station for Marinship, saying all the lands the city would lose for stations, parking lots and the like would reduce the tax rolls. He also said he felt rapid transit in Sausalito would "increase the congestion and the cost of police and fire protection."

Borgwardt replied that modern transit systems, such as Bay Area Rapid Transit, have raised the value of surrounding lands "substantially," enough to offset any loss in revenue from lands used for the system.

The council also rejected two other proposals by the bridge district, one which called for a station in the Spencer Avenue area and another which proposed an aerial (elevated) rapid transit structure along Highway 101.

Caledonia Street Reopening Deferred

After listening to objections from several residents, the Sausalito City Council last night deferred action on a proposal to make permanent a temporary closure of a one-block portion of Caledonia Street between San Carlos Avenue and Johnson Street.

The council referred the plan, proposed by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten, to the city planning commission for further study and recommendations.

Masten told the council the trial closure of the street (between the city fire and police stations) for the last six months while the fire station was being remodeled "has not caused the citizens of Sausalito any particular problem."

Masten said the one-block area, if closed, could provide a training area for fire department personnel and parking for both policemen and firemen.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said he thought the city should research the title to that part of Caledonia before making any decision on the closure. He explained it was possible that the persons who dedicated the land to the city for a street, might have specified the area remain a public street or revert back to the original owner.

George Changaris, of 118 Spencer Avenue, complained that voters asked to approve funds for expansion and remodeling of the police and fire stations in 1969 were not made aware that permanent closure of Caledonia was part of the deal.

And Howard Chadd, of 77 Central Avenue, objected to having to turn into Bridgeway tourist traffic from San Carlos on weekends, instead of being able to go down Caledonia.

Councilman Robin Sweeny said "several possibilities," such as making that one block a one-way street, should be looked into. She did not feel the council had enough information on the matter to make an intelligent decision.

The other council members concurred and asked the planning commission to make a thorough study of the situation.

The Sausalito City Council also:

FIRE ORDINANCE — Received a complete fire ordinance from Masten which would change city building requirements to insure each new building in the city would have adequate fire protection built into it. The council asked the chief to work with the city manager to "refine" the city's current fire ordinance to make it more effective.

TOWAWAY ZONE — Introduced an ordinance to establish a towaway zone on Johnson Street opposite the fire station. The fire chief said the zone, which would eliminate one parking space on the street, will make it much easier for fire vehicles leaving the station to turn onto Johnson Street.

SIGNS — Agreed to paint "keep clear" signs on Bridgeway at Johnson and San Carlos to warn motorists on Bridgeway to keep the intersections clear during traffic jams so turns from the two streets would be possible.

CLAIMS — Rejected, and referred to the city's insurance carrier, the following claims: $1,294 claim from Samuel Epstein for injuries received when his bicycle caught in a sewer grating and a $4,750 claim from Peter W. Edmister, who claims he was falsely arrested and "attacked" by a Sausalito police officer last November.

COUNTY DISTRICT — Went on record favoring a county-wide police services district which would take the burden for police protection in unincorporated areas off taxpayers who live in cities and pay city taxes for police service.

CONTRIBUTION — Accepted a $1,000 donation from the Sausalito Foundation to pay for landscaping of the city's newly-remodeled fire station.

LIGHTING PLAN Referred a lighting plan for municipal parking lot No. 1 to the community advisory appearance board. City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the system would cost the city $800 if city employees did the trenching work.

Addition To Home Approved

The Petaluma Board of Zoning Adjustments, over objections of city planning staff, last night approved a variance for a home addition at 1629 Annetta Drive.

Daniel Plumbley requested the variance to permit a 14-foot rearyard setback for the addition. The staff said granting approval might set bad precedent.

The board, however, said the addition would not have a bad effect on the neighborhood and voted unanimously to permit it.

The board also approved home occupation permits for James W. Tapp, income tax and bookkeeping at 1278 Ramona Lane; Flora Hutchinson, ceramics operations at 1309 McKenzie Avenue; Helen I. Rodgers, sewing classes at 313 Eastwood Drive, and Gordon M. Johnson, photography at 33 Payran Street.

Car Stolen From Hub Repair Shop

A 1960 Rambler sedan, owned by Alberts Transmission at 933 Francisco Boulevard, was stolen sometime during the last three weeks, police said.

Herbert W. Mueller of 24 Elm Avenue, San Anselmo, told police yesterday that the car was used by the auto shop as a "loaner" for customers and it was customary to leave the car unlocked with keys over the sun visor.

$60 Robbery In Tiburon

A Tiburon man was robbed of $60 Monday by two men who forced their way into his apartment in the Hilarita Housing Project and held him on his bed while they searched the residence.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said Joseph B. Kemp, of Apartment 73, Building O, reported that he was in bed about 10:45 p.m. when the two men pried open the front door, grabbed him and held him down.

Kemp said one man went through his pockets and searched the room. He told officers the pair found $60 he had hidden in a sock.

Marin Joins Suit Over AFDC Rules

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Marin and six other California counties have filed suit challenging state rules which they say force the issuing of welfare checks to persons earning as much as $16,000 a year.

The suit filed by Alameda, Butte, Marin, San Diego, San Mateo, Santa Clara and Tulare counties objects to regulations in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Such regulations permit families getting AFDC to deduct expenses of daily living from their private pay until their incomes are small enough to qualify for monthly welfare checks, the suit said.

Marijuana Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill removing marijuana from the classification of "narcotic" and giving it its own designation was introduced Tuesday by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

TEACHER OF THE WEEK

Science Class Is Captivating For Kent Seventh Graders

When seventh graders start the study of astronomy in their science class at Kent School in Kentfield, they're quite likely soon to find themselves members of the Kent School Astronomical Society.

That's because John L. Richard, Kent's seventh grade science teacher for 16 years, has found the youngsters often find astronomy too interesting to drop when they pass on to other portions of the course. One of his former pupils, in fact, now is majoring in astronomy at Stanford University.

Eight years ago, Richard organized the astronomical society. Current membership, he said, is "about 40," which has been the average roll for several years.

The youngsters last year proved their interest by raising more than $200 to buy the club a 600-power telescope.

Mothers and fathers get interested, too, by attending star-watching meetings of the club — at which their sons and daughters show them how to use the telescope and how to identify the stars.

The astronomy club is not the extent of Richard's outside activities for the children. He also has an amateur radio club.

Richard has been at Kent School since completing his education for a teaching credential at University of San Francisco 17 years ago. He also has a master's degree in educational administration from San Francisco State College, and is assistant principal at Kent.

He taught sixth grade one year, then became the seventh grade science teacher — a job he likes so well he wants no other.

He views his extracurricular activities as an extension of the classroom. "When a student gets a little something out of a class, it's a little bit of you," he said, expressing his philosophy as a teacher.

Park Development To Be Discussed

Development of a park plaza in the heart of Sausalito's downtown area will be considered by the Sausalito Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

William Spangle and Associates (developers of Sausalito's central waterfront plan) and Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams, Inc., who formulated the park plaza plan, will present detailed recommendations to the commission.

First Cotati Filing For School Job

Penny-Davis Hanley, a Rohnert Park housewife and secretary, has become the first person to file candidacy papers for the April 20 election to the Cotati School District board.

The terms of Andrew J. Camozzi and Richard G. Lambert will expire.

No one has filed papers for election to the Old Adobe School District Board, Petaluma, also to be held on April 20. Filing closes on Feb. 25 at 5 p.m.

Terms expiring on the Old Adobe board include those of John Thompson and Dora Eldredge. The election will also fill the vacancy left by board member Robert E. Daly when he was appointed to the Petaluma City Council.

Like Timely Gifts

NEW YORK (UPI)—A nationwide survey shows wristwatches are the most popular hard-goods gift item among U.S. college students. More than 88 percent of America's 7 million college students wear watches, and one out of every six owns two or more wristwatches, according to Bulova Watch Co., researchers.

More Candidates Needed For School Board Posts

There has been no great rush of candidates so far for school board positions in Marin County which will be up for election April 20.

In San Rafael, for instance, there may be no contest, in the light of the situation this week.

Terms of three San Rafael Board of Education members expire: those of Herman L. Childress, Carl J. Brown, and John C. Pfeiffer.

Brown and Pfeiffer have both announced they will not be candidates, Brown because he feels eight years on the board is enough, Pfeiffer because he expects to move from San Rafael. Childress had said he probably would not seek another term, but took out a candidacy petition this week.

As of this writing, three such petitions were out, but none had yet been returned to the city clerk's office.

Deadline for filing for the San Rafael board is noon Feb. 11, as the board of education is elected under city election rules. This means that only a week remains for candidates to enter the race.

In other school districts in the county, candidates have until 5 p.m. Feb. 25 to file. Few have done so as yet.

There may be a last-minute rush, but in San Rafael and elsewhere. It does not take long to get 10 signatures to a petition, which is all that are now required in the San Rafael election; and no signature except the candidate's is required for filing for other school boards.

There are, however, disadvantages to waiting until the last minute to file:

1. A potential candidate who might be well qualified holds back thinking there is going to be a large field, and finds out too late — after the deadline —that there are only enough candidates to fill the positions open, or not even that many. This has happened in Marin school districts.

2. On the other hand, when all hold back, there may appear to be too few candidates, and many may rush in to file at the last minute, some of them to find out afterward that others have filed whom they have supported rather than entering the race themselves.

3. The lack of early candidates clears the way for the machinations of "king makers" who wish to put together tickets of persons whom they feel they can control, or who represent a special interest. When these are entered near the close of the filing period, the fact that they will run as a ticket does not become known until too late for others to oppose them.

4. The time is shortened for the public to learn of the candidates and perhaps urge others into the race. The public's choice in the election is thereby limited.

School board positions pay nothing, are very time-consuming, are generally thankless, and have little political appeal. But no position of local public service is more important. We need the best to run our schools. And a wide choice at the polling place is necessary to get the best.

Don't Knock Money

It has been fashionable to despise money for about 20 years, especially among the young. Especially other people's money, too. There's nothing glamorous about being a money-grubber, we may think.

When we were young, we were imbued with this idea. We had been reared in rich America, where nobody suffered serious deprivation — or so we thought then. Then we happened to spend a year in Hong Kong, which is perhaps the world's most money-minded city. And we haven't looked down on the green stuff since.

Getting the most out of one's funds becomes a blend of mathematics and a fine art when one has very limited means. Living with the Chinese, we were much more aware that money is the result of toil, thrift, sweat, talent, genius, learning, sleepless nights, close figuring and that old intangible, luck.

Don't knock money. We don't appreciate it until we are without it. Unless, of course, government printing presses render it valueless.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Dumke's Plan Offers Hope For Restoring Colleges' Role

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Finally, a measure of reform in the operation of the state college system has been suggested by a high official in state service, and if even a portion of his recommendations are carried out, there is some hope yet for acclimating the antiquated operation to modern times.

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State Colleges, has proposed that ways be found to reduce the traditional four-year undergraduate program to three years or less.

In addition, he has suggested that students be given credit for work undertaken off campus, and that they pay the full costs for courses not required for their degree or credential.

What the suggestions add up to is that the halcyon days of securing an education at the choice of the students are over and gone. What Dumke is trying to do is put education on a business basis so that it can be provided for people who want it and can absorb it, and who intend to use it after it is provided for them.

HE SAYS his plan would provide room for some 12,500 students who are "knocking at the doors" of the state colleges, raise some $10 million to $12 million, benefit the state's taxpayers by giving them their money's worth, and cut down the time the student spends in acquiring his education.

It's fairly well conceded that the chancellor's suggestions will find little favor with the die-hard proponents of the old school, particularly those professors who condescend to teaching a few hours a week. Neither will the ideas be popular with those who teach and take unessential courses at state expense.

Few students would come through with money to pay for courses they do not need for degrees or credentials, which would either decrease the teaching staff, or put teachers to work in providing the essential elements of education.

DUMKE ALSO hopes to reduce duplication in the eduation system. He says that if a student can write well, there is no need for him to sit through a course in elementary composition, and if he knows basic American history from his high school studies, no need to repeat this as a freshman.

Dumke says a student should be allowed to demonstrate his competence on nationally recognized examinations. Also, he suggested credits, after proper examinations, for courses given by television.

The important thing about the report is that an educator of Dumke's caliber came forward with plans to improve the system. It is to be hoped the state board also sees the necessity for preventing complete breakdown and goes ahead with implementation of his suggestions.

Revenue Sharing Will Require All-Out Effort By President

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

(This is the last column in which Geoffrey Drummond participated with his father. He died at the age of 40 in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 29.)

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is in for a long, bitter, uncertain fight with powerful members of Congress who are out to block his revenue-sharing program by any device they can lay their hands on.

They can lay their hands on quite a few devices.

They used one a year ago when Nixon asked for a modest beginning toward revenue-sharing with the hard-pressed states and cities. The democratic majority of the House Ways and Means Committee simply refused to hold any hearings whatsoever. No hearings, no vote, no bill, no nothing.

Now the President has won a mini-victory. A mini-victory with a maxi-threat. When Chairman Wilbur Mills recently met with the President he assured him there would be committee hearings this time, but the second he got to Capitol Hill he assured his colleague that "I'll have hearings for the purpose of killing it."

Thus Congressman Mills provides Nixon with a committee forum for revenue-sharing with a built-in trap door through which he aims to drop it to oblivion at the earliest opportunity.

IF THIS IS the kind of cavalier treatment so important and carefully considered a governmental reform is to receive, Nixon will have to make it a transcendent issue in the nation. Winning public backing for his revenue-sharing policy will have to be as important to Nixon as winning public support for his Vietnam policy. This will require stronger presidential advocacy than he has yet put behind any domestic program.

He seems ready to do so.

We cannot recall any domestic program in recent years which received the degree of public support which the revenue-sharing plan already gets. The latest Gallup Poll, completed before the impetus of the "State of the Union" address, shows 77 per cent in favor and only 14 per cent opposed.

Such public approval will have to be sustained and marshaled and focused directly on Congress if it is to be effective. Only the President can do this, but he has a spontaneous consensus to build on.

IT NEEDS TO BE understood that revenue-sharing, however, needed for itself, is only a means to a much more important end. The end is to reverse the long-time flow of power and resources from local and state government to Washington.

The goal of revenue-sharing is to put the federal taxpayers' monies nearer to where the problems are and to enable those who are directly involved to have more to say about what is to be done with them.

Today in Washington there are some 1,400 grant-in-aid programs costing about $17 billion a year, designed to put federal funds where they would do the most good. They are not doing much good at all. They constitute an overlapping, unmanageable, administrative monster, and something better is needed.

IT WILL BE indeed a bold revolution if we can begin to shift significantly some of the roles and resources of government back to the states and localities where those who are nearest to the problems can have the means to deal with them.

There is additional evidence that this is what the American people want to see happen. Some years ago the greatest concern of the public, as reflected in the polls, was over the out-reaching power of Big Labor. But for the past decades all the polls showed that the greatest concern is with Big Government. It was a new balance struck between Washington and the states and localities.

We somehow doubt that the status-quo congressmen can indefinitely foil the public conviction that now is the time to arrest the flow of power to Washington. And that more needs will be better met by so doing.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Divorce Court Adds Relief Costs

I have been reading in the paper about all of the pressure that is being brought to bear on the mothers on welfare. When will the public, the tax paying public look into why the mothers are on welfare.

This morning I went to court, a divorce action and heard my husband plead poverty, he cannot pay his child support. He took the business, started running around with whomever, neglected to work at the business but denied my rights to it, and all the judge had to say was that he should do better. What are our children supposed to eat? To wear? We are constantly harrassed by this "poor man", but then that is to be expected in a divorce. The courts expect everyone to lie; try telling the truth, it doesn't get you anywhere.

How many mothers would be on welfare if the fathers were made to share the financial costs of raising the children they helped bring into the world? Most mothers are like I am, work five or six days a week and still it isn't enough to give their children what they need plus the time away from them while they work... The welfare laws may not be the best but the divorce laws need changing now to help these mothers meet their responsibilities...

If taxes for the public assistance program are going to be reduced, and they certainly should be, everyone is going to have to accept some responsibility for changing our outdated child support laws and make the fathers, not the state, support their children.

Is It Rock That Lacks Integrity?

In regard to the controversy over the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, consider the phrase, "it (the rock) lacks integrity."

My dictionary has this to say about integrity, in usage:

A. The walls were standing though not in their integrity.

B. He did but restore the law to her integrity.

C. Better is the poor that walketh in his integrity than he that is perverse in lippes, and is a fool.

I would interpret "perverse in lippes" as men or women who speak perverted of mouth.

'Revenue Sharing' Just Baited Hook

The $16 billion "revenue sharing" concept recently announced by President Nixon is nothing more than a baited hook with a long string.

I agree with the President's concern that too much power has been transferred to Washington; however, Mr. Nixon's proposed method of returning power to local governments is actually a means of further destroying the autonomy of local self-government. Revenue sharing is just another name for federal aid. Federal aid means federal controls and there is no logical or legal way to avoid it.

For Mr. Nixon to say there are no strings attached to shared revenue is for him to be extremely reckless with the truth. The string on the end of the hook can be pulled in at the whim of the federal bureaucrats, and once hooked, our local government is reeled in also — becoming nothing more than an administrative region of "Big Brother"...

If Mr. Nixon is really sincere all he has to do is simply cut taxes by $16 billion plus the amount it would cost to administer the program. It is past time we realized that federal revenue is not pumped out of the Potomac River.

Beach and Wallet: To Much Greed

Tuesday (Jan. 19) was a big disaster day for many Marin residents. The oil spill destroyed the bay waters and waterfowl beyond belief. It was really unbelievable to witness so many people giving generously of their own time and money to help in the endless effort to clean up the mess. I caught oil soaked birds that lined the Strawberry beach shoreline. Equipped with waders and a net, I walked the shoreline for hours picking up birds that were too tired to fly or weren't able. It was difficult catching these frightened birds and they bit hard as a defense.

... It was depressing for me and other workers to see the grebes, scooters and coots that were brought in to be washed and fed. Their wings clung fast to their bodies with crude tar oil and I myself had a hard time trying to wash it off my own hands.

Tuesday was also a disaster day for me because I lost my wallet while dropping off birds at the Audubon Sanctuary. After asking dozens of people and running an ad in the I-J for my wallet containing my driver's license, Social Security card, medical card, and things which couldn't be replaced, I received a "postage due" letter with the contents of my wallet and a scribbled note saying:

"I am sorry for the wallet and money being missing. But consider yourself lucky that I was able to send this to you." Signed "a friend."

What a friend! He kept the $7 and the wallet, probably as a reward for himself. I didn't mind the money as much as the wallet, which was a present. I was offering a reward but he chose his own. Too much greed from my way of thinking!

Puppy Rescued By Large Dog

I had a fantastic experience with my puppy that I would like to share with your readers.

My puppy was saved by another dog named "Sam," but I don't know the owner's name. I would like very much to have you print what happened so they might be thanked for having such a wonderful dog, and know just what their dog did. I think it is really something for an animal's intelligence to know to save another dog's life.

The puppy was playing in the College of Marin creek and fell off the bank into the water, and couldn't swim. He started to go under, and a Labrador retriever jumped in after the puppy and brought him to safety...

Since "Sam" didn't tell where he was from or who he belonged to, (I) would like to thank the people who own "Sam."

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Cambodia Raids Adhere To Letter Of The Law

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The greatest concrete accomplishment of this administration is its large-scale withdrawal of American forces from Southeast Asia in a phased, responsible way.

Outside the combat activities of the enemy himself, the greatest threat to continuation of that orderly withdrawal comes from politicians on Capitol Hill who would tighten restrictions on U.S. action there to the point at which only a pell-mell, unprotected bugout would be possible.

In the hysteria following the President's decision to send American troops into Cambodia last spring, the legislative branch asserted itself to insure that he would not do it again. When it eventually became law, the Cooper-Church Amendment was an important symbolic action, the first time Congress had used its power over the military budget to draw geographical limits on a war already under way.

But it was by no means a unanimous congressional decision, and in the debating and dealing process very clear limits were drawn on the limitations themselves.

UNSATISFIED WITH the fact that the restrictions Congress passed are being observed by the military, disappointed legislators who could not push through their exact desired language now complain that the administration is violating the "spirit" of the amendment.

This comes from Democratic presidential aspirants, who are contesting with typewriters and blue pencils to see who can make the most points against Mr. Nixon, and from some who have no foreseeable chance at the presidency, such as Frank Church of Idaho, co-author of the amendment.

With commendable patience, Secretaries Melvin Laird and William Rogers went up to explain recent operations by American planes and helicopters in and over Cambodia. They convinced some of the earlier complainants, including the other co-author of the amendment, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky. But not Church.

They have to be patient because they have to keep coming back to the Hill for more money. But Rep. Sam Stratton of New York is not in their position, and his response to the outcry about the "spirit" of the law rang loudest.

"WHERE DO WE get all this talk about 'spirit' anyway?" he asked on the floor of the House. "This amendment was never really passed by Congress in the normal course: It was slipped through in the closing days of the last Congress in a conference committee as, frankly, a ransom to the Senate for their approval of the supplemental foreign aid appropriations for Cambodia.

"The House never really debated Cooper-Church. We never explored the full implications of it, let alone the 'spirit' of it. And the only time the House actually voted on Cooper-Church, last spring, we voted against it.

"Last December's acceptance was strictly a shotgun wedding, and so we are committed only to the actual letter of that amendment and not to any broad implications which somebody might think are involved but which never became any part of the legislative history.

"And the letter of Cooper-Church is very simple: No American ground troops or military advisers in Cambodia. And that provision is being scrupulously adhered to."

THAT COVERS it. It doesn't silence those complaining, for they have their motives. One of those motives may be to raise so much ruckus in advance of a violation of the amendment that the administration will be doubly sure not to risk a transgression. If in thus sounding the alarm they stuck to statements of fact, that effort could not be faulted.

But a great deal of fact-stretching was ventured in this most recent flareup of the debate over Cambodian involvement.

If a majority of Congress want Cambodia to collapse and to open up the entire western flank of South Vietnam while good-faith efforts at American withdrawal continue, then it can pass a new law prohibiting U.S. overflights of Cambodian soil. But let it be stated in the letter of the law, not in some nebulous "spirit" that exists only in the mind of the complainant.

REMEMBER WHEN?

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

School Reform Report Gets Down To Specifics

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Reports of government-appointed commissions generally are long on "padding" and short on content; but such is not the case with the 57-page report of the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform.

On the report's release, principal attention was given its proposals to abolish teacher tenure, and to replace county schools offices with a system of regional offices of the California Department of Education. But others of its recommendations are equally revolutionary.

One calls for complete rewriting of the California Education code, which contains some 32,000 sections of which many contradict each other. It advocates legislation setting up a commission to draft a whole new code "which would prescribe only minimum limitations," freeing local school districts from the stultifying and often incomprehensible restrictions of the multiplicity of state laws.

THE COMMISSION headed by Robert E. Hanson, also advocates considerable increase in responsibilities of the state Board of Education, and a corresponding decrease in policy responsibilities of the state Department of Education.

This move toward putting educational policy in the hands of those representing the public rather than the education profession would be augmented by making the state superintendent appointive, which the governor's commission — like many before it — advocates.

The state board, says the report, should be given responsibility for assessing the financial needs of the public schools and presenting them in an annual budget to the governor and legislature; for defining the priority of state goals in education, and for prescribing minimum standards of accomplishment.

TYING THIS to the concept of accountability, the commission calls for annual assessment of students' achievement at each grade level, and for student performance objectives on which this would be based.

It strikes at the legislature's habit of mandating new programs, then leaving it up to the local districts to find money for them. "All mandated educational programs (should) be funded by the state." it declares.

Besides advocating repeal of tenure laws, the commission criticizes the lockstep salary schedule by which teachers advance in pay solely on the basis of graduate credits and years of service. Like Gov. Ronald Reagan, it calls for consideration of "merit pay." But it goes farther.

"Career ladders should be provided," says the report, "to permit outstanding teachers to . . .earn as much as, or more than, administrators." To do this, it advocates multiple salary schedules "provided on a competitive basis" and defined in part in terms of responsibilities.

TAKING A CRITICAL look at where the money goes, the commission notes: "Research studies show that on the average at least one-third of a classroom teacher's time is spent in activities which are non-professional in nature." With California teacher salaries aggregating $1,837,000,000 last year, this means more than $600 million in professional salaries was paid for non-professional work, it observes.

Hiring instructional aides has done little to reduce this, the report says. It advocates, instead, using students in teaching training programs. It proposes that a major portion of the state scholarship fund be used for working grants to such students.

There are many other specific suggestions in the report.

Usually, such reports create a brief flurry, then are filed away to gather dust for a few years, after which another commission is created to do the job over again. Perhaps, however, because of its brevity and specificity, this one will have a better fate.

Trial Set For Women On Pot

Belinda Zell, 24, of Stinson Beach has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to two felony charges of seeling marijuana to a narcotics agent.

Trial was set Monday for the week of April 5.

Mrs. Zell was arrested on a warrant Sept. 16 after she allegedly sold a kilo of marijuana July 9 and three lids of marijuana July 27.

Higher Education Feels Pinch Of Reagan's Proposed Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed new state budget asks college and university professors to work harder at the same pay so California can meet its higher education demands.

Reagan also provided newly elected state Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles with more flexibility in running the Department of Education.

The Governor proposed 394 "unspecified positions" costing $9 million which Riles could use as he deems best in administering the agency that guides the educational destinies of California's 4.3 million elementary and high school students. "It is important that the state superintendent of public instruction be held accountable for his programs, not for the programs of the past," Reagan said.

In higher education, the Republican Governor closed the purse strings on the University of California and gave a modest increase to the state colleges.

The university requested $375.1 million in state funds for operation of its nine campuses expected to enroll 110,586 students next fall, an increase of 4 per cent above the current enrollment.

Reagan pared the request down to $337 million, just about the same amount budgeted for this year.

The 19-campus state college system asked $369 million to enroll an expected 221,020 students next fall, a 9 per cent enrollment increase.

The governor authorized the colleges $316 million, a $6 million increase over their present operating budget.

And in his budget message, Reagan told faculty members that for the second straight year they could not expect a pay hike, but would be expected to reach more in the classroom.

The governor noted that it has been "considered customary" that college faculty members teach 12 classroom hours a week and university professors nine per week. He said many have fallen below this set standard.

The State Department of Finance said the average college instructor spends 10 hours a week in the classroom and the typical university faculty member about seven.

"The budget will require an increased teaching load on the part of the faculty in both segments, but it still will not bring the average teaching load above those standards which have been considered the norm," he said.

At the university, Reagan said, 100 faculty positions will be eliminated "through normal attrition," meaning those who leave will not be replaced.

In capital outlay for higher education, the state colleges will be allocated $49.3 million to finance residence halls, college unions, parking lots and health centers.

The proposed capital construction program for the university totals $44.4 million, including $23.9 million from student tuition.

Reagan proposed closing the Frederick Burke School at San Francisco State College at a savings of $387,104. The school instructs teachers in advanced methods of their profession.

Other reductions include $823,000 to eliminate the college's out of state recruitment program, $500,000 from a special social workers master of arts program and $294,000 for special leaves and research.

The Governor also proposed to keep the state's support of local school districts at its current level of $1.6 billion, including an $88 million boost voted by the legislature last year.

State support for the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges was cut by $1 million to $4.4 million. The junior colleges are financed locally.

The No-Bail Program Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A no-bail program should be continued in San Francisco despite the withdrawal of Economic Opportunities Council financial support, the city's Crime Commission declared on Monday.

If the "Own Recognizance" program is allowed to die, it will cost the city both financially and socially, chairman William Orrock Jr. and committee executive Irving Reichert Jr. told a news conference.

Alternatives would be constructing a bigger bail or permitting judges to free defendants without the background investigation furnished by the O. R. Program.

Both said the program saves the city from $330,000 to $665,000 a year and keeps 400 persons a day out of jail.

Superior Court Will Handle 'Los Siete' Case

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Municipal Court robbery charges that had been superseded by a grand jury indictment was dismissed Monday for six Latin American youths.

All six were charged with robbery on a San Mateo County beach following the slaying on a San Francisco street of a policeman during a stolen property investigation.

A jury previously had acquitted the six of a homicide charge in the officer's death.

While the six were in Municipal Court, some 200 demonstrators gathered outside, some waving red flags.

The six are to be arraigned next Tuesday.

Citations For Their Service

Citations for outstanding community service have been awarded Mrs. Marion Pec of San Rafael and the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce by the California Parks and Recreation Society.

Mrs. Pec of 105 El Cerrito Avenue was cited for her 12 years of volunteer work on the annual Novice Swim Meet offered each summer for Marin youth.

The award went to the San Rafael Jaycees for their 13 years support of recreation programs and events for Marin youth. Last year, the Jaycees participated in the city's Easter egg hunt, the junior olympics, the novice swim meet and the Christmas basketball tournament.

The petition filed by Gompertz for dissolution of the marriage cited irreconcilable differences.

Mrs. Gompertz was awarded custody of three children.

Deadline On Leaky Sewers

Twelve Alto residents have 30 days to repair leaky sewer laterals or face action by the Alto Sanitary District board, directors have decided.

Director Carl O. Heynen Jr. said directors were told Monday that 12 out of 48 property owners have not responded to the district's request to repair laterals on their land.

If they do not comply by the board's March 1 meeting, he said, the district will commence legal action. The leaks were detected several months ago by smoke testing, Heynen said.

Survey Shows Physical Work A Deterrent To Heart Attacks

Studies have shown that physical work protects the person against heart disease. One of the latest reports involved a 16-year follow-up study of longshoremen in San Francisco. The active group (68 per cent of the total) are engaged in heavy physical labor, even at 64. Their main job is bundling cargo. These men have an energy expenditure (on the average) of 1,000 calories more each work day than the remaining 32 per cent, who are warehousemen and clerks.

THE DEATH RATE from coronary heart disease in the more sedentary group is one-third greater than among the cargo bundlers. When age is taken into consideration, the rate is greater than this. Mortalities are seven times greater among the 35- to 44-year-old warehousemen and clerks than men of the same age who do heavy work. On the other hand, the death rates in men over 65 were similar in each group.

In both groups, heavy cigaret smoking, high blood perssure and overweight increased the risk of dying from a heart attack. Apparently physical labor has a protective effect, because the rate was lower in cargo handlers despite these bad habits.

DEATH RATES from stroke were the same in both groups. High blood pressure was the main risk factor, as men with elevated readings were more likely to develop a cerebral accident, regardless of their physical activity.

Muscular activity has a beneficial effect upon the heart. The organ is strengthened because active muscles need more oxygen which the heart must deliver. Other changes in metabolism also take place. On the other hand, there are hazards and risks to vigorous exercise if the coronary arteries are too narrowed to function properly. Exercise is discouraged for at least two months after a heart attack. Thereafter, the individual walks farther every day and is encouraged to walk up grades, provided there is no undue fatigue, shortness of breath, chest pain or dizziness.

WHITE-EDGED MOUTH

H.A. writes: What is the significance of a narrow, white raised edge around the mouth?

REPLY

A sign of a milk drinker. Children with scarlet fever may have an area of pallor around the lips, which is in sharp contrast to the scarlet rash of the face.

CHALAZIA

W.C. writes: What is the treatment of a chalazion on the eyelid margin?

REPLY

To permit drainage, the obstructed oil gland usually has to be opened with a special surgical knife. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on sties and chalazia.

TREATING ECHO INFECTION

V.F. writes: How is an echo infection treated?

REPLY

Like any other respiratory infection — rest, ample fluids, aspirin, an antihistamine and a decongestant.

CLIMATE AND BLOOD

E.W. writes: If a northerner moves to a southern state will his blood thin out?

REPLY

No. This myth was exploded years ago.

Reed Board Avoids Wright Recall Issue

The campaign to recall Gordon C. Wright, chairman of the Reed School District Board of Trustees, was not mentioned publicly at last night's trustee meeting.

But Belvedere's Mayor Edwin J. Drechsel, a pioneer member of the Reed Board, cornered the district's five trustees before the meeting began, to try to bring peace.

Wright said Drechsel tried to bring Ann B. Goff, leader of the recall campaign, into the huddle, but the board members refused.

Wright said later that nothing had come of Drechsel's plea, and admitted the gathering in a corner of the meeting room should not have been held. "It was embarassing," he told a newsman," but Mr. Drechsel was so sincere in wanting to end it all."

During their regular meeting, the trustees spent an hour discussing proposed new district policies with spokesmen for the Reed District Teachers' Association. They tentatively agreed on the wording of a section of tenure, but not on a section on probationary status for certificated employees.

The Reed School District Board also:

PRINCIPALS Voted raises, retroactive to July 1, 1970, for the district's principals. Trustee Leo Souza abstained as Robert Gowan was voted an annual increase of $1,500, and John C. Fitch, Edward Mosconi, B. J. Dennis, Irwin Karp each received a $750 annual raise.

SOCIAL STUDIES — Voted $1,500 for a weekend workshop for social studies teachers to update the district humanities curriculum for sixth through eighth grades.

EVAULATION — Approved a $450 outlay for 10 district teachers to take part in a Sonoma State College course on teacher evaluation.

ECOLOGY — Watched a 10-minute slide show and lecture by teacher Anne Miller on students' outings in the district's ecological preserve near Reed School.

UNIFICATION — Debated briefly, but took no action on 1971 proposals of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. Souza attempted to move that the district go on record as opposing anything less than three unified districts in what is now the Tamalpais High School District. His motion died without a second.

Foundation Delays Scholarship Drive

Directors of the College of Marin Foundation have decided to delay its fund raising drive for student scholarships and loans until October.

According to Philip Merriman, foundation president, the fund drive usually held during the spring was delayed because of its possible conflict with the college's bond election in April.

BART Link To Marin Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Bay Area Rapid Transit District should be ready to build a mass transit link to Marin County, one of its directors declared on Monday.

The Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District is considering a commuter system linking San Francisco and Marin and director William C. Blake declared at a committee meeting "We should step right up ... and say, 'OK, we'll build it.'"

Among the plans being considered by the bridge district is one linking a rail system with BART via a bridge across San Francisco Bay to Richmond.

BART is constructing a rail system connecting Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties.

The bridge district is to report to the Legislature in April on its recommendation for a system north of San Francisco.

JIM GILMARTIN

LeRoy French No. 1 Underwater Photog

Gosh, Marin County is producing all kinds of sports celebrities. Like Suyderhoud in water skiing, Sharon Walsh in tennis, Juli McKinstry in figure skating, Johnny Boccabella in baseball, etc. and etc.

Now, along comes LeRoy French of San Rafael who this weekend in Santa Monica will receive an award as "Underwater Photographer of the Year" for his work in 1970.

The seventh American to be so honored, French joins the diver-photographer liked of Jacques and Phillipe Cousteau, Hans Hass, Flip Schulke, Luis Marden, Dr. Dimitri Rebikoff, Lamar Boren, Ben Cropp, Stanton Watermank Ludwig Sillner and Roberto Merlo to receive this award.

Arthur Godfrey of television-radio fame, an outspoken conservationist, will present the award to French at the 14th annual Underwater Film Festival and Explorers Ecological Exposition Feb. 5-7 at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

According to Bennett J. Mintz, public relations director for the film festival, "French was cited for his continuing efforts, but more important, for his anti-pollution picture that will be shown Friday."

Known here for several years as one of the best diver-photographers, French will gain this international award for his aqua-flick that, according to Mintz, "looks at sea pollution through the eyes of a child who will never see this world as it was intended. In the documentary, French looks at a tanker sunk during World War II that is still leaking oil and destroying surrounding animal and plant life."

The San Rafael man has concentrated most of his underwater photographic efforts in the Bahamas, Virgin Islands and around Grand Cayman Island, about 150 miles southeast of Cuba.

A smart businessman who runs a successful dive shop, French two years ago founded Sojourns, Ltd. for those who wanted to dive and photograph in far away places — the last remaining unpolluted areas of man.

The ideas for Sojourns struck French when he was on Grand Cayman Island. He had been photographing the underwater wonders of the untouched area and decided to gather some of his dive shop customers for trips to Grand Cayman, Mexico, the Philippines and other exotic areas.

His sales pitch was simple: Would you rather spend $100 each on six or eight diving weekends during the year and see nothing, or blow $800 in one shot for 17 days of the greatest diving in the world?

His concept is more than just one of recreation. It's one of preservation, too.

Just before leaving for his award-winning trip to Santa Monica today, he said: "Some years ago diving resorts were established in the Bahamas that were supposed to answer all the needs. But after they put up hotels and a cement plant and a hydro-electric outlet, they polluted the water so badly that nobody would go there to dive.

"We've established what we like to think of as small 'Garden of Edens' where the undersea world will be preserved. We strongly discourage spearfishing or the taking of any plant or animal life; we encourage our Sojourners to photograph underwater and forever preserve th e beauty."

Redwood Clips Tam, 48-44 To Take Commanding Lead

By DAVID EINSTEIN

All the ingredients for high drama were jammed inside College of Marin's spacious gym yesterday afternoon, as the Tamalpais High School Indians and the Redwood High Giants met to complete their bomb scare-abbreviated basketball game.

The finished product, however, wasn't dramatic as the Giants of Larkspur, exuding confidence, outmuscled and outshot the Indians of Mill Valley to win, 48-44.

A near capacity crowd of 1,400, more than twice as large as saw the first two and a half quarters of the game last Tuesday night, came to Kentfield expecting to witness a small war. The contest was a battle for first place in the Marin County Athletic League, and had been ferociously fought until a telephoned bomb threat interrupted the game at the Tam gym with 4:06 left in the third quarter and Redwood leading, 30-27.

Tam's John Earl Huff, who was on the free throw line shooting one when action was postponed, missed the shot as the game was resumed, and that set the tone. The Giants, who remain undefeated in MCAL play with seven wins, opened up a six-point lead at the end of the third quarter, widened it to 10 midway through the final period and relaxed in the final minutes.

The overriding factor that enabled the Giants to dominate both ends of the court was their powerful rebounding; they pulled down four rebounds under their own basket, while shutting off completely at the defensive end. Most of the work was done by center Steve McGee, but he got timely help from Scott Trobbe, Tim Hennessey and Rich Hagler.

Tam's main hope was that their center Will Garner, the league's leading scorer, couldn't possibly be as off target as he was last Tuesday.

Seaver Sets A Goal For 20-Game Year

By FRED DOWN
By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, who a year ago thought a 30-victory season was a reasonable goal, is aiming at a much more modest achievement in 1971: He wants to be a 20-game winner again.

The 26-year old right-hander, who had a 25-7 record in 1969 and an 18-12 mark in 1970, revealed that he has set a goal for himself for the first time in his career Tuesday when he signed a 1971 contract estimated at $91,000. He is believed to have been paid $80,000 in 1970.

"I never really have set goals for myself before, but I hope to win at least 20 games in 1971 and help the club win our division," said Seaver at the signing ceremony. "What the Mets are paying, they expect me to win 20 games. I know I'm capable of much better than last year."

Seaver, the National League's Cy Young Award winner as pitcher of the year in 1969, seemed on his way to another 23-25-victory season in 1970 when he had a 16-5 record in mid-August. He suddenly slumped, however, and had a 2-7 record for the remainder of the season.

"It was a case of physical tiredness leading to mental exhaustion," said Seaver Tuesday. "One thing led to another and it just snowballed."

Despite his late-season slump, Seaver led the National League with a 2.81 earned run average and struck out 283 batters in 291 innings.

Jerry Koosman, who slumped to 12 victories in 1970 after winning 19 games in 1968 and 17 in 1969, also signed with the Mets Tuesday. The big lefthander's salary is estimated at $57,000.

On other fronts:

Dave Cash, who hit .314 last season and is likely to take over as the regular second baseman this year, signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates along with infielders Jackie Hernandez and Frank Taveras. Hernandez was obtained in a winter trade with the Kansas City Royals while Taveras played last season with Gastonia in the Western Carolinas League.

The Pirates also announced the signing of pitchers Nelson Briles, Ed Acosta and Larry Killingsworth. Briles, 6-7 with a 6.22 ERA last season, was acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ken Harrelson, the mod-man of the Cleveland Indians, said in Miami, Fla., that he has signed with the club but doesn't know what his salary is. He said he signed his name to a blank contract and is confident the Indians will fill in a living wage.

Pitcher Jim Kaat has signed his contract with Minnesota but Twins' owner Calvin Griffth revealed that Jim Perry, the American League's Cy Young Award winner last year, is acting coy.

Griffith said that Perry

STRENGTH AND FINESSE — Redwood High School reserve guard Rich Hagler (25), pulled down an offensive rebound and immediately went up over Tamalpais' Clifford Hall to score early in the fourth quarter yesterday at College of Marin. Hagler's bucket gave the Giants an eight point lead, and they went on to win by four.

Close, But Sonoma State Loses 16th Straight Game

The Sonoma State College Cossacks this season have been one of the West Coast's two most consistent basketball teams. The other, Southern California, hasn't lost, and is top ranked in the nation. The Cossacks haven't won, and are mired in the cellar of the Far West Conference.

Last night at Humboldt State, the Rohnert Park team absorbed its 16th setback of the season, but came closer to winning than usual. They trailed by only four points with less than two minutes left to play, but couldn't stand the prosperity and finally lost, 81-72.

Bob Williams proved unstoppable for the Lumberjacks as he poured in 30 points, and helped his team establish a 14-point lead over Sonoma midway through the second half. The Cossacks rallied admirably behind Jeff Barker to close the gap finally to four, but Humboldt employed a stall in the final minute, forcing Sonoma to foul.

Barker led the Cossacks with 16 points, followed by Mark Buckley with 12, and Mel Peterson with 11. Larry Austin, usually their top scorer, was held to just nine points, all in the first half.

Lanier, Gallagher In Fold

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants now have 15 men under contract, including first-line infielders Hal Lanier and Al Gallagher.

Lanier, Gallagher and southpaw hurlers John Cumberland and Mike Davison inked 1971 pacts Tuesday with the Giants.

Lanier's signing was the biggest news because he had let loose a winter blast at the club in which he said he wanted to be traded.

The Giants went into the winter meetings in Los Angeles with the announcement that they were looking for a shortstop, hardly a show of confidence in Lanier and Tito Fuentes who fought for the job last season.

Gallagher, the Giants' only native San Franciscan, hit .266 as a rookie and delivered six pinch hits, including a game-winning homer.

Cumberland, acquired from the Yankees in a trade, was sent down to Phoenix but returned long enough to compile a 2-0 record with one earned run surrendered in 11 innings. He might be a starter this time around.

Davison was 3-5 in 30 games.

The 15 men signed include stars Willie McCovey and Gaylord Perry, working on the second year of hefty two-year pacts.

Mullins Shows Finishing Finesse To Beat Hawks

Mullins was the hero as San Francisco battled from nine points behind in the fourth quarter to nip Maravich and the Atlanta Hawks 101-99 for the Warriors' fourth straight victory before 5,459 ecstatic fans. It also marked the third time in four games this season that the Gold Shirts have prevailed over the Southerners.

Maravich outscored Mullins 27-26 but the Warriors guard drove the middle and scored the go-ahead basket to put the Warriors on top 100-99 with 18 seconds remaining.

Seconds later, Warrior guard Nick Jones flicked the ball away from Walt Hazzard and Jerry Lucas gained possession. Mullins was then fouled by Hazzard and made one of the two free throws to end the scoring with five seconds left and would up tallying 11 of San Francisco's 30 points in the final period.

Walt Bellamy collected 17 rebounds for Atlanta, but the Warriors countered that with a one-two punch of Lucas, who grabbed 16 and Nate Thurmond who plucked 15.

San Francisco produced a balanced attack which also found Joe Ellis and Thurmond each scoring 16 points and Lucas adding 15. Hazzard hit for 23 points, including 14 in the first quarter which helped the Hawks to a 57-55 halftime lead. Atlanta built its cushion to 10 points in the third period before Mullins led the fourth-quarter charge.

The win gave the Warriors a 31-26 record and a stronger hold on second place in the NBA West, 2 1-2 games behind leader Los Angeles.

San Francisco plays at Phoenix on Thursday night and at Portland Friday before returning to the Oakland Coliseum-Arena Saturday for a go-round with Lew Alcindor and the Milwaukee Bucks. Then they have to play Los Angeles Sunday for their fourth game in as many days.

Washington Defense Home For The Aged

One of the troubles with the United States of American is, it has never known what to do with its aged. It pushes them down to St. Petersburg or Long Beach or Leisure World and hands them a Panama hat or a shuffleboard stick and lets them doze in the sun.

We have had various plans for them over the years — the Townsend plan, the Sinclair plan, and the George McLain movement.

BUT NOW, George Allen has opened up a whole new career for senior citizens. No longer need they weave baskets or sort castoff clothing or even baby-sit the grandchildren. There are openings for retired people in the Washington Redskins' defensive backfield. George has just traded for the entire linebacking corps of the Los Angeles Rams, three players whose ages this season will be 35 (Jack Pardee), 33 (Maxie Baughan) and 32 (Myron Pottios). All but Pottios had retired to the carpet slippers and hot-water bottle at least once.

THE WASHINGTON backfield is now officially Sun City East. Instead of their position numbers, the players will wear their social security numbers. Lawrence Welk will do the halftime shows and, in the locker rooms, the pinups of Raquel Welch will be replaced by Mae West and Lillian Russell. On the team bus, the squad will sing a medley of Civil War songs.

George Allen, as a coach, has never ceased to be astonished that you could get real live football players for pieces of paper. He knows that other staffs are dazzled by the prospect of draft choices the way savages used to be for beads. George scatters draft choices like confetti.

HIS PHILOSOPHY is simple: It takes five or more years to make a "pro," i.e., a man who will make only one or no mistakes a game. George would just as soon let some other franchise endure that first four years of mistakes which blood a player.

History is on his side. A scanning of the Rams' first draft choices in recent years dredges up such all-timers as Billy Cannon, Terry Baker, Rufus Guthrie, Bill Munson. Allen attaches so little weight to draftees, he dealt off Jim Seymour, a first draft selection, for a taxi-squad lineman last year.

THE RAMS' trading record is considerably better than their drafting record. They got several crack years out of supposedly over-the-hill linemen like Roosevelt Grier, Roger Brown, and Maxie Baughan. Allen considered that luring Pardee, Baughan, and Eddie Meador out of retirement was considerably more of a feat than dipping into the NFL lottery and coming up with nothing.

When you consider the Rams came up with VMI quarterbacks, Vanderbilt halfbacks, and scatterarm Heisman Trophy winners — none of whom could make the team — in the days when only a dozen teams were carving up the existing talent, Allen wonders why you should have faith in an expansion era when your "first round draft choice" might be the 26th player chosen.

THE RAMS now have a lot of draft choices but nolinebackers. The Washington Redskins have a generation gap. They should change the name to the Washington Skinheads. The country might be giving the kids the vote, but George is bucking the trend. He doesn't trust anyone under 30 — not backing up his line anyway. If he had the rights to Jim Plunkett, he'd probably deal them for George Blanda — or George Plimpton.

Marin In Campbell Tonight

The College of Marin Tars, who less than a month ago had the best record of any junior college basketball team in the state and were fourth ranked, tonight will be fighting to stay alive in the Camino Norte Conference when they meet the West Valley J. C. Vikings in Campbell.

Having lost two of their last three games, the Tars of Kentfield now stand tied with West Valley in third place, behind the two teams that beat them, undefeated De Anza and once defeated Contra Costa. A loss tonight, in the final game of the first of two round robins, would jeopardize their survival as far as post season playoffs are concerned.

Overall, Marin's record is still magnificent, 19-3; that didn't seem to impress De Anza last Saturday night. The Cupertino Cagers rattled the Tars into missing 11 layups, and won, 62-60.

The main matchup tonight will be between Marin center Roosevelt Green and West Valley's Joe Gallagher. The latter, who gives up two inches to Green, is, according to Marin coach John Panagakis, the best 6-foot-4 pivot man in Northern California.

If the Tars can get by West Valley, they will be in what Panagakis considers good shape going into the second half of the season. This for two reasons. They'll have the home court advantage against De Anza, Contra Costa and West Valley, and they'll have the services of former Tamalpais High School star Floyd Jackson, who becomes eligible Friday night against Skyline.

BYU Signs Three Blacks For Football

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—Brigham Young University has signed three junior college transfers—all blacks—to play spring football.

The trio will join two other black football players who played varsity and freshman ball at the Mormon-owned school last fall.

BYU has been the target of demonstrators during various sporting events over the past two years because of alleged racial discrimination on the part of the Church of Latter-day Saints which runs the school. As a result, the school had stepped up its recruitment of black athletes.

The school already had two blacks in its football program last fall. Ron Knight, a transfer from North Eastern Oklahoma A&M, played on the varsity, and Tony Williams, Oakland, Calif., played freshman ball.

Wrong there. He made the first shot he tried, but thereafter was a picture of frustration, hitting only one more shot in seven attempts.

But the pressure was on the 6-foot-3 junior, admittedly the Indians' only threat against Redwood's stifling defense, and he did manage to lead all scorers in the Kentfield portion of the game with seven points.

Redwood got the same balanced scoring yesterday that has marked its play all year. Trobbe, who took game honors with 16 points, and McGee collected five each, with three each going to Hennessey and Hagler, and two to Mike Connor.

Clifford Hall, who had six points yesterday including a last ditch layup that accounted for the final margin, finished the game with 11 points to lead Tam. Garner and John Earl Huff had 10 each. The Indians are now 5-2 in league play.

Terra Linda Lad Provides Fine Marin Sports Story

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin County Athletic League water polo, like soccer, was an orphaned sport this year, without a season to call its own.

In the case of soccer, it was the football teams that monopolized the use of fields during the first months of the school year, and chased the minor sport into November. Water polo suffered a less glorious fate at the hands of girls' swimming, which traditionally has used the pools in the fall.

So water polo limped along, without sufficient pre-season competition, because other leagues in other areas play normal seasons, collateral with football. And when they did find suitable games, Marin teams invariably got their socks beat off because they, at the beginning of their season, were up against teams at the tail end of theirs.

But for at least one person, all this was a blessing. Pat Ellington of Terra Linda never would have played during an autumn season. He spent the entire month of October flat on his back with infectious hepatitis.

That the senior forward came back to help his team record a perfect league season, and that in the process he finished second in scoring for the second straight year, is one of the nicer stories of the school year.

"He's gotta be one of the two or three best players in the league," Terra Linda coach Chuck Metz says of Ellington. Other coaches obviously agree, because they named him to the all-league first team for the second straight year.

A prospectus, written by Metz the day before Ellington was released from Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, describes the blond star as having "tremendous hands and size.

COMEBACK — Pat Ellington of Terra Linda High School came out of hospital in time to help his water polo team to championship.

Should be an outstanding player, but at the present time is hospitalized, and is a doubtful participant. If he doesn't get back it will be a big loss. We all hope 'Duke' gets well soon."

Contrary to the prognosis of doctors, who said it would be from six months to a year before he could play again, Ellington was back in the water less than two months after being struck down. Admittedly, he was not in any kind of shape. "I'd lost a lot of the skills —swimming strength and ball handling."

His first game was the last preseason contest for the Trojans; it meant that, besides playing in a decidedly weakened condition, he had to go into league competition without any preseason training.

For the first seven league games, up until the Christmas break, Ellington was definitely not his normal self, but he still managed to hold down the third spot in scoring at the season's halfway point.

The holiday rest was obviously the turning point, because in the last five games of the season, he was, according to Metz, "As strong as he has ever been, and better than he was last year."

He was so good, in fact, that he missed being named unanimously to the all-league team by a single vote. Only one player, Doug Brockbank of Redwood, got the unanimous nod, and he, also, led the league in scoring with 79 goals. Ellington had 67.

Three other Trojans were chosen to the first all-league team. Forwards Steve Batory and Thom Gutherie both made it, as did deep goalie Bertil Johanson. Such talent is almost always the product of a well-nourished system, and Terra Linda is no exception.

Metz, who has been the coach since the team was started three years ago, began then with a team composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores. Today those sophomores, including Ellington, Batory and Gutherie, are seniors, and the club is enjoying the harvest of its labor. Their superiority over the rest of the league can be evidenced by the fact that they scored 193 goals, to just 73 for their opponents. Both were the best figures in the league.

"My team probably has as much or more talent than any team I've seen in the area," said Metz, with the qualification that he doesn't have a real superstar like some East Bay teams. But his front line is undoubtedly one of the finest around.

Now the Marin coaches are exploring the possibility of doing what soccer has already accomplished — changing to a fall sport. The need is not as urgent as for soccer, which was forced to play under horrible field conditions and winter rains. But the need is there, if only to insure suitable preseason competition.

Griffith retorted, "When I send a man a contract for $60,000, I know who I'm sending it to."

Pitcher Jim McGlothlin and farmhands Stan Swanson and Mickey Pless signed with the Cincinnati Reds. McGlothlin, hampered by leg and knee injuries, finished at 14-10 after an 11-4 start... Chris Cannizzaro, who batted .279 last season, and pitcher Gerald Nyman agreed to terms with the San Diego Padres. Nyman was 9-13 with a 4.09 ERA at Salt Lake City last season ... The Kansas City Royals acquired outfielder-first baseman Carl Taylor from the Milwaukee Brewers for catcher Ellie Rodriguez.

Reggie Jackson Rejects Offer

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —Outfield Reggie Jackson reportedly has rejected the Oakland A's first contract offer.

Jackson slumped to 23 homers and 66 rbi's in 1970 after a great 1969 campaign that saw him belt 47 roundtrippers. He fanned 135 times in 426 at bats last year.

He has been tearing up the winter league here and has hit 20 homers already—highest the league has seen in more than 20 years.

Revenge Victory For Cotate Five

The Rancho Cotate High School Cougars won a revenge victory over the El Molino High Lions yesterday, 72-46 in a North Bay II League basketball game in Forestville.

The Cougars of Rohnert Park, getting a well balanced scoring output from their starters, were never challenged as they evened their league record at 4-4. The win was an unusually easy one over a team that early in the year defeated them.

Steve and Mike Wlodarzcyk scored 14 and 13 points respectively to lead the assault, and Ron Seiler hit 12. Top man for El Molino was Wayne Catron with 16.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Jim Mataya, a 21-year-old pro from Lansing, Mich., ran 125 balls Monday night in posting his second straight pool victory in the $40,000 World 3-in-1 Pocket Billiards Championships.

BOWLING TIPS

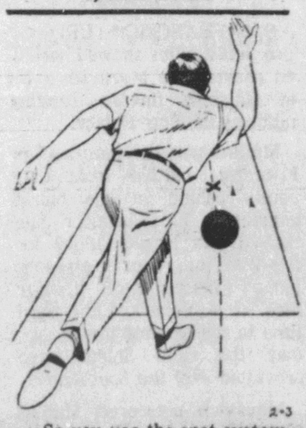
By DON CARTER



2-3

So you use the spot system, but do you really watch the spot as you deliver the ball? Many bowlers have a spot in mind, but as the ball nears it they start watching the ball instead. Afterward, they cannot tell you whether the ball went over the spot, or to the right or left of it. Making corrections, therefore, is very difficult. Concentrate on watching the spot.

Hicke Looking For Face Mask

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —The California Seals will be looking for a victory tonight against the Pittsburgh Penguins while winger Bill Hicke will be looking for a face mask in California.

Hicke underwent an operation Tuesday morning at Peralta Hospital and said that whether he would play Friday against Montreal is undecided. Much depends if he can find the right type of mask to cover his injured nose.

"The doctor said if I was a normal patient he wouldn't let me do anything for a month," Hicke said. "But he's a hockey fan and understands the situation so I'll be out there if I can locate a cage type, football type, mask."

Hicke broke his nose Jan. 22 and rebroke it two games later.

Cutter Labs Has Growth Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am putting my wife and I through college on a part-time job and am able to purchase shares of Cutter Labs Class A common stock on a profit-sharing plan through my job. My main concern is growth, with income being only a secondary consideration. Should I hold my Cutter shares for growth or sell to buy a better growth issue? — D.R.

A. Although Cutter's earnings record has been somewhat erratic, the basic growth of the firm's business has been impressive. Sales have increased each year of the past ten. In fact, they have climbed over 100 per cent-plus since 1961.

The primary reason for the company's rather sluggish recent profit performance is the major building program which Cutter initiated in 1967. While this has been a restrictive element, the fruits of this effort have begun to show up in most results with benefits expected to be substantial in years ahead.

For the first nine months of 1970, Cutter reported a 12 per cent advance in net income to $2 million on an 18 per cent increase in sales to the $52.09 million level. Margins were curtailed somewhat by higher labor costs and increased expenses for raw materials. However, pretax earnings rose 6 per cent to $3.8 million. Cutter is believed to be the foremost producer of plasma fractions, such as Plasmanate for shock, Konyne for hemophilia and immune globulins for measles and various other diseases, areas expected to enjoy continued strong demand.

In prosthetics, Cutter has been working for a number of years with a leading Japanese doctor in the development of a new, low profile heart valve which is being marketed at present — another field with sizeable potential. Moreover, the firm is also working with leading orthopedic surgeons on various kinds of artificial joints.

Cutter's involvement in these untapped markets plus the bullish outlook for health care products augur well for the company's future prospects.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

If Tax Preference Items Exceed $30,000, Study The New Rules

Tax Preferences have an additional 10 per cent tax. However, this does not apply to you unless you have a total of tax preference income in excess of your $30,000 exemption and the income tax for the year.

What is tax preference income? It is:

1. Excess Investment Interest
2. Capital Gains
3. Accelerated Depreciation on Real Property
4. Accelerated Depreciation on Personal Property subject to a net lease
5. Bargain element in stock options
6. Depletion
7. Excess amortization of pollution control facilities and railroad rolling stock
8. Excess bad debt deductions of financial institutions

In addition, there are special rules for:

1. Estates and Trusts and Common Trust Fund Participants
2. Tax-Option Corporations
3. Regulated Investment Companies and Real Estate Investment Trusts.

The 10 per cent minimum tax on tax preference items applies for 1970 and thereafter (except excess investment interest only to 1972). There are special rules for fiscal year taxpayers. In computing the 10 per cent tax, the total amount of your tax preference items is reduced by your $30,000 exemption. In the case of married persons filing separate returns, the exemption is $15,000 each.

Your tax preference income is further reduced by the amount of income tax that you pay for the year with certain adjustments.

Chances are that only the first six of the above items would apply to the individual taxpayer.

1. Excess investment interest. The interest you pay for your investments in excess of the income, less the other expenses of the investment.
2. Capital Gains. The untaxed half of your long-term capital gain income is a preference income item.
3. Accelerated depreciation on real property. The excess of accelerated depreciation on buildings and other depreciable real property over straight line is a tax preference item.
4. Personal property subject to a net lease. The excess of accelerated depreciation over straight line is a tax preference item.
5. Bargain element in stock options. The difference between the stock option price and the fair market value at the time of purchase is, in some cases, a tax preference item.
6. Percentage depletion. The allowable depletion less your adjusted basis of the property at the end of the prior year is preference income.

If it is possible that you will have any of these tax preference items and the total would amount to more than $30,000, be sure to study these new rules.

A good source of information is the book "Your Federal Income Tax 1971 Edition for Individuals" for sale by IRS or by the government printing office for 75 cents. It's a bargain in tax advise and the cost is deductible.

Carlson Asks Air Fare Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The president of the nation's largest airline said a fare hike for the financially ailing air carriers in in the national interest.

Edward E. Carlson, who took over United Air Lines two months ago, told a Senate Aviation Subcommittee the airlines lost more than $100 million in 1970, and "1971 could be another troublesome year."

United itself lost $40 million in 1970, and its earnings dropped to the point where it could be disqualified by law from borrowing money in 1972 from insurance companies, a major source of funds for the airlines, Carlson claimed.

Stocks Fall Slightly On Heavy Sales

NEW YORK (UPI) --Stocks were slightly lower in heavy turnover near noon Wednesday.

The setback was largely the result of profit taking, although investors appeared a little concerned over reports of a major allied offensive near the Laotian border.

Declines were leading advances by about 50 issues, while the Dow Jones industrial average was off about a point.

Washington sources said earlier this week that 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops were involved in a military operation in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam. The Nixon administration said no U. S. ground forces would enter Laos, but did not rule out air support.

One analyst said Laos could become a disquieting market factor, but noted that not enough is known yet for investors to turn jumpy.

Prices were firm in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Advances were leading declines by around 100 issues.

On the big board, trading in American Motors was halted by an influx of trading orders following the announcement of a profitable first quarter in the period ended Dec. 31 against a loss a year ago.

Prior to the trading halt American Motors' stock was up 7-8 after being down earlier. Other automotive stocks surrendered factions.

Steel Production Up 2.5 Per Cent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel production rose by 2½ per cent last week to 2,662,000 tons from 2,596,000 tons the week before, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported.

Production in the week ended Jan. 30 was equal to 109.1 on the institute's new index (average weekly production 1967 equals 100, or 2,439,701 tons) compared with 106.4 the week before.

Production from the start of the year through Jan. 30 totaled 10,881,000 tons, compared with 10,908,000 tons at the same point in 1970.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 3, the 34th day of 1971.

The moon is in the first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn. Those born on this day are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this day in history:

In 1917 the United States broke off diplomatic relations with Germany after that nation announced unrestricted submarine warfare.

In 1924 Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington. He was the 28th president.

In 1966 the Russians put an unmanned satellite on the moon with a soft landing.

A thought for today: British writer Samuel Butler said, "I do not mind lying, but hate inaccuracy.

Funds Collected For City Hall

The initial campaign for contributions toward redecoration of Novato City Hall netted $440 from individuals, organizations and churches, according to Be Carpenter, project chairman.

The names of contributors will be on a scroll at the entrance to the city hall.

More contributions are needed to complete the project, Mrs. Carpenter said. Persons who contribute in the coming year will be named on a second scroll to be placed at city hall next January, she said.

Dummy's King Of Spades Proves The Key To Victory

"You get what you pay for, my boy," my Uncle Throckmorton used to tell me after too many glasses of good Sussex ale. "Be ready to pay for your pleasure, and run as fast as you can when somebody offers you something for nothing." I always listened to the old boy, because he always had a bridge hand to prove his point.

FREE FINESSE?

"I led the six of spades from the West hand," my uncle related, "and South thought for a moment or two. Then he muttered something about a free finesse and played dummy's jack of spades.

"East covered with the queen of spades, and South won with the ace, muttering something about costing him nothing. That man came to a bad end, my boy. Went into the House of Lords and was never heard of again."

I filled up his glass and asked him what happened on the bridge hand.

Nothing to it, my boy. South led a diamond, and I took the ace. I returned the ten of spades, of course, just in case my partner had the unguarded nine. You see what would happen if I led a low spade?"

LOSS OF MOMENTUM

I saw. East would be allowed to win the trick with the nine of spades and would be unable to continue the suit. That loss of momentum would allow declarer to make his contract.

"I knocked out the king of spades," my uncle continued, "and got in with the ace of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. Free finesse, indeed. Harrumph!"

RIGHT AS USUAL

As usual, my Uncle Throckmorton was right. South should play the low spade from dummy at the first trick, winning with the ace. He leads a diamond, and West takes the diamond ace and leads another spade.

Only now can South afford the spade finesse. East wins with the queen of spades but cannot continue the spades. South regains the lead and knocks out the ace of clubs while dummy still has the king of spades to stop the dangerous suit.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠- Q 9
♥- J 10 8 6 4
♦- 8 4
♣- 10 6 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

In addition to the long heart suit you have strength in spades and something of value in clubs. You cannot be sure that two hearts would be a better contract that 1 no-trump.

80 Million Cans From Recycle Drive

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Reynolds Metals Company says it has collected 80 million empty cans since its nationwide aluminum can recycling program began a year ago.

The company collected 3.4 million cans in the San Francisco Bay area alone, a spokesman said, and paid $17,000 to people who brought the cans to recycling centers here.

Dominican School Opening Courses For Teachers

Twelve in-service courses for elementary and high school teachers, sponsored by the Dominican College Department of Education, will begin in Marin this week.

The classes are under the direction of Charles Lavaroni, assistant professor of education and director of elementary student teaching at Dominican. With the exception of a three-day seminar on food on March 26 and 27 and April 1, all courses will offer three units of college credit.

Subjects include handling the disturbing child in the classroom, classroom guitar, multi-ethnic studies and designing classroom environments for creative learning. The classes will be held at locations throughout the county.

Further information on the courses and the dates times and locations may be obtained from Lavaroni at the college.

Dinery Chain Wins Use Permit

Love's Restaurant Chain plans to open a new restaurant just south of McDonald's Restaurant on the east side of Highway 101 at Alto.

Kenco Development Co., the builder of Love's Restaurants, won a use permit Monday from Ralph D. Cairns, Marin County deputy zoning administrator.

Cairns said the use permit is subject to design review, a land division to separate the new restaurant site from a car wash planned by Clean Machines Incorporated, and approval of sewer hookup from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

The deputy zoning administrator also denied Robert Rhoads's request that a 5,000 square foot substandard lot be legalized at 125 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Larkspur.

District Seeks Bids On Auto

The auto still has 40,000 miles remaining on its 50,000-mile warranty.

Closing date for bids is Feb. 15 at the district office. The district has set a minimum of $2,100 for bids and has required a returnable 10 per cent deposit with the bids.

Probation Report Asked On Teen-Ager

The Case of Dennis Kevin Healey, 18, of 1802 Virginia Avenue, Novato, has been referred to the Marin County Probation Department for report Feb. 17 on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Healey and three juveniles, two boys and a girl, were in a car checked by police as it left the Pleasant Valley School grounds at 9:13 p.m.

Police said there was the odor of marijuana in the car and Healey was carrying what appeared to be marijuana in his pocket. The three other occupants were cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was being used.

Guilty Plea To Car Theft Count

Clarence Frank Spanos, 33, of Fairfax has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of car theft.

He had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge, as well as to charges of grand theft and embezzlement.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday dismissed the other two charges Monday at the request of the district attorney's office which said they were restatements of the car theft charge.

Sponos was arrested in August after a station wagon he rented in Mill Valley was found abandoned in Lake County and Spanos called the California Highway Patrol to claim the car.

Sentencing was set for March 22.

Show At Bank

Paintings, silk screened note papers and serigraphs by Mavro and Anne Coggins of Forest Knolls will be on display throughout February in the Wells Fargo Bank in Greenbrae.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

| Tread Wear Expectancy | Tread Wearout Allowance |
|---|---|
| 40,000 miles | Prorated on Miles Driven |
| 40 month | $10.00 |
| 39 month | 8.00 |
| 36 month | 6.00 |
| 33 month | 5.00 |
| 30 month | 4.00 |
| 24 month | 3.00 |
| 18 month | 2.00 |

Denial To Any Border Crossing Amid Rumors

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

One of the tightest security blackouts in memory remained in force today on the progress of a major offensive by 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops to drive the North Vietnamese out of the northwestern corner of South Vietnam.

The White House, the State Department, the Pentagon and the U.S. Command in Saigon all refused to life the curtain of secrecy, and the Laotian defense minister denied that the offensive had crossed the border intoLaos as Russian and Japanese reports claimed.

Reliable Washington sources said earlier this week that 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops were involved in the operation.

The Ho Chi Minh Trail leading from North Vietnam southwards through Laos into South Vietnam and Cambodia dips into South Vietnam near Khe Sanh, a onetime U.S. Marine base just south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) and 10 miles east of the Laotian border.

East-West Highway 9 which parallels the DMZ crosses South Vietnam at this point and extends into Laos where the Communist defenders of the Ho Chi Minh Trail are at their greatest strength. The Washington sources said the South Vietnamese presumably would be assigned to go across the border for a broader cleanup. The Nixon administration said no U.S. ground forces would enter Laos but did not rule out air support.

There was no confirmation of Japanese press reports that South Vietnamese troops actually had gone into Laos or of a charge by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia that South Vietnamese had gone into Laos and were being led by American officers.

The Viet Cong itself did not make these charges. It said "tens of thousands" of Americans and Vietnamese were massed in the Khe Sanh area just below the Demilitarized Zone for an invasion and that South Vietnamese and Thai "mercenary" patrols had entered Laos.

Indication Of Report On Operation's Scope

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration indicated today that details would be made public soon on the scope of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese operations said to involve 34,000 troops in an area around the border of southern Laos.

Amid growing criticism among Democratic members of Congress about lack of consultation on the operation, administration officials said privately that they expected a news blackout in effect since last weekend on the campaign would be lifted relatively soon.

However, President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, turned away as he has since Friday all questions about the reported plans for use of 25,000 South Vietnamese troops —possibly crossing the border into Laos —to break up a Communist concentration.

Other administration officials, while hinting at a break soon in the embargo, cautioned reporters against making assumptions on the type or scope of the joint operation.

Ziegler did say under the daily barrage of questioning by reporters at the White House that it should be "quite clear that our objective in Southeast Asia is not to widen the war but to reduce U.S. involvement through Vietnamization." Vietnamization is the name given by Nixon to his plan for gradually turning over combat in Vietnam to the South Vietnamese.

Ziegler said the Nixon plan for reducing U.S. forces in Vietnam was containuing. This calls for a cutback to 284,000 men —almost half what the total once was —by the middle of May. The administration has expressed hope of reaching that level even before then, and Nixon plans to announce the next phase of the winding-down program about mid-April.

New demands for curbs on Indochina moves by the administration were stirred in the Senate by the mysterious new operation. Extensive hearings are planned by the Foreign Relations Committee.

At a news conference this morning in the House Rayburn office building, an antiwar group called the National Peace Action Coalition condemned what it described as an American-sponsored invasion of Laos and said antiwar demonstrations would be held April 24 in San Francisco and Washington.

Next door to the White House, a delegation of 10 to 15 women went to the office of Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's communications director, to protest the news blackout.

He would not discuss the embargo specifically with them but told the women there had been more extensive news coverage of the Southeast Asia war than any in U.S. history.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman, said he knew nothing about the operation and did not know why a news blackout was imposed. But he said "I think it's another case that's being blown out of proportion by the media and Senator Fulbright."

LONGHAIRED FIREMEN CLOG SMOKE MASKS

Firefighting and long hair don't mix in San Rafael.

That's what the city fire commission was told last night as it asked Chief Vance Trivett to write a set of rules governing the appearance of hirsute firemen.

Trivett said the problem is that smoke masks won't fig snugly on the faces of some long-haired firemen.

The chief said the new rules will restrict hair to neck-length in the rear; outlaw sideburns beyond ear-lobe length and ban long, bushy moustaches.

Spaceship Feels Tug Of Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14's astronauts today inspected their lunar craft for the first time since blastoff and pronounced it "in really good shape" for America's third moon landing Friday.

The two and one-half hour inspection, which ground controllers said "went very well," ended two days of near-idleness for the crew.

"Apollo 14's progressing very nicely," said taciturn commander Alan B. Shepard as he and rookie space fliers Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell beamed a 42-minute television show to earth.

During the inspection, Apollo 14 passed the distance from earth where an explosion wrecked the Apollo 13 moon mission and forced its crew to return home without attempting a landing.

The two and one-half hour inspection, which ground controllers said "went very well," ended two days of near-idleness for the crew.

They were resting again when Apollo 14 sped into the noon's sphere of influence. It was their last sleep period before the spaceship goes into orbit around the moon early Thursday.

Both the command ship Kitty Hawk and lunar lander Antares were described by Mitchell as "immaculate." He said the crew found a washer "floating around a day ago" but had seen no other objects loose in the spacecraft.

Hot School Race Goes To Aitken

A 27-year-old Marin County Sheriff's deputy who favors more control in the classroom, captured a seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School District Board yesterday in a race to the wire against a Bolinas housewife.

Michael E. Aitken defeated Barbara G. Wilson, mother of three and a student at Dominican College, by 11 votes. Some 474 votes were cast in the election, a turnout of about 50 per cent of the 925 registered voters.

Aitken said today he will work "to bring people together to work for the betterment of the school" and promised to "do as much as I can for the school and the district."

For several years, the Bolinas - Stinson district has been a battleground between residents who favor unstructured classes and innovative programs and residents who lean toward more traditional educational methods.

Aitken admittted this conflict was evident in both the campaign and the election, but said his 234-223 vote win over Mrs. Wilson was not a victory for either the liberals or the conservatives. "It just shows that 11 more conservatives than liberals voted yesterday," he said. "It's too bad people can't stop fighting among themselves and start working together for the goals we all want."

At a candidate's night last week, the newly-elected trustee said he felt a school board member should have some control over what happens in the classroom and expressed displeasure at "the way some of the classes are run." He said in

County Cuts Preserves, Plans Interim Controls

By WAT TAKESHITA

The Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to cut the size of the county's agricultural preserve to the 78,200 acres already under preserve contract. (Other supervisor' stories, page 5)

By 3 to 1 vote after three hours of debate, the supervisors asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to draw up an ordinance that would cut the size of the preserve. Supervisor Arnold M. Baptiste voted "no," explaining that the 91,800 acres deleted from the preserve area would remain unprotected.

Supervisor Michael Wornum joined Chairman Louis H. Baar and John F. McInnis in a "yes" vote, only after assurance that Maloney would also draw up an interim ordinance to keep control over the 91,800 acres. Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. did not attend the afternoon session because of illness.

Supervisors will continue discussion of the agricultural preserves at 3 p.m. on Feb. 16.

Yesterday's arguments settled down to two opposing points of view:

1. The Land Conservation Advisory Board, headed by Olema rancher Boyd Stewart, recommended that the preserve area be shrunk to those ranches al-

Turn-About In Rights Controversy

The Marin County Human Rights Department, whose members resigned en masse last week, was back in partial operation today.

Secretary Anne Smith, and Ursula Gealey, grievance counselor, returned to their posts yesterday when the Marin County Board of Supervisors asked them to withdraw their resignations.

Their boss, executive director Donald C. Moody, has not yet returned Mrs. Gealey said he had accepted a new job with the Urban League in San Francisco but that there is a possibility he may return to the Marin post.

The program, formerly administered by the human rights department, was removed last month from the department. Mrs. Smith, who had been secretary for Mrs. Arron's program, left that job and returned to the human rights department as secretary, a job she held before she went to work for Mrs. Aaron.

Moody charged that Mrs. Aaron continued to harrass him and his staff, although they had moved to a room at the other end of the Civic Center Administration Building from Mrs. Aaron. Moody and James Quiett, chairman of the Human Rights Commission, demanded a grand jury investigation of the human rights commission department and Mrs. Aaron's police-community relations project.

Supervisors referred the complaints to the grand jury and also called for an impartial investigation by a five-man committee.

Bagley Seeking To Ease Welfare Pinch

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — Emergency legislation —to spare the state a painful choice between ponying up $150 million or losing $500 million in federal welfare funds — was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The issue is Washington's demand that state's welfare maximums be raised by April 1 to meet increases in the cost of living. The state maximums last were hiked in 1957.

Bagley's legislation took the form of two skeleton bills introduced to begin immediately the 30-day wait that is mandatory for all new legislation before it is taken up for action. The bills will remain blank — they were still awaiting even a number today — until it is decided how the problem they deal with should be handled.

The state-federal crunch has landed in the California Supreme Court, which will hear the matter here on March 5.

Bagley predicted the court will require the increase in maximums and California then would face either immediate loss of $500 million in federal matching funds or be forced by Washington to pay $150 million more a year in state welfare. This could double the state's deficit just for the current fiscal year.

Bagley, chairman of the Assembly Welfare Committee, explained that the additional $150 million would be required because cost control sections of the state's welfare code automatically would be voided if the court found that state welfare maximums were out of conformity with federal requirements.

Bagley said the legislation was urged by John G. Veneman, undersecretary of the Health, Education and Welfare Department. Veneman, a former assemblyman, long has been a close friend of Bagley.

Bagley stressed that the Nixon administration was not trying to impose its will on California, but merely carrying out the law as passed by Congress.

The real intent of the Bagley measures, however, was to have them moving through the Legislature by April 1 so California could go to Veneman's department "and have a legitimate basis for asking for another extension," Bagley said.

Veneman's department declared California out of conformity last December, but stayed its order to April 1 be-

Chief Fired For Dividing Town

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Joseph P. Kimble, fired as police chief of this exclusive six-square-mile city last year and then reinstated, was fired once again by the city council Tuesday night.

The dismissal came on a 3-2 vote of the council after a closed-door meeting with two retired superior court judges who presented a report on Kimble's performance as chief.

They said Kimble had brought about "cleavages" in the community that were too deep to reconcile.

TWA Boss Blames CAB For Woes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's air industry, reeling under sudden heavy losses, has told Congress there is nothing wrong with the airlines that a little less government won't cure.

In testimony to a Senate aviation subcommittee Tuesday, airline officials blamed the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) for driving the industry from a combined $428 million profit in 1966 to a $175 million loss in 1970.

And unless strict CAB controls are promptly relaxed, they said, losses could keep building to the point where sinking airlines may have to look to Congress to bail them out.

"Competition has been enshrined as a goal in its own right," said Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., board chairman of Trans World Airlines, "and has become so destructive that the needs of the nation are seriously in jeopardy...

Though neither Tillinghast nor the other two witnesses at the opening day of hearings into the financial headaches of the air industry forecast imminent bankruptcy for any air carrier, they did predict that combined losses could top $300 millon this year unless there is an economic upturn coupled with a policy shift.

But Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said there was "grave danger of financial collapse" in the air industry and said Congress does not intend to "sit back idly and just wait" for disaster to strike as it did with the Penn Central railroad.

ANOTHER KENNEDY CONTROVERSY

This portrait of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis was sold to McCall's magazine by artist Aaron Shikler and will appear on the Feb. 23 edition's cover. It is similar to a portrait of the former First Lady which is being unveiled this week in the White House with no ceremonial fanfare. Plans for a ceremonial unveiling of portraits of the late president and Mrs. Kennedy were dropped suddenly after a Washington newspaper broke the story about McCall's cover-portrait.

Oil Spill Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Commercial transporters of oil would be completely liable for damage from leaks on public property or waters under a bill introduced Tuesday by Assemblyman John Miller, D-Berkeley.

'Schools Falling Apart' — Riles Hits Reagan Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State schoolmaster Wilson C. Riles says California schools are "falling apart" and Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget falls far short of improving them.

The governor has recommended that state aid to local schools during the next fiscal year total $1.62 billion—generally the same as they currently receive.

"As far as local schools are concerned, I feel the budget is inadequate," Riles said in an interview Tuesday. "The schools are really falling apart. Many are going to increase class size or cut down on the school day which means further deterioration."

Riles, who defeated Max Rafferty in a third-term bid for re-election, said, "My job is to see that the children of the state get the resources to obtain quality education."

The soft-spoken educator said he intends to "negotiate" with the legislature and governor for more money for schools.

He discussed Reagan's budget with newsmen after a mass meeting of state department chiefs where Reagan's finance director, Verne Orr, told the officials he understood their "temptation to speak out before legislative committees and say, 'Yes, we could use more money.'"

But Orr said that increases in department budgets "could only mean more taxes" and told them the "challenge now is to be a manager with less resources than you would like."

"We in no way can be proud of the job we are doing in public education," Riles said later. "Some of the southern states now are putting in more money than is California for schools."

However, he said he welcomed "abolition" by Reagan of 394 employes in the state Department of Education so Riles could replace them with workers he believed were better suited to perform the job.

"If it works out that way and to see we do not lose any money in the process, then I welcome it," he said.

Orr told the department heads that Reagan's removal of the jobs demonstrated the governor's announced intention to "cooperate" with Riles so the new superintendent can "turn the department around and start it in the direction that Californians want it run."

Truce Plans

By United Press International

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said today Egypt probably will observe an unofficial truce when the cease-fire expires Friday but will not grant a formal extension. The nation's highest policy making body met today to make a firm decision.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers was disclosed to have sent a third note to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad appealing for an extension on grounds U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring has made sufficient progress in his peace talks to warrant an extension. Egypt rejects this viewpoint.

Also before Egypt was an appeal from United Nations Secretary General Thant to avod renewed fighting. Thant did not ask for a formal extension of the truce but urged both sides to withhold fire, exercise military restraint and maintain the quiet.

Barracks Pitch

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Pentagon has asked Congress for $68 million to give soldiers and Marines semi-private accommodations with a desk, chair, rug and lamp.

The proposal was unveiled Tuesday by Assistant Defense Secretary Roger T. Kelley as part of the Nixon administration's $1.5 billion program to make service life so attractive that men will join without being drafted. Kelley said Marine and Army 50-man barracks would be partitioned into two and three-man rooms.

"The barracks improvement is to provide decent and ordinary, not fancy, living standards," Kelley told the Senate Armed Services Committee. "It has the probability of good "pay off" in attracting additional enlistments, as well as reenlistments, where barracks housing has been a different."

Against Cutoffs

TEHRAN (UPI)—Ten oil-producing nations decided today against cutting off oil to Japan and Western Europe as a means of forcing higher payments but will try unspecified "other measures," Persian Gulf sources said today.

The sources said a majority of the delegates at a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) overruled demands for a cutoff. There was no indication what the "other measures" would be.

Iranian Finance Minister Jamshid Amouzegar, elected president of the OPEC today, told newsmen the group would pass a "very strong resolution" against the companies for refusing to meet demands for price increases.

$2 Million Divorce

She also got a house in exclusive Grosse Pointe Shores, $1.5 million to be paid over the next nine years, and two season tickets to Detroit Lions' football games.

The settlement, totaling an estimated $2.5 million, was the largest ever granted in a divorce case in Michigan and was the culmination of a suit filed by Mrs. Wilson in May, 1967.

Electricity Cut

NEW YORK (UPI)—Electricity in the New York area was cut back again today, the third consecutive day of a bitter cold wave which has reduced the power reserves of five Eastern Seaboard states.

The arctic air which kept the temperature at 8 degrees in the city during the early morning hours today, forced the Consolidated Edison Co. to cut its voltage output by 5 per cent throughout New York City and suburban Westchester County. The reduction Tuesday, begun in similar fashion at 8 a.m., lasted slightly more than 12 hours.

Truman At Home

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S Truman, eating and sleeping well and "in very good health for an 86-year-old man," is back home again following a 12-day hospitalization.

Truman and his wife, Bess, 85, were driven from Research Hospital in Kansas City, Mo., to their Independence home Tuesday afternoon by Mike Westwood, Truman's chauffeur and bodyguard.

Slapped Ex-GI

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Services were scheduled today for Charles H. Kuhl, the man Gen. George S. Patton slapped in a Sicilian hospital during World War II.

Kuhl, a South Bend factory worker, died Sunday of a heart ailment. He was 55.

Patton lost his command of the U.S. 7th Army as a result of the hospital incident. Kuhl was hospitalized in Palermo for examination for a psychiatric disorder at the time, although it later was determined he was suffering from malaria.

Kuhl said after the incident that Patton had kicked him in the hindquarters in addition to slapping him.

Old Law On Rioting Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, has initiated a move to re-establish California's criminal syndicalism law dealing with persons who incite to riot.

Harmer Tuesday introduced a bill aimed at meeting constitutional safeguards for such a law. The state's 1919 anti-syndicalism law was declared unconstitutional two years ago.

Under the measure a person could be prosecuted who tries "to incite or produce imminent lawless action at a time, place and under circumstances that are likely to incite or produce imminent lawless action."

The lawmaker said his measure separates the "abstract teaching of a doctrine" and the use of advocacy which would likely incite "lawless action."

He said with such a law, last weekend's disturbance in east Los Angeles' barrio may have been averted. One man was shot to death in the disorder.

"I am not asserting that any of the leaders of the weekend rally in Los Angeles were guilty of advocating action which resulted in the pathetic aftermath of that rally," Harmer said.

Assembly To Nixon: Halt Boat Seizures

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has voted unanimously to ask President Nixon to use the Navy to halt future seizures of U.S. Tuna fishing boats by Ecuador and Peru.

The lower house, on a 53-0 vote Tuesday, approved and sent to the Senate a resolution urging Nixon "to deploy American Naval power where necessary to protect against such seizures."

"The State Department has miserably failed to protect our ships," said Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, author of the resolution.

Thomas said Ecuador and Peru claim exclusive fishing rights to Ocean waters 200 miles from their coastlines. The United States and most other countries set limits of 12 miles, he said.

Since 1961, he said, both countries have seized over 100 American tuna fishing vessels, including 17 last month, and U.S. fishermen have paid more than $700,000 in fines to release their vessels.

Thomas said the fines were increasing and planes and gunships have fired on the unarmed fishing boats.

Cove Developer To Reduce Project Size

The developer of the controversial Strawberry Cove apartment development disclosed today he will reduce the size of the project from 102 to 90 units to meet objections about housing density.

Developer Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap told the Independent-Journal today he would submit revised plans to the Marin County Planning Commission as an amendment to the development's master plan.

The apartments are planned on 6.5 acres on the east side of Strawberry Cove. The Strawberry Recreation District has sought to halt the project through court action because it allegedly would deny public access to parts of the cove.

"I am contemplating removing a large building in the center to provide about 250 feet of open space," said Broman. "I plan to put in a swimming pool with a Japanese style one-story tea house as a recreation building for the tenants."

At the north lookout point, across from DeSilva Island, Broman said he will remove four units to meet the Marin Conservation League's recommendation that the point be opened up for public use.

In the original plan, the buildings were about 50 feet from Seminary Drive, but because of the reshuffling to lessen the density, the developer said he may bring the buildings a few feet closer to shore.

Rated Chrysler Workers Ratify Three-Year Pact

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers announced today its 110,000 hourly rated workers at Chrysler Corp.'s American and Canadian plants have ratified a new, three-year contract with the company.

Douglas A. Fraser, a UAW vice president and director of its Chrysler department, said all the votes were in and 88 per cent of the unskilled workers and 82 per cent of the skilled workers had accepted the agreement, which will cost Chrysler at least $1 billion in additional wages and fringe benefits.

"I am gratified not only by the overwhelming majority which voted for ratification, but by the fact that a majority was obtained in every single unit voting but one," Fraser said.

The contract will become effective next Monday.

On Tuesday, the second shortest national strike in automobile history ended after three hours when UAW and Chrysler bargainers agreed on a tentative contract covering 10,000 unionized white-collar workers at the company. The shortest auto strike on record was a 15-minute walkout against General Motors Corp. in 1961 in a dispute involving relief time.

Final approval of the agreement by the salaried workers will end the 1970-71 round of auto contract negotiations with the big three automakers which began last July and were highlighted by a 67-day strike against G.M.

The salaried workers' strike Tuesday came after a 27-hour bargaining session that left negotiators red-eyed and haggard. It ended when Chrysler and the union agreed on the two major items which had held up settlement.

Chrysler agreed in principle on a 13 per cent increase for its salaried workers, the same pay increase granted G.M. and Ford Motor Co. salaried employes who are not represented by a union. It also agreed to make the increase retroactive to last Nov. 2, the same date agreed to for production and maintenance workers when they reached settlement on Jan. 19.

The white-collar workers, whose strike could have shut down Chrysler's entire operation within six days had it continued, walked off their jobs at 10 a.m. Tuesday, the strike deadline set by the UAW last week. Picket lines formed immediately.

said Tuesday the U.S. raids had been increased.

Members of the U.S. Congress were in the dark about the actual operatons in South Vietnam and such high ranking members as Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said they had not been briefed.

There was no announcement after the meeting as to what action had been taken. Any announcement involving the South Vietnamese presumably would come from Saigon.

In the lack of official information on the situation the Communists were reaping a propaganda windfall.

Paris dispatches said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates to the Vietnamese peace talks there announced plans for strong attacks on the United States and South Vietnam and the alleged invasion plans at the regular Thursday meeting.

Communist diplomats said North Vietnam's Minister of State Xuan Thuy and the Viet Cong's "Foreign Minister," Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, had been instructed to use the weekly meeting to condemn the reported operation. The Hanoi delegation issued a statement today accusing the United States of "masterminding" an invasion.

Sovietskaya Rossia, the Communist Party's No. 2 newspaper after Pravda, repeated previous Russian charges that "a major force of the puppet Saigon troops carried out an invasion on the territory of Laos. Just before the invasion the southern part of the country was bombed by 400 American planes."

Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak of Laos made the official denial of any Allied operation in southern Laos as the Laotian cabinet met to discuss charges by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin of a U.S. - South Vietnamese invasion of the country. Sisouk said both the report of an invasion and of a delegation to be sent to Saigon from Vietnam were both based on "speculation."

Sisouk also reported that Communist troops had overrun six Laotian positions Tuesday night in the area of the Plain of Jars and had the Royal capital of Luang Prabang nearly encircled.

Soviet and Japanese reports had said an Allied operation into Laos began two days ago.

Education Goals Will Be Studied

The Fairfax School District board, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Manor School, will review a newly drafted report outlining broad education goals for district students.

The document, prepared by a committee of parents and educators, states ideals the committee thinks students should be learning and using.

Council To Ponder Zink's Fate

The Sausalito City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.m. today to continue deliberating the fate of former Sausalito police sergeant Thomas H. Zink.

The 33-year-old Zink was fired from the Sausalito Police Department in May after 11 years on the force. He is seeking reinstatement with the department.

A state hearing officer, who heard testimony in extended hearings at city hall in November and December, has recommended Zink be reinstated, but demoted to patrolman.

On Jan. 13, the council reached no decision on whether to rehire the policeman after meeting in closed session for more than three hours to consider the hearing officer's report and hear additional testimony.

ready under contract. The board also recommended that 38 parcels of land be taken out of agricultural preserve contract because they are not bona fide agricultural land.

2. The Marin County Planning Commission declared that some control should remain over the 91,800 acres of preserve land that are not under contract. The commission suggested that this area be placed in a new A-1 zone that would require a minimum lot size of 20 acres.

Assessor Bert Broemmel reported that 272,000 acres, or 80 per cent of the land mass in Marin, is now under agricultural preserve or are publicly owned open space. Of the 272,000 acres, 78,200 are under preserve contract and getting a tax break; 91,800 are in the preserve area but not under contract; and 102,000 acres are public and quasi-public land including Point Reyes Seashore.

Landowners who spoke from the audience section were split between those who wanted the preserve area reduced with no interim ordinance on the rest of the land, and those who wanted some county limitation to prevent development from chopping up the open spaces.

Strongest advocate of the reduced preserve area was Normand H. Traverso, executive director of the Marin Property Owners Association, who argued that the preserve area should be cut back to 78,200 acres, with the rest of Marin to be controlled by a general plan and appropriate zoning.

County Planning Director Werner Von Gundell argued that until the county general plan is completed and proper zoning applied, most of Marin's open land would be wide open to subdivision development and urban sprawl.

Charles E. McCully, superintendent of the Shoreline Unified School District, complained that so many ranches in his area got reduced taxes by entering into agricultural preserve contracts that the school district is in a financial bind.

Supervisors promised McCully that the loss of revenue by school districts will be discussed at budget time.

cause of the pending court challenges. The challenges were filed by opponents and supporters of increased maximums.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, faced by the federal order, had set new maximums, but his action was challenged after the legislative counsel said that the Legislature had not given the governor authority to set new maximums. Bagley said there was "a real possibility" the court would agree with the legislative counsel.

The 1970 Legislature had a bill increasing welfare maximums to meet the federal law, but the bill died in the Senate by one vote on the last day of the session. It was after this last-minute loss that the governor acted on his own to set new maximums.

Bagley said that hearings on his legislation will be heard by his committee Feb. 23 and 24, and that Veneman will testify.

Commune Zoning On Radio Panel

The controversial proposal for a zoning code amendment that would limit commune families in Mill Valley to no more than five unrelated individuals, will be discussed tomorrow at 9 a.m. on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

Guests of moderator Kitty Oppenheimer will be: Mill Valley City Councilmen Robert H. Andresen and Jerome C. Hauke and Mill Valley Planning Commissioners, Robert E. Burton and Mrs. William Garoutte.

some classes the children are "a little too free and run around the classroom more than necessary."

Mrs. Wilson, who campaigned on a platrom of giving the district's school a period of "peace and quiet" in which to develop, won in Bolinas but lost in Stinson Beach and in the absentee ballots.

Final totals from the district's two polling places were: Bolinas School: Aitken, 145; Mrs. Wilson, 167. Stinson Beach Community Center: Aitken, 82, and Mrs. Wilson, 54.

Thirteen absentee ballots cast gave Aitken seven votes and Mrs. Wilson two. Mrs. Donn D. Fischer, who withdrew from the race last week for personal reasons, received four absentee votes and a total of 17 votes throughout the district.

Mrs. Fischer has indicated she will run on April 20 for a board post vacated by the recent resignation of Trustee Warren Fairbanks who is moving to San Anselmo.

Aitken fills the unexpired term of Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon late last year. The term runs through June 1973, as does Fairbanks' term.

Mrs. Wilson could not be reached to comment on whether she will try again for a board seat in April.

The seats of two other trustees, Board Chairman Edward Z. Lewis and Charles E. Hancock (who was elected to replace Jane Phillips Boyer who resigned from the board last year), are also up for election in April.

down Shepard's offer to show more pictures of the docking devices that gave the astronauts trouble on the linkup of Kitty Hawk and Antares.

Controllers explained later engineers were satisfied the Sunday night problem had been resolved.

During the inspection, Apollo 14 passed the distance from earth where an explosion wrecked the Apollo 13 moon mission and forced its crew to return home without a landing.

Ground communicator Gordon Fullerton woke the astronauts at 7:30 a.m. PST when monitoring devices indicated oxygen was escaping from the spacecraft.

After checking with Mitchell, ground controllers said the problem apparently was a combination of a "sticky valve" on the waste management overboard drain and its use after the astronauts began their sleep period. The system, dubbed "Myrtle," eliminates body wastes from the moonships.

Fullerton told the astronauts to go back to sleep when gauges showed the cabin air pressure was slowly returning to normal levels.

A bright yellow, banana-shaped moon was clearly visible during the telecast 207,000 miles from earth as Roosa panned his color camera through the window of the command ship. He then turned it on his companions as they floated into Antares.

The astronauts sent pictures of the crescent moon to early-rising televiewers in Mission Control —including their wives and children.

"From our point of view, the moon appears about the size of a grapefruit held at arm's length," Mitchell said. "The moon is starting to exceed the earth in apparent size."

At a news briefing after Shepard and Mitchell returned to the Kitty Hawk, ground flight director Gerald P. Griffin reported "It all went very well" during the inspection.

Griffin also told newsmen a small course correction probably will be made tonight.

Underwriting Of Bonds Is Assured

Marin County Board of Supervisors veered from normal county policy yesterday and agreed to underwrite $4,400,000 in assessment bonds to finance sewers for Bolinas and Stinson Beach. (Other supervisor stories, page 1)

On a motion by John F. McInnis, supervisors authorized the Bolinas Community Public Utilities District and the Stinson Beach County Water District to sell assessment bonds under provisions of 1915 bond legislation by which the county becomes liable if Bolinas and Stinson Beach cannot pay off the bonds.

Assessment bonds sold under the 1915 legislation carry a much lower interest rate than general obligations bonds sold under legislation passed in 1911, because of the county guarantee.

Chairman Louis H. Baar noted that Bolinas has been ordered by the State Water Quality Control Board to clean up pollution. "They are asking the county to use its credit to solve a problem that is both of local interest and county interest."

In moving for use of the 1915 rules, McInnis explained: "We are departing from our usual policy because of the unusual circumstances."

County Tax Collector-Treasurer Stanley J. Fontez said he is normally opposed to the use of the 1915 rules, but in this case, Bolinas and Stinson Beach would be unable otherwise to finance sewer improvement.

Edward J. Hyland, financing consultant for the Bolinas and Stinson Beach District, said the Bolinas portion of the bond issue will be $1,900,000, and Stinson's will be $2,500,000. Total cost of the sewer project will be $7,150,000, with the difference coming from federal and state grants.

Profit Out Of Military Leave Sought By Bagley

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to take the profit out of military leave for public employees yesterday was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Public employees are entitled under current law to their regular pay for the first 30 days of military leave each year, a privilege that apparently accounts for the fact that public employees on military leave take an average of 11.9 days of such leave a year.

This contrasts sharply with the average of 6.8 days in private business, where almost two-thirds of employers do not pay their employees while on military leave.

Bagley's bill would let the employing public agency decide whether to pay employees on military leave. The bill would apply to cities and counties as well as the state.

Youth To Appear In Burglary Case

Two Petaluma youths were arrested yesterday on suspicion of committing burglaries at three homes.

Arrested were Alan Dennis Schaller, 19, of 419 Fair Street, and James Conrad Stull, 16, of 408 Mountain View Avenue. Police said items traced to three burglaries were found at their homes.

Schaller was booked into the city jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and Stull was booked into Sonoma County Juvenile Hall.

$195,238 More Into Auditorium

Marin County yesterday poured another $195,238 into the Veterans Memorial Auditorium to bring the theater capacity to a full 2,100 seats.

By unanimous vote, the board of supervisors awarded a contract for 1,188 movable seats and telescoping platform to Rollway Grandstand Co. of Los Angeles. Rollway submitted the lowest of three bids.

These movable seats will be installed behind the 912 fixed seats.

Last week, the supervisors bought $4,400 worth of stage rigging, a motorized movable wall for $19,578, and leased a sound system for three years at $7,290 per year, all for the new auditorium.

North Campus Plan On Tap

The Marin Junior College District board, meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin's Olney Hall, will consider whether to proceed with masterplanning for the north campus.

A timetable submitted to the board Jan. 26 by Dale E. Fleming, district director of planning, indicated the master planning should begin if the Novato campus is to meet its fall 1974 opening schedule.

The board will also consider approval of working drawing for the proposed Kentfield campus library and the demolition of existing buildings on the library site.

Bolinas Library To Have A New Home

The Bolinas branch of the Marin County Library will be able to move into new and spacious quarters in the former firehouse in the Bolinas Community Building.

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a $10,000 outlay to remodel the new quarters, vacated by the fire department.

The library is now located next to Scowley's restaurant, where the county pays $150 per month for 450 square feet. County librarian Bruce D. Bajema said the library will get 1,030 square feet in the new building for the same rental.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

HOUSEBOATS — Ordered four houseboats in Richardson Bay moved or abated within 30 to 60 days, and asked Marine Inspector Richard L. Larson to keep track of repair progress on four other boats, whose owners are trying to meet county standards.

BOLINAS "BUMPS" Heard from Public Works Director Donald R. Frost that Bolinas residents had asked for road "bumps" to be installed in downtown Bolinas to slow traffic, but the request was withdrawn when traffic engineers pointed out the hazards of these raised barriers.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY Heard a complaint from L. Charles Smith, youth coordinator, that the county administrator keeps the juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission in the dark about available federal grants. Supervisors asked the administrator to study the complaint and report back in two or three weeks.

BOX CULVERT Continued until 1:45 p.m. Feb. 16 a public hearing for installation of a $39,000 box culvert from Edna McGuire School to Shell Road and Lomita Drive to reduce flooding. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Wheeler of 84 Lomita protested that the culvert would damage their back yard.

ABATEMENT Awarded a $425 contract to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael to demolish an old building owned by Roma Weaver in Forest Knolls because it is a health hazard.

LIBRARY HOLIDAY Authorized the closing of all Marin County library branches on Saturday, Feb. 13, because it falls between Lincoln's birthday on the 12th and Washington's birthday on the 15th.

COMMENDATION Commended Bella H. Aaron for her services as member of the Marin Human Rights Commission. She resigned from the commission last Tuesday after a long feud with other commissioners, who charged she was acting too independently.

Bagley Hits Exemptions In Budget

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill requiring the state budget to include the cost of special exemptions, now hidden, was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

His measure listed 119 exemptions in current law that would have to be computed in the budget. They ranged from the oil and gas well depletion allowances to the rental value of parsonages for ministers of the gospel.

The budget would have to detail the cost of each exemption, whether to local or state government.

Klaus K. Jund of 1030 Via Escondida has been elected president of the Loma Verde Homeowners Association for 1971.

Behr, Bagley Seek End To Unification Elections

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation exempting Marin County school districts from the state's requirement for unification elections every four years today was introduced jointly by Assemblyman William T. Bagley and Sen. Peter H. Behr, both R-San Rafael.

Unification elections still could be held in the county, but at the option of school district trustees. Without such legislation, voters in the Tamalpais High School District would have to have a third unification election in June 1972.

Two previous unification elections in the district failed to win voter approval. Bagley said that both proponents and opponents of unification now concede a third election would be a waste of money.

Another bill previously introduced would exempt all counties from the requirement.

DISPUTED FENCE — This is the iron fence which a Marin Superior Court judge ruled yesterday is a legal boundary between the Seadrift community and public beaches in West Marin.

Wilson Says Stinson Fence Can Stay

A 10-year-old dispute over an iron fence at the Seadrift community in West Marin was settled yesterday when Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court ruled the fence could stay where it is.

The fence — a line of iron rails about five feet apart — was constructed at the edge of the Seadrift property in the early 1950s when the William Kent Estate Co. subdivided the sandspit that stretches from Stinson Beach to the Bolinas Channel.

It extends to a high tide line determined by Tracy L. Atherton, a state surveyor, in 1949, and serves as the boundary between Seadrift and public property.

The state of California filed the suit, contending that the high tide mark had shifted landward because of erosion and that the fence now encroached on public lands and was a nuisance.

In his decision, Wilson agreed with the state that the high water mark may indeed shift, but he said the pertinent question was "whether it has moved from its earlier determined location (the Atherton line) in a manner legally sufficient to effect a boundary change."

He ruled that it had not.

He further ruled the fence — now so deteriorated that anyone can walk through it — was not a nuisance, in that it had never prevented anyone from walking in the water along the sandspit.

Wilson's conclusion differed from one he reached in 1964 declaring the property line to be the high water mark "as it may fluctuate naturally from time to time" — rather than the Atherton line — and putting the end of the fence sometimes on Kent property, sometimes on public property.

That decision ended a four-year court battle which had been prompted by citizen complaints in 1960 that they were being denied access to a mile-and-one-half of beach because of the fence.

But the decision was reversed by the state District Court of Appeals, which ruled in 1966 that a fluctuating boundary was unacceptable and ordered the case retried to establish a fixed boundary.

In settling on the Atherton line yesterday, Wilson said that where a line has been established, the state would be better off spending public money buying beach lands rather than filing suits such as in the Seadrift case.

Canyon Owners Elect Officers

Marlo Van Der Zweip of 130 Montura Way has been elected president of the Domingo Canyon Homeowners Association.

Chester Glenn Clinton has been elected vice president; Mrs. Alfred Kenny, treasurer; and Mrs. Theunis Tamsma, secretary.

Members agreed at their meeting Monday at Pacheco School to study the possibility of having commuter bus service to the area, with riders chartering the bus on a private basis.

They also agreed to have quarterly membership meetings instead of monthly sessions, reported Ina Tullinen, outgoing secretary. They ruled that residents of the Esquire Court area were eligible for association membership.

Directory Deadline Set

Deadlines for adding or changing telephone listings in the next issue of the Novato telephone directory are Feb. 12 for yellow pages and Feb. 19 for white pages, according to Gordon Lee, Novato division manager for Western California Telephone Co.

Customers can change their listing or add new listings by notifying the company office in Novato, said Lee.

The 1971 Novato telephone directory will be published in April.

Remodeling Over

Expansion and remodeling work is complete at the Petaluma Police Department and central fire station and open houses will be held at both Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Both projects were completed with funds approved in bond elections.

Council Won't Hear Appeal From Noah

In another set-to in city hall, Ralph C. Noah of Tiburon was refused an appeal to the Tiburon City Council for variance to construct a hill-side parking platform at 6 Rolling Hills Road.

The appeal came unexpectedly after the council noted that Noah had not complied with earlier recommendations for retaining walls and landscaping for his property. The council in December had declared the property a nuisance because it exceeded height limitations.

Rodney F. Friedman, Noah's architect, argued that before landscaping could be done, the matter of the parking platform would have to be decided.

Friedman's original design for the platform would overlap three feet of city easement; the variance was denied earlier in council. He described a second design which would avoid the easement property but render the parking platform larger and less attractive.

Councilman M. Carlisle Becker requested council to reopen the matter in view of the new evidence. The council refused.

"If we must revise the ordinances, then it should be done in the proper fashion, Councilman Branwell D. Fanning said.

Council did agree to consider status of nuisance abatement at its first meeting in March.

The Tiburon City Council also:

RACOON LANE — Reviewed the petition to close Racoon Lane between Mar West and Centro West Streets to motorized vehicles and moved it be resubmitted to council when all quit claims have been turned in at their first meeting in March.

ANIMALS — Reviewed the animal control ordinance that has been under consideration since Aug. 1969 and recommended that amendments, which would conform to the Marin County Animal Control Ordinance, be reviewed at another meeting.

CITY MANAGER — Reported that 80 to 90 applications for the city manager position have been screened and the number reduced to 12 candidates. These would be open for interview by the oral screen board and the city council on Feb. 12, 13 and 14.

SOLID WASTE — Suggested the solid waste removal pilot program go into committee for further study until Feb. 22 on its long range applications with the possibility of adding two free garbage truck pick-ups per year instead.

DISASTER AID — Adopted a resolution designating the acting city Manager as the city representative for obtaining federal disaster area funds.

AUDIT — Authorized the Mayor of Tiburon to contract for the 1970-71 fiscal audit with Sleezer and Eckhoff, certified public accountants from San Rafael, for a fee not to exceed $1,000.

FLOODS — Adopted a resolution to enter into the National Flood Insurance Program to make the flood insurance available to Tiburon citizens.

TOWN MEETING — Announced that a town meeting at which local issues would be discussed and policy-making decisions considered would be held March 29 in the Music room at Del Mar.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Feb. 9.

'Nightmare' At The White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Except for a popping hook, a creeping zipper and a failing voice, Beverly Sills gave a sterling performance at the White House Tuesday night.

"It was an opera singer's nightmare," said the buxom, red-haired Miss Sills.

With President Nixon and his guests assembled in the East Room, the first problem for the opera star came when she popped a hook and a zipper began coming down in back on her low-cut white satin gown as she hit a high note in the mad scene from "Lucia de Lammermoor."

That was quickly repaired by a coat during a hasty two-minute intermission.

Then came the last note of her last number, an aria from "the Barber of Seville." She lost her voice.

It didn't seem to make much difference to the guests, who appeared enthusiastic about the performance.

92.6% Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Labor Department says a survey of cities with 100,000 or more population showed the average construction workers as of Jan. 1 was making $6.39 an hour —a gain of 92.6 per cent since 1959.

Hearing Set In Heroin Case

Reiner has pleaded innocent to three felony counts of concealing stolen property and misdemeanor counts of possessing narcotics paraphernalia and being under the influence of heroin.

Medi-Cal Request Delayed

Convalescent home operators in Marin County yesterday asked the Marin County Board of Supervisors to contribute $2 per day per patient to offset a cutback in state medi-cal grants, but the supervisors withheld action until a study by the county administrator and a report next week.

He said the medi-cal cutback by the Reagan administration reduced the maximum state aid from $14 per patient per day to $12.60

"The problem is that the $14 was already grossly inadequate," declared Berg. He said the state itself had set the cost at $16.38 in November of 1968, and rising costs since then would bring the figure to $18.68. The cutback to $12.60 means a loss of more than $6 per patient per day, Berg said.

Supervisor John F. McInnis said he is not prepared to act on Berg's request until he has a report from the county administrator.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he believes the county cannot legally supplement the medi-cal payments.

Chairman Louis H. Baar asked county administrator Alan Bruce to report next week.

Housing Program To Council

Preliminary plans for housing adjacent to Sonoma State College were presented last night to the Rohnert Park City Council.

Van Logan of land investor's research presented the proposed master plan for development of 240 acres adjacent to the college. The plan included apartments, a student-oriented mobile home park, 40 acres of open space and a small amount of single-family home development.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council reserved comments on the plan pending review by college planning officials and by the Sonoma County planning department.

The Rohnert Park City Council Also.

FAIR — Approved a resolution opposing the elimination by consolidation of the Sonoma-Marin Fair.

HOSPITAL — Received a report from City Atty. Richard Maxwell on the procedure for withdrawal from the Petaluma Hospital District, but took no action pending a meeting with the hospital board tentatively set for Feb. 22.

SOCCER — Approved an additional allocation of $600 for expansion of the soccer program.

Compromise In Tangled Estate; Funds Drained

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The estates of actress Jayne Mansfield and her attorney, Samuel S. Brody, both killed in a traffic accident in 1967, will divide nearly $60,000 under a compromise approved Monday in Superior Court.

The agreement provided that the Brody estate would take 60 per cent of the proceeds from sale of jewelry the actress had on her person and also 60 per cent of funds Brody was carrying at the time of the accident.

Brody's widow, Beverly, 40, had claimed $325,000 from the Mansfield estate which she said were gifts given to the actress by her husband from community property of the couple.

Miss Mansfield's estate claimed $181,262 it maintained the actress had entrusted to Brody. Her estate will take $7,176 from sale of a sports car.

However, Miss Mansfield's estate attorney, Irwin Boscoe, predicted that although assets were appraised at $600,000, the estate would be insolvent because of Miss Mansfield's many obligations and the expense of litigation.

Warrant Is Issued By Judge

A bench warrant has been issued in Marin Municipal Court for Shirley Singletary, 20, of San Francisco, who is charged with burglary and felony assault on a police officer.

Judge Peter Allen Smith on Monday set bail on the warrant at $2,500 when Mrs. Singletary failed to appear in court for setting of a date for a preliminary hearing.

She was arrested last April after she and two companions allegedly took clothing from two Sausalito stores. When their car was stopped, Mrs. Singletary reportedly kicked and bit the officer.

'Identifiable Spaces' Sought By Faculty

College of Marin social and behavioral science teachers want their own "identifiable spaces" on the Kentfield campus. And the college's trustees and staff are studying how to do the job.

According to Dale A. Fleming, director of planning for the Marin Junior College District, faculty members presented their arguments at a trustees' workshop session devoted to planning for an eventual 5,000-student maximum at the Kentfield campus on Monday.

Berkeley Johnson, dean of instruction, spoke of curriculaum changes; Norman Bird, business manager, discussed financial problems, and Fleming reported on planning considerations for the crowded Kentfield campus.

Fleming said the social and behavioral science faculty members asked to have their programs concentrated in one building, or at least located near each other on the campus. This would be subject to limitations of existing buildings and space available for future construction, the planning official explained.

The trustees reaffirmed their decision made last year to limit the campus to a maximum 5,000 students.

Fleming said he and the staff were "now in a position to detail specific department or program needs and to allocate spaces for the departments" on a long-range basis. "But there will be changes" due to new teaching techniques and other developments, he warned. "Contact hours" or the time students spend in classes probably will mean other changes. Fleming added.

The trustees also discussed, but took no action on proposals to establish several new technical-vocational studies, including veterinary technology, ornamental horticulture, cosmetology and environmental technician programs.

Fleming said he hoped to have the Kentfield long-range plans ready for formal presentation to the trustees by March 1.

Jury Trial For Youth On Pot

Paul Edward Le Clair, 19, of San Anselmo, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing marijuana.

A jury trial was set Monday for the week of April 12. A date for hearing pretrial motions will be set Feb. 22.

Nights Only Jail Stays Being Sought

Three union officials due to go to jail tonight for actions in connection with the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal are seeking to spend only their nights in confinement.

The three men yesterday asked for and received permission from Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court to start their 15-day sentences today. They had earlier asked for a stay until Feb. 24 when new motions will be presented.

Set to start jail time at 6 p.m. today were Leon Olson, president of International Typographical Union 21; Jack Goldberger, president of Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921 and Donald Abrams, a vice president of the typographical union.

Their preparations to start the jail terms included an appeal to printers, posted in printing shops throughout the Bay Area, to appear at a rally outside the jail as an expression of solidarity and sympathy.

The men were sentenced to jail by Judge Keating who found them in contempt of court for their involvement in a riotous demonstration at the Independent-Journal last Feb. 14.

Today it was learned that all three have applied for the jail's work furlough program in which inmates are released in order to go to jobs and then return to jail for the rest of the day.

County work furlough officer Jesse W. Johnson said today that one of the requirements for the program is that jail inmates have jobs to which they report at certain times of the day and have definite supervisors.

He added that "$30,000-a-year salesmen" had been denied work furlough because of indefinite working hours.

Johnson said he was running a routine investigation on the three union officials and could not yet say whether they would meet conditions for work furlough.

In addition to the jail sentences, Keating levied a $1,500 fine against the typographical union, Olson and Goldberger and a $750 fine against Abrams. These have not been imposed awaiting the Feb. 24 court hearing.

Panel Against Any Manager Of Insurance

The Golden Gate Bridge District should not hire an insurance manager at this time, the district's insurance committee recommended yesterday.

Dale M. Luehring, district manager, explained today that the committee wanted more data to make a number of policy recommendations including whether the proposed insurance specialist is needed on the district staff. The committee discussed but did not decide whether to recommend that the district try self-insurance, or resort to pooling target risk insurance.

Yesterday's meeting also saw proposed specifications on bus fleet insurance held in committee without action as were proposed contracts for dental and health coverage for district employees.

Citizen Cited For Contribution

Marin Association for Mental Health honored a citizen for mental health efforts, elected officers for 1971 and heard former Judge Alvin H. Goldstein speak, at the association's annual dinner last night.

Newspaper writer Alice D. Yarish of San Anselmo was given a plaque as the association made its first award for "a citizen's greatest contribution in the mental health field." Nevada Christian, who retired after six years as the association's executive director, also received a gift. Her successor, Dorothy H. Leake, was introduced.

Mrs. Rae S. Taub of Mill Valley was reelected president.

Other officers elected were Dr. Rudolf Kupfer, first vice president; Arcima Taylor Jr., second vice president; Mrs. Fred Dickson Jr., secretary, and Norman S. Campbell, reelected treasurer.

Judge Goldstein, recently retired from the Marin Municipal Court, spoke on "pollution of the judicial environment." He repeated his earlier charges that personal searches at the entrances to the Marin County Civic Center were an invasion of privacy and "but a short step from a police state," Mrs. Christian reported. The former judge also said the courts were clogged with "self-destructive offenses" such as drug cases, although other crime problems were more serious.

The annual meeting was held in Alexander Hall on the San Francisco Theological Seminary campus in San Anselmo.

Harpist To Be Quartet Guest

Harpist Anne Adams of the San Francisco Symphony will be the guest artist for the second concert in the current season of the Marin Arts Quartet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Miss Adams will join the quartet in the Debussy "Dances for Harp and Strings."

The quartet composed of Charles Meacham and Michael Gerling, violins; Lucien Mitchell, viola, and Jean Mitchell, cello, will play quartets of Schubert, Dvorak and contemporary Mexican composer Silvestre Revueltas.

Reed Salary Talks Reach An Impasse

Reed School District trustees and teachers agreed last night that contract negotiation are at an impasse, and that a meeting should be held to set up procedures for breaking the deadlock under the Winton Act of the state Education Code.

The meeting cannot be held this week, according to Irwin Karp, Reed complex principal, because a key member of the district negotiating team is out of the county. Richard V. Godino, the district's counsel, will not return until the weekend, Karp said.

Meanwhile, Reed District teachers voted overwhelmingly yesterday to reject the latest contract offer, according to Bert Skaggs, director of the California Teachers Association office in Marin County.

Overall, the vote was 102-to-2 to reject the contract, Skaggs said. In addition, the teachers who are members of the Reed District Teachers Association, local unit of the CTA, voted 80-to-0 to ask the CTA to impose statewide sanctions against the district over the contract dispute, and 79-to-1 to ask the CTA to extend its legal, financial and other services to the RDTA in the dispute.

Skaggs said the CTA's first move probably will be an intensive study of teaching conditions in the district, and the contract terms under dispute.

Skaggs added that members of another organization represented in Reed Schools — the American Federation of teachers — voted "unanimously" but would not divulge actual numbers against the contract offer.

Col. Berlin To Head Daedalians

Col. Edson W. (Jack) Berlin, (USAF-ret.) of Ignacio has been named flight captain of the Order of Daedalians Golden Gate Flight, headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin.

The Daedalians, originally organized by former World War I aviators, now include aviators from all military services.

Colonel Berlin resides at 29 Olympia Way.

20-Year-Old To State Hospital

Welby Stuart Brown, 20, of Gate 3, Waldo Point, has been ordered to a state hospital for mental treatment.

Unusual Cure For Head Cold

COLUSA, Calif. UPI)—A highway patrolman went on an LSD trip when he took a borrowed coughdrop to curb a cold.

Colusa county undersheriff Joel McDermott Tuesday said the unidentified patrolman was in the sheriff's office when Gary Thompson, 21, Williams, was booked on charges of possessing marijuana recently.

He said the patrolman saw the box of coughdrops among the suspect's possessions and decided to take one to relieve his cold.

"He really went on a trip," McDermott said.

The lozenges were turned over to the nearby Davis police department for analysis and were found to contain a "high amount" of LSD.

No Mercury Danger In Tuna Catches

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Tuna aboard the first three boats of the American fleet just returned from Central American fishing grounds do not contain unsate amounts of mercury, industry officials reported Tuesday.

"No samples were found to be over the tolerance level," said R. E. Chapman, vice president for marketing for Westgate Cannery.

Architect Protests Out-Of County-Fees

Architects from outside Marin get nearly 98 per cent of the County of Marin's business, a San Rafael architect charged today.

Robert W. F. Severin filed with chairman Louis H. Baar of the county board of supervisors a letter of complaint against what he held is discrimination against Marin's own architects. Baar said he planned to put the matter on the agenda for next Tuesday's meeting of the board.

Severin related in his letter that he had been turned down when he asked to offer proposals for design of the Marin City firehouse and community center and the Novato branch of the county library. Both jobs went to San Francisco architects.

"Apparently, as a Marin County architect, I am not alone in the futile effort to obtain county work," he wrote. "As of Jan. 6, 1971, the County of Marin was responsible for $1,833,369.02 in current architectural fees. These fees went to six architectural firms. Five of these firms are from San Francisco with only one from Marin. This is not the entire story. This one Marin firm received only $40,851.27 of the total or 2.2 per cent."

He reported he had asked Donald R. Frost, public works director, and Alan Bruce, county administrator, how they go about selection of architects for county work. "Their joint answer ... was, 'We call the office of the AIA (American Institute of Architects) in San Francisco and they send us a list," he wrote.

Nearly 90 per cent of the huge total of architect fees cited by Severin represents fees on the Civic Center, paid to Taliesin Associates (Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation). On administration building, Hall of Justice, and Veterans Memorial Auditorium, these come to $1,583,598.

Other firms he listed, their fees and the projects they have designed, include: Kaplan and McLaughlin, San Francisco, $108,639 for Community Mental Health Center; Marquis and Stoller, San Francisco, $38,075 for Novato branch library; Smith-Barker-Hanssen (formerly Neill Smith and Associates), San Francisco, $41,754 for Corte Madera branch library; Garson and Overstreet, San Francisco, $20,441 for Marin City fire station. Only Marin firm on the list is Crawford and Banning, San Rafael, for a total of $40,851 for juvenile hall additions and the Tomales fire station.

State law requires that county contracts exceeding $4,000 be put out to public bid. However, this practice has not been followed with architects' contracts since they refuse to bid against each other.

Baar said he planned to bring up the possibility that fixed fee bids be sought, while inquiring into what practice is followed in hiring for county work.

Lame-Duck Supervisor Bill Asked

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to cut short the political life of lame-duck county supervisors yesterday was introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Supervisors would take their seats 29 days after being elected under Bagley's constitutional amendment. Thus, a supervisor elected in a June primary election would take his seat by early July.

Bagley's amendment would go on the baliot in June 1972, thus would apply to supervisorial candidates in that primary election if it passed.

Seating 29 days after election was aimed at preventing lame-ducks from passing ordinances after their defeat. Ordinances take 30 days to become effective, thus a newly elected supervisor could vote to reverse approval of any ordinance which he opposed.

Spreading Chestnut Tree Research

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI) — A University of Tennessee research facility here, under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission, is trying to find a way to bring back the "spreading chestnut tree."

Disease has wiped out most of the American chestnut, but scientists hope that through radiation experiments on the species a disease resistant variety can be produced.

March Of Dimes In Appeal To Business

The National Foundation-March of Dimes has joined with 10 other national health agencies for a proposed joint fund raising appeal to business and industry in the nine Bay Area counties.

Restricted to corporate and employee giving, the joint effort does not include consolidation of the agencies' traditional community campaign among citizens, Ruth Johnson, chairman of the Marin County Chapter of the National Foundation-March of Dimes reported.

The joint effort was announced last month, but a United Press International dispatch, dated Jan. 6 and published in the Independent-Journal, omitted the fact that the drive would be aimed solely at business and industry and that the agencies would continue their traditional and independent fund raising in the community at large.

A subsequent report in the Independent-Journal also failed to clarify the business community as the target of the drive.

No date has been set for the health campaign.

Such a campaign would be in competition with the United Bay Area Crusade which has said it is stopping contributions to several agencies.

Agencies joined in the new drive are the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis Foundation, the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the American Heart Association, the Kidney Foundation, the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., the National Association for Retarded Children, the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, the United Cerebral Palsy Group, the Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Tidelands Case Goes To Tribunal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court Tuesday took under submission the tideland water question raised by a controversy at Chicken Ranch Beach on Tomales Bay.

The case, which was first filed in 1963 by Larry Marks against Peter Whitney has twice been decided by the District Court of Appeal and was taken over by the state's highest court after the latest decision Oct. 9, 1970.

Attorney Albert Monaco argued that there was a navigational easement of the tideland in front of the land owned by his client Whitney.

He said the waters could be used by any member of the public for swimming, walking, boating or fishing and should not be filled for the private profit of Marks.

Monaco said two statutes adopted two days apart in 1868 had been brought into the case and that the one of March 30 applied only to waters within five miles of San Francisco. Tomales Bay was affected only by the statute of March 28, which was applicable to the entire state, he said.

Deputy Attorney General N. Gregory Taylor shared time with Monaco and said the state was asking only that the court declare an easement did exist.

Attorney Wallace S. Myers, representing Marks whose claim to the tideland dates back to an 1871 deed, argued that there was no showing of any deprivation of any public rights and that the case had been merely a quarrel between Whitney and Marks until it went up on appeal.

The attorney general entered the case on the ground that the issue could affect the right of Californians to hundreds of thousands of acres of tidelands throughout the state.

Compromise Reached On Ignacio Park

The City of Novato has reached a compromise with Soiland Associates on limitation of office space at Ignacio Industrial Park, along Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, near Hamilton Industrial Park.

Soiland last week gained approval of the Marin County Planning Commission to allocate 37 acres of its planned 250-acre development for offices, banks and retail stores.

Novato protested, contending that extensive office space at the Industrial Park would hinder the city's plan to devleop office use in downtown Novato.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said yesterday Soiland proposed using 18 acres for office and retail space.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown explained that Soiland was willing to compromise because it wanted city support when its plan goes to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for final approval.

A city council meeting, scheduled for last night in the event a compromise wasn't reached, was convened and adjourned by a staff member as a formality. Councilmen didn't meet.

Progress Erases 'Atomic Shadow'

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI)— The last of Hiroshima's atomic "shadows"—outlines of people burned into walls of buildings by the heat of the Aug. 6, 1945 U.S. nuclear bombing—disappeared Tuesday.

Workmen tore down the Hiroshima branch of the Sumitomo Bank, which had for 26 years carried the outline of a woman incinerated by the blast.

Such atomic "shadows" were a common sight in the years after the first wartime atomic bombing but they gradually disappeared as roads were repaved and buildings torn down.

Saroyan Magic Is Sad, Funny

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO — William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life" — as seen last night in its American Conservatory Theater open — was probably a nostalgic experience for some and for many others a new avenue of exploration into human behavior.

Times may have changed since the play's triumphant opening 32 years ago, but Saroyan's characters are as alive now as then.

We still have our Joes, who would like to let time stay suspended; sad prostitutes, militant elements of society. From these three factors alone, the play seems more somber than when Saroyan wrote it.

Generally speaking it is a worthy ACT venture, though at times the acting in last night's opener was more pastoral than alive and sparkling. It was like looking through a thin coat of Bay Area fog.

As Joe, Ken Ruta, one of the company's key actors, seemed to be too detached in the rather long first act. However, he managed to convey some sparkle in Act II, especially in the gum-chewing scene.

Scott Thomas, as Joe's admirer and disciple, was by far the steadiest performer of the evening. His was a complete characterization of a grown man who would always remain a boy.

"THE TIME OF OUR LIFE" — A comedy-drama in two acts by William Saroyan. Presented by the American Conservatory Theater of San Francisco. Directed by Edward Hastings; scenery by Jackson De Govia; costumes by Elizabeth Covey; lighting by Ward Russell and music by Harold Zollman. The cast: newsboy, Caleb Donat; the drunkard, Jerry Glover' Willie, Mark Wheeler; Joe, Ken Ruta; Nick, Jim Baker; Tom, Scott Thomas; Kitty Duva, Joy Carlin; Dudley, Mark Bramhall; Harry, Michael Cavanaugh; Wesley, John Hancock; Lorene, Kathleen Harper; Blick, Jeff Chandler; Arab, Martin Berman; Mary L., Michael Learned; Krupp, Patrick Gorman; McCarthy, Dudley Knight; Kit Carson, William Paterson; sailor, David Gilliam; Elsie, Suzanne Collins; a killer, Deborah Sussel; her side-kick, Lee McCain; a society lady, Anne Lawder, and a society gentleman, Josef Sommer.

Helping Thomas to bring the action alive at Nick's Pacific Street Saloon, Restaurant and Entertainment Palace at the foot of San Francisco's Embarcadero, was William Paterson, another ACT veteran, as Kit Carson, a tall teller of tales.

Other assorted characters floated through Nick's swinging doors throughout the evening, such as Kitty Duval, the prostitute, played by Joy Carlin. I know in a company such as ACT's, the rotating plays sometimes keep the top personnel from all the better roles, but it would have been interesting to see how Michael Learned, who had the small part of Mary L., would have handled the role.

Other notables in the large cast included Michael Cavanaugh as Harry the hoofer; Jeff Chandler as the vice squad "heel" (Saroyan's definition); Patrick Gorman as the policeman who really hates his beat; his close boyhood friend McCarthy, the longshoreman by Dudley Knight, and Mark Wheeler as the pinball machine fanatic.

The set designed by Jackson DeGovia captured the mood of a real waterfront dive and Elizabeth Covey's costumes aided the authenticity of the period.

Though the cast was not as strong overall as seen in other ACT productions this season, it's a play I strongly urge you to see — just for the magic of Saroyan's prose, sometimes humorous, but more often very humanistic and sometimes very sad.

The play now joins ACT's rotating repertory.

New Recreation Program Eyed

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission is investigating the possibility of operating a school playground recreation program all year.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said the staff recommended to commissioners Monday night that the program now operating summers be expanded to two days a week after school and Saturdays during the school year.

Commissioners asked for information about costs and staffing, Adams said.

Piano Students To Perform On Saturday

Dominican College's Department of Music Preparatory Division will present two 12-year-old piano students of faculty member Carol Roth in a recital Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Angelico Hall, Room 111, on the San Rafael campus.

Laurie Benson and Brian Grant will play works by Beethoven and Mozart, including the Mozart Sonata K 19 for Four Hands.

Behr Asks Stiff Fines On Pollution

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to stiffen water pollution penalties to the tune of $6,000 a day was introduced today by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael.

The bill would broaden the civil penalty of $6,000 a day under the Porter-Cologne Water Quality Control Act to include accidental or intentional discharges of oil or other pollutants into state waters.

Such pollution now can be prosecuted only as litter, with a maximum fine of $500.

Behr's measure also would give regional water quality control boards more muscle in enforcing the present law by enabling their staffs to seek immediate court action to levy the penalty instead of waiting for a regional board's monthly meeting to issue a cease and desist order.

Present law limits the penalty to dischargers who violate a board cease and desist order, but no penalty can be imposed for violating established waste discharge requirements or for accidental pollution, such as last month's oil spill in San Francisco Bay when two oil tankers collided.

Behr said that regional boards now were "helpless in combating countless conditions of pollution which occur before a regional board has time to meet and issue a cease and desist order."

Behr said that he was asked by the State Water Resources Control Board to carry the legislation. Similar provisions were dropped from the Porter-Cologne Act in order to get it passed into law in 1969.

Water Bond Sale Nets $19,603

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Water Project bonds totaling $100 million have been sold at an average net interest rate of 5.518 per cent.

Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest said the low bidder Tuesday was a syndicate managed by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City, and it included the First National City Bank, New York City, United California, San Francisco, and Salomon Bros., New York City.

The bid carried a $19,603 premium.

Proceeds from the sale will retire $100 million in one-year water bond anticipation notes issued last June, Mrs. Priest said.

The Series N bonds will mature serially from June 1, 1980, through June 1, 2020.

'Adaptation' Fails To Really Ignite

By KAY KSANDA

Elaine May is something of a wild and wonderful wit. While her former comedy partner, Mike Nichols, has been establishing himself as a producer and director with such recent credits as "The Graduate" and "Catch 22", she has been gaining her own reputation in the movie business.

In between, she has written a one-act play.

Last year "Adaptation," written and directed by Miss May opened in New York. The play recieved very good reviews and was produced in San Francisco later in the year by the American Conservatory Theater; again, good reviews.

Last night "Adaptation" was produced as a one-nighter by the ACT touring company at Angelico Hall, Dominican College in San Rafael. The comedy received some giggles, but very few laughs.

Miss May's hero is a pawn. He has no dilemma. He plays the game of adaptation on a life-sized board like the games of life or Monopoly. From birth to death, his goal is to find the "security square." With a lot of buzzing and "dings" from the games master's bell, the contestant jumps, leaps, and lurches from emotional fulfillment squares to maturity squares. As he takes a step toward success "ding!" he has failed in "adaptation-resolution", and must take a step back into the penalty box. Seven big and bright boxes on a bare stage make the set.

The action is tense, too fast and garbled. The four actors, the games master, two players, and contestant) know their lines and the expected laughter like wound-up clocks. They switch wigs, change identities, and hardly pause in their effort to finish the game. They have it down to 47 minutes. A lot of the lines are lost.

Lines not lost are: "Dad, I've always had a dream. I want to major in Hotel Management in College."

"Son, I wanted more than anything else to own a liquor store,"

"I understand Dad, you're trying to tell me to have something to fall back on. I'll minor in cinematography." (the audience breaks up.)

Or later in life: "Here I am in charge of all the linens in the Chicago Hilton, and something has happened that I waited for all my life. The Democratic National Convention is in Chicago!"

"Move to one side Son, you're in front of the TV set."

"I forgave them the war, I forgave them the taxes, I even forgave them the Warren Commission, but stealing all those towels and pillowcases!"

Such dialogue is the backbone of the play.

ACT will be touring the Bay Area with "Adaptation," and is not scheduled for a repeat in Marin.

"ADAPTATION" — A one-act comedy by Elaine May; presented by the American Conservatory Theater; directed by James Milton. The cast: games master, James Branch; player, Leo Schaff; player, Sharyn Goldman; contestant, John Getz.

Ensemble To Perform Sunday

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will present a concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in St. Sebastian's Catholic Church in Kentfield.

Singers, brass instruments, percussion and the organ played by Dr. Wolff will be featured with brass instruments performing from the gallery, as heard at St. Mark's Church in Venice.

After Dinner Serve Fruit And Wine

A growing trend is taking hold at American dinner tables. It's the inclination to serve fruit and wine for dessert, especially after heavy company meals.

Fruit desserts are usually rather light and simple but take on sophistication when paired with one of the rich dessert wines from California's vineyards.

The variety of dessert wines makes it easy for a hostess to find just the wine she wants to complement the fruit she has chosen and to climax her dinner.

Sweet or cream sherry is an old favorite. The wine's deep golden color is often a near-amber hue which invites leisurely savoring along with the dessert it accompanies.

Port is another classic dessert wine. It may be labeled ruby, tawny, tinta or white, depending on its color and the grapes from which it was made. Ports are sweet, rich wines, delicious at the end of a meal with fruit, cheese or nuts.

Red or gold muscatel, tokay, black muscat, muscat frontignan, madeira and marsala are among other dessert wines which enrich any dinner. All of these wines, including port and sherry, are usually poured at cool room temperature in 3-ounce servings. They're so pretty in clear, stemmed glasses that show off their rich wine colors, they're often served as the dessert itself.

SHERRY-HONEY POACHED APPLES

4 cooking apples
¾ cup sherry
¾ cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash salt

Pare and core apples, and cut into eighths. Heat sherry, honey, lemon juice and salt together. Add apple slices and simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes, just until tender, basting frequently. Cool in syrup. Serve drained with cheese balls, or in syrup with whipped cream or sour cream. Serves 4.

California sherry works well with pears also. Canned or cooked fresh pear halves take on company manners when topped with Sherry Fluff Sauce and served with glasses of the wine used to make it.

Snow-Capped Grapefruit is another out-of-the-ordinary dessert which calls on sherry for flavor. Basically, this is a baked Alaska with sweetened grapefruit as its base.

SNOW-CAPPED GRAPEFRUIT

3 grapefruit
3 tablespoons powdered sugar
⅓ cup California sweet Sherry
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Wash and dry grapefruit; cut crosswise in halves. Remove seeds, loosen segments with a sharp knife, and remove center cores. Pour off any juice. Sprinkle some of the powdered sugar and wine over each half. Chill several hours. Shortly before dessert time, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in granulated sugar; add vanilla. Heap some of the ice cream on top of each chilled grapefruit half; cover with meringue, making sure the meringue covers the ice cream completely and comes all the way to the edge of the grapefruit. Place on a baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 4 to 5 minutes, or just until meringue is delicately browned. (Watch carefully to prevent burning!) Serve immediately. Serves 6.

The exotic combination of flavors and the accompanying glass of port make Wine Ginger Peaches a memorable dessert that's easy to fix.

WINE GINGER PEACHES

2 (No. 2½ cans cling peach halves
¾ cup ginger marmalade (or ¾ cup orange marmalade plus 2 tablespoons chopped candied ginger)
½ cup port
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
½ cup commercial sour cream
2 tablespoons brown sugar

Drain peaches. Heat marmalade and wine together to boiling. Add peaches, cut side up. Simmer and baste about 5 minutes. Transfer peaches to glass serving bowl. Simmer wine and marmalade another 3 to 4 minutes to reduce and thicken slightly. Add lemon juice. Pour over peaches. Let stand overnight. Soften cream cheese with fork. Beat in sour cream and brown sugar. Serve as topping for peaches. Serves 6 to 8.

Good Dressing Is Crowning Glory Of Refreshing Salad

A change of pace meal — such as a filling salad, rolls and a sweet — will give a hint of the warm weather ahead.

This week, why not combine some of those leftovers in a refreshing salad? Or, make a hearty salad from "scratch." Chicken salad, ham salad, shrimp salad or vegetable salad in a gelatin base will stir the appetites of all. A good dressing spooned on top of each salad mound will be the crowning glory.

Here is a quick and easy dressing that will enhance just about any meat or vegetable salad. The flavor secret is zesty American blue cheese. The cheese may be stored in the refrigerator just as easily as the leftovers, but it will last much longer because a little tastes like a lot.

BREATH OF SPRING DRESSING

½ cup sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
⅓ cup American blue cheese (about 2 ounces, crumbled)

Pineapple And Chicken For An Oriental Treat

Pineapple and chicken can do wonders for each other. Tender fryers and canned pineapple, available all year around, combine for an oriental accented glazed pineapple chicken.

The sweet sour sauce of canned pineapple syrup, soy sauce and seasonings is cooked with browned chicken breasts so all flavors meld as quietly and as gently as an Oriental scene. Just a few minutes before the chicken is cooked, canned pineapple slices are added to heat thoroughly and are glazed with the sauce.

ORIENTAL GLAZED PINEAPPLE CHICKEN

1 (8¼-ounce) can pineapple slices
1½ tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons catsup
4 boned and skinned raw chicken breasts
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 teaspoons cornstarch

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Mix together reserved pineapple syrup, soy sauce, vinegar, honey and catsup. Spoon over chicken breasts. Cover and refrigerate for 1 or 2 hours. Drain, reserving marinade. In a heavy skillet, heat together 1 tablespoon butter and oil. Add chicken and brown well. Mix cornstarch with reserved marinade and remaining 1 tablespoon butter. Heat to boiling and pour over chicken in skillet. Cover tightly. Bring to boil; reduce heat and cook slowly about 25-30 minutes or until chicken is tender. During cooking, baste with pan sauce several times to glaze chicken. About five minutes before chicken is cooked, add drained pineapple slices to heat and glaze. Serves 4.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef Shank Cross Cuts.

Q. Where do they come from? How are they identified?

A. Beef cross cut shanks are made by cutting the fore shank perpendicular to the bone. The cross cuts, varying in thickness from 1 to 2½ inches, contain considerable connective tissue as well as a round bone.

Q. How are they prepared?

A. As they are a less tender cut, long and slow moist heat cookery is recommended. Cross cuts make a meaty soup. Brown 3 to 4 pounds of cross cuts in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings, add 2 quarts water and seasonings, cover and cook over low heat for 2 hours. Add vegetables, such as potatoes, carrots, celery, rutabaga or turnips and simmer, covered, about 30 minutes longer or until meat and vegetables are tender.

Salad Greens

Use imagination in selecting salad greens. For interesting texture and flavor, try chicory, water cress, endive, spinach, beet tops, dandelion greens, mint and celery tops.

ORCHIDS MUST be fed and sprayed and taken care of like a child," says Mrs. John Lesoine, who grows them in a greenhouse adjacent to her home in Ross. She spends at least half an hour every day, half a day once a week and several hours twice a week working on the orchids. "You can't neglect them, and it takes a constant routine," she says. "But the results are well worth it."

Prize Winning Orchids Grow In Ross Greenhouse

Perhaps it was because she was born and reared in the snow and cold of Canada that Mrs. John A. Lesoine of Ross, raises prize-winning orchids in her own greenhouse.

Or perhaps it is because of an artistic talent that enables her to offer musical recitals and to paint at a near-professional level that Mrs. Lesoine enjoys growing her beautiful hot house plants.

Members of the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers and their guests have the opportunity to see Mrs. Lesoine's orchids next Wednesday at the Valentine's tea and orchid display in her Del Mesa home.

FLORENCE LESOINE has won several blue and red ribbons for her orchids in competitions sponsored by the San Francisco Orchid Society. But prizes and shows are not why she devotes herself to her orchids.

She spends at least a half-hour each day in her greenhouse working on the orchids. At least once a week she spends half a day at this task, and twice a week it takes several hours.

"Orchids must be fed and sprayed and taken care of like a child," she says. "You can't neglect them, and it takes a constant routine. But the results are well worth it."

Mrs. Lesoine is from Montreal, where she went to school, and to this day she winces when she thinks of the cold and the snow, which she calls, "that white stuff."

SHE HAS lived in Ross for more than 20 years, and about 12 years ago a lath house was built adjacent to her house so that she could grow flowers indoors. Two years afterward, the greenhouse was constructed nearby to provide the enclosed conditions required by her orchids, and by the African violets which she also grows there.

She spends time in her outdoor garden, too, with camellias as a prime example of the beautiful flowers which make her home so lovely. But the greenhouse, heated by pipes containing hot water in a manner similar to home radiant heating, is her joy.

Mrs. Lesoine finds time for her orchids while still nurturing her musical talent. She has been a professional singer, and has trained with several prominent music teachers in San Francisco.

Mrs. Lesoine, a mezzo-soprano, was a pupil of the late Easton Kent, and presently works with Mrs. Ione Pastori Rix. She is active in the Marin Music Chest, the Symphony Guild and the Thursday Musical Club, where she has given several recitals.

MRS. JOHN Lesoine waters the plants in the greenhouse of her Ross home. Her orchids have won several ribbons in competitions sponsored by the San Francisco Orchid Society and will be on display at the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers Valentines tea to be held at her home next Wednesday.

BUT NO NUDE SCENES

Breaking The 'Georgy Girl' Image

London Express Service

"Perhaps it's prudishness on my part, but I just won't appear nude in a film."

There was nothing apologetic about the way Lynn Redgrave delivered the line; no hint of bitterness when she went on to say that she'd lost count of the number of parts she hadn't got because of her refusal to strip.

"There are certain parts that I'd love to play that I'll never get. It limits me terribly because almost every other actress will take her clothes off.

"There is a sort of elite band of us who won't; Elizabeth Taylor, Racquel Welch and some others. One feels that one is in pretty good company."

"Ultimately it doesn't really matter but at the moment films are going through a sort of phase where it's obligatory even when it's unnecessary. In certain films, of course, it's very necessary. Films like 'Women in Love' and 'The Devils' which my sister has just shot.

Her sister is Vanessa Redgrave who is not renowned for prudishness.

"I'M HAPPY to see it," went on Lynn. "But I won't do it. I don't like the idea of appearing nude in front of the crew, let alone the fifty million people who eventually see the film. My husband doesn't like the idea either. And imagine opening the door to the milkman after he'd seen a film in which one had appeared naked!"

"The fact is, it's your last realm of privacy and . . . well, one might be terribly deformed.

Amusing, immensely likeable and extremely talented (as befits a member of the illustrious Redgrave family) most things written about her are true.

There is no trace of vanity, and her dressing room at London's Garrick Theatre (where she is currently playing six roles in Michael Fryan's two player set of comedies "The Two Of Us") full of reminders of her "blissfully happy" marriage to photographer John Clark and of their two children whom she "quite disgustingly" loves.

Every available square inch of wall was covered with watercolors painted by Benjamin and Kelly, and their photographs outnumbered good luck telegrams on her dressing table.

BUT, SOMEHOW, one false myth lingers on; that she looks like the fat, unattractive girl she played in "Georgy Girl", the movie that made her an international star, earned her the rapturous praise of the critics and an Oscar nomination.

Let me bury that myth for once and for all. Lynn Redgrave, at 27, is tall, slim and stunningly attractive with an abundance of red-gold hair.

She put on a few pounds for "Georgy".

"I don't think many actresses would have gone as far as I did. I looked pretty awful and it did hurt my pride after being interviewed on the set to find myself described as some sort of plea for the plain girl.

"Would I do it now? I don't know. I still think I would recognize a marvellous part."

She lost the additional weight after the film, but not the image.

"IT WAS A handicap in some ways. At first, the only sort of parts I seemed to be offered were for fat unattractive girls. But there was obviously another side. The film was — and this surprised me — a very big success and it was a help because I became known in a bigger way."

She became famous — "but the only useful part about that is, you are offered more interesting parts to play. That's marvellous. Being recognized in the street, asked for autographs — that's all unimportant. Anyway, all that's changing now. I think it's virtually irrelevant."

Surprisingly, as a girl, Lynn didn't want to be an actress.

Some people would say I was resisting it. I don't know. I suppose there must have been a certain amount of resistance from me because everyone else in the family acted. And because I didn't feel that I could act. I never had and I wasn'tparticularly stage-struck until I was 16. Then I became stage struck in a very teenage way. Until then, my great love was horses and I loved jumping. When I became stage struck I realized I hadn't the nerve to jump in a big way which was what I wanted to do. I found was what I wanted to do. I found that if I couldn't do it particularly well, I didn't want to do it at all. I hardly ever ride now."

"I suffer appallingly from first night nerves. With me they take a funny form. I tend to yawn a lot and get very tired which is terrible. It's the worst sort of nerves — yawning. It means you've got a lack of oxygen — you're tensing up."

There are, says Lynn, lots of offers for Sir Michael Redgrave's "Bloody Marvels" (As his wife Rachel Kempson and children Corin, Vanessa and Lynn are known in showbiz circles) to appear in a stage production together.

"About four offers a month, actually. We get out of them as fast as we can. It would be unbearable."

Lynn's latest film is a screen version of the Tennessee Williams' play "The Seven Descants of Myrtle", titled "Blood Kin" in the United States although this may be changed when it is released in Britain this year.

IT'S THE story of a girl and two half brothers — one white, one black — in the deep South. Lynn plays a gum-chewing Southern girl who marries the white brother (James Coburn) and falls in love with the black one (Robert Hooks).

The movie was shot in Louisiana.

"There was a lot of worry about going there to make this kind of a film. We had a dummy script with certain references excluded in case the local people got to know what it was about.

"Robert Hooks had previously shot "Hurry Sundown" there and he had a really terrible time. He was barred from restaurants, he got threatening letters about his kids and the drivers on the film used to carry shot guns.

"IT WAS very strange when we got there. Suddenly one realized that this man you are working with — whose color you are not aware of — can't just come up to you and say good morning and put his arm round you. And you can't do the same. It's a very nervy feeling. It was a horrible situation. Nothing actually happened but there were a lot of crazy, crazy people around. They wanted a bit of fun. That's the way they look at it."

Lynn has no roles lined up at the moment for when "The Two Of Us" finishes its run and she's waiting to see what comes along. She says she would eventually like to go back to the National Theatre, but not yet. "I'd like to wait until I'm a little older and can get into another realm of parts." And one day she would like to "have a stab" at St. Joan.

"You know, the female 'Hamlet'."

LYNN REDGRAVE

'History Of The Chicano Must Be Taught In Schools'

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Literature, history and the culture of the Mexican-American must be taught in the schools, Anthony Medrano, instructor at Tamalpais High School and College of Marin said last night at a meeting presented by the Novato Branch of the American Association of University Women and the Marin County YWCA.

For the first in four Tuesday evening lectures, a very small audience was present at the program given to further multicultural understanding.

Medrano chose as his topic, "The Chicano, Voices of the Farm Worker in the Salinas Valley and Beyond" and his topic went far beyond the Salinas Valley.

"What are we?" he said. "I am an American." The Chicano, descendant of people who were here before the search for gold in California and the Alamo, when the Southwest and Texas were lost to the United States.

The Texans don't like to hear it, he said, but they are really the first Mexican Americans, he said.

He attacked the missions of California saying they helped "destroy our people."

A graduate of the University of San Francisco he attended graduate school at the University of California and was working towards a master's degree at the University of California when he married his wife of Irish ancestry.

He is vice chairman and education chairman of the Marin Human Rights Commission and is a member of the Association of Mexican-American Education. In this capacity he previews text books of Mexican-American history published for the schools.

If history is incorrect in the books he tells them, "Hey, that's wrong," and refuses the books. In one book that he turned down on the history of California, among 184 pictures in the book were only 10 pictures of minorities, all showing a certain quaintness, and only three of those pictures of Mexican-Americans.

Son of immigrant Mexican parents, he formerly taught the Chicanos at San Quentin where he said there are 800 Chicanos among the 4000 inmates. He found his textbooks disappearing and books he ordered for his classes never arriving. He finally called the principa some uncomplimentary names and now he is no longer teacher there, he said.

Of the Chicanos at San Quentin, 85 per cent are there fo some drug offense and 82 pe cent are there because of th use or possession of marijuana

More Meats In Future Diets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans as eaters in 1980 will consume more food —particularly red meats and poultry, will eat fewer eggs, dairy products and fresh fruits, will buy more frozen and prepared foods, and will eat out more often.

The trend is among those cited in a new report issued by Chase Manhattan Bank on "Food Prices and Marketing Trends in the United States." The statisticians said the trends in eating habits will be coupled with a 2.5 per cent per year increase in food prices. The food budget, they said, will represent a smaller portion of the average American family's income in 1980 than it does today.

Narcotics Addicts And Tooth Decay

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A dental educator says dentistry must take its proper place within the national health team when it comes to the rehabilitation of narcotic addicts.

Dr. Stewart Shapiro, of Baltimore, told the American Dental Association convention here that: "... Dental health scientists must accumulate all the epidemiologic data associated with this disease so that as a profession, when called upon to render our services, we will have full awareness of the scope of therapy which will be required." Shapiro said one study had shown that confirmed active narcotic addicts and nonactive addicts had slightly higher decay rates than nonaddicts.

Almost Two-Thirds Of Horrible Halloween Stunts Were Hoaxes

DEAR HELEN:

It's a little late for comment about Halloween, but I thought you'd like to know that you and the fellow who doubted the authenticity of all the atrocity stories were right: A study of police investigators' files shows that almost two-thirds of such incidents turn out to be hoaxes, exaggerations, or cover-ups.

While there are a few depraved people who put razor blades in Halloween apples and lace candy with soap, there are also spiteful kids who even the score with "mean" neighbors by planting broken glass in their gifts of popcorn balls.

The much publicized case of the boy who died "after he ate trick or treat candy filled with heroin" was a phony — but the follow-up story didn't get much play. It turns out the five-year-old got a heroin capsule at his uncle's house by accident. Later a member of his family confessed to having "salted" Halloween candy to protect the guilty.

The facts, according to detectives in several large cities are:

No known serious injuries have occurred from booby-trapped treats.

Only one person has ever admitted to booby-trapping Halloween treats, and she was later placed in a mental institution. Hers was the only known arrest.

Horror stories about poisoned goodies and pins in fruit are widely publicized and discussed. The follow-up of truth after thorough investigation, seldom makes big headlines, if any.

Thus parents become so frightened that they accompany their kids on the rounds and forbid travelling out of their neighborhood (a good thing, but sad it must be brought about through fear).

Actually last October 31 was one of the quietest Halloweens in recent years, says a Los Angeles police department spokesman. It may be even quieter next year, for scare stories seldom die. — ALLEN

DEAR HELEN:

You can't imagine how thrilled we've been by the response of your wonderful readers to our drive to collect Betty Crocker coupons for kidney machines in our Regional Dialysis Center. We've received coupons from all over the United States, and may we thank via your column the vast number of HHU fans who responded so generously?

Helen, as you've probably heard, General Mills has announced it will discontinue redeeming Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving devices because of accusations that the firm was trading on human misery. Unfortunately most of the newspaper items on this policy change did not mention that already-started projects which were approved by the company prior to December 1, 1970, can redeem coupons until May 31, 1971. There is still time for us and other non-profit, registered groups to collect the necessary amount for our goal. If we don't, the company will give the institution we designate credits for life-saving equipment to be applied toward a purchase.

Would you please mention the May 31 deadline in your column, so that many hospitals and centers throughout the country may still receive assistance in buying these vitally needed machines? — E. H. Saddle River Reformed Church, 500 East Saddle River Road, Upper Saddle River, New Jersey, 07458

DEAR E.:

I'll be glad to mention your project, and also those of The Candy Stripers at Sutter Memorial Hospital, Sacramento, California and a group at Roseville Hospital, Roseville, Calif. These are among the many organizations who have registered with General Mills to collect Betty Crocker coupons for kidney machines and other life-saving equipment.

Keep those coupons pouring in until May 31, 1971, you collectors out there.

DEAR HELEN:

About the company decision to discontinue redeeming Betty Crocker coupons for life-saving hospital equipment: Isn't it a shame that a company like General Mills will overlook the thousands of grateful "thank you's" and cave in to a very few charges that it is "profiteering from misfortune"? Would a barrage of letters asking for reconsideration of this policy change help keep our kidney machine projects going? — W. Z.

Nadar's Advice On Bad Cars

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — If you are thinking of buying a car or trying to have one repaired properly, Ralph Nader and two associates have a few thousand words of advice for you.

They are wrapped up in a paperback book with a picture of a big lemon on wheels and a title: "What to Do With Your Bad Car: An Action Manual for Lemon Owners." It costs $2.95, from Grossman Publishers, New York.

Actually, the symbol of a lemon as a rare exception to the rule is not exactly what Nader has in mind. For he clearly feels that there are so many things wrong with every car that all of them qualify as "lemons."

The fact is that, like people, no car is perfect or completely defect-free. It's a rare product that is in these times. So the real point of the book is how to protect yourself against all the tricks, traps and just plain human errors that go with buying or repairing a car.

Reading the book is somewhat like having a private two-hour interview with Nader. He is frank to say that your chances of getting full value for your money and maxiumum safety, or getting satisfaction in having defects handled properly, are not great.

BUT HE SHOWS in many practical ways how you can improve those chances. As models, he cites numerous cases in which consumers who chose to fight have succeeded in getting at least some satisfaction. And he suggests some novel methods to use.

Among the precautions suggested in buying a car are:

Avoid optional equipment that increases the chance of repair costs, such as air conditioners, automatic speed controls, eyelid headlamp covers, power windows and power antennas.

Request a copy of the dealer's pre-delivery service and adjustment check sheet as evidence that the vehicle has been checked for defects.

Ask to see the dealer's agreement to provide tire warranty service at the auto dealership. Many dealers are reluctant to acknowledge their responsibility for tire defects as well as vehicle defects.

Try to get the dealer to agree to Nader's model "Consumer's Warranty," a copy of which is included in the book. Your chances here are small, Nader admits, but the effort may someday bring results.

CHECK VITAL points yourself, before accepting the car. These are listed as brakes, tires, steering action, latches, body damage. Also, see that all options are there and in good working order. Nader even suggests a thorough test drive, a privilege few dealers are willing to grant.

Most of the rest of the book is a discussion of ways to get defects corrected and repairs corrected properly. These include: going to the dealer himself, contacting the manufacturer, informing legislators and even the President. The office and home addresses of company presidents are listed.

The book tells how to strengthen your case, how to get through to the proper official, what to do when you get no response, what your rights are regardless of what the warranty says and when to press a legal suit.

There is even a section on "last resorts," such as publicizing a complaint with picket signs, "lemon" signs on cars, bumper stickers, and other means. The value of group action is also described in detail.

There is one other day to avoid auto repair problems. It is symbolized by Nader but not mentioned. He simply doesn't buy cars.

Watches Not Repaired

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's time watch repair companies minimized consumer complaints, says the New York Better Business Bureau. The bureau said it received 1,148 complaints from watch owners in 1969, an increase of 33 per cent over the previous year. Equally high figures are expected from 1970, the bureau said.

Mexican-Americans In California Books

he inquired of his audience?

"Do you know what EMR is?" he again inquired of his audience. Of the Educable Mentally Retarded classes in Santa Clara County, 85 per cent are Mexican-Americans he said. "We had to threaten San Francisco with a lawsuit to have the IQ tests administered in Spanish," he said.

He did not mention other high schools in Marin County, but he said there are 337 readily identifiable Mexican-American surnames in the Novato Elementary School District and 78 at the Novato High School. He had no answer to what's happening to the students and questioned whether they were children of Hamilton (Air Force Base) people. He said he was sure Mr. Mobley (Paul Mobley, assistant superintendent of schools in the Novato Unified School District) would cooperate in finding the answers.

Cesar Chavez has been a friend of the Medrano family since the instructor was a sophomore in high school. At that time Chavez was national chairman of the community service organization.

It's strange, Medrano said, but the Chicano farm workers were the first to win a battle for their people.

There is page after page of injustices of "Sheriffs, cops and at San Quentin" against the Chicano, he said, but they have not had to face a Mexican Watts.

The Mexican-American is thought of as a migrant farmworker, but of the 82 per cent of Mexican-American descent in California, 86 per cent are urban dwellers, mostly in the cities, he said.

He told of his father being ashamed of being a migrant worker, but he said he has told his father to be proud. He has helped agriculture in California. His father "got to the sixth grade" and his mother had a second grade education.

Medrano told his father about the fine hospital plan and dental care the teachers had with the Tamalpais School District. His father said, "What have you given to receive this? Don't make too much noise, I don't want you to go through what I did. They may fire you."

The Mexican-American is forgetting his language and those that receive status in the United States and make money forget their heritage, he said.

He hopes a program will be worked out in the schools where the Chicano can learn English and the English speaking Spanish.

He said his children are bilingual and his youngest son, Emiliano, says "buenas noches" each night as he goes to bed to portraits of the Medrano "heroes" Virgen de Guadalupe, Emiliano Zapata, Che Guevara and Angela Davis and a 15th Century crucifix.

Sausalito 'Prefers' Most Expensive Rapid Transit

By PAT ANGLE

With some hesitation and over the strenuous objections of one councilman, the Sausalito City Council last night went on record as "preferring" the most costly of the Golden Gate Bridge District's five possible plans for long-range transit for Marin.

The proposal which won the limited approval calls for a subway system proceeding from San Francisco over a second deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, then underground through the western hills of Sausalito. The plan includes stations in Fort Baker and the Marinship area of Sausalito.

The council informed the bridge district that the city will have to approve any terminal site in Marinship and said it wants to see continued emphasis on ferry service between San Francisco and Sausalito.

The action came on the recommendation of Planning Director H. Eric Borgwardt, who studied the five plans. He said the district's first alternate plan, which will cost the most money, would have "the least negative impact" on the city.

But Councilman Stephen A. Fraser apparently felt even the "least impact" was too much and voted to reject the proposal. Councilman Wyman Hicks, who left the meeting early, did not vote.

While admitting future rapid transit might be desirable for the forts (for recreation) and central and northern Marin (for commuting), Fraser said he did not feel Sausalito needed rapid transit. "I think a ferry system and buses are enough for Sausalito," he explained.

Fraser said he would prefer the district's proposal to build an underwater tube to Central Marin, but the council rejected that plan because of its possible effect on the Sausalito waterfront. "We don't want rapid transit through our waterfront; that's too fragile an area," Mayor Alexander R. Imlay said flatly. He indicated he did not want to see ventilator buildings, needed below ground or underwater transit tubes, dotting the bay.

Mrs. Sweeny objected to the term "Marinship" which figured in most of the district's alternate plans, saying it covered too large an area. "I wouldn't mind a terminal at the northern border of Sausalito, but I certainly don't want to see one on, say, Spring Street, which is also Marinship," she said. "That could destroy the city."

City engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger, objected to a transit station for Marinship, saying all the lands the city would lose for stations, parking lots and the like would reduce the tax rolls. He also said he felt rapid transit in Sausalito would "increase the congestion and the cost of police and fire protection."

Borgwardt replied that modern transit systems, such as Bay Area Rapid Transit, have raised the value of surrounding lands "substantially," enough to offset any loss in revenue from lands used for the system.

The council also rejected two other proposals by the bridge district, one which called for a station in the Spencer Avenue area and another which proposed an aerial (elevated) rapid transit structure along Highway 101.

Caledonia Street Reopening Deferred

After listening to objections from several residents, the Sausalito City Council last night deferred action on a proposal to make permanent a temporary closure of a one-block portion of Caledonia Street between San Carlos Avenue and Johnson Street.

The council referred the plan, proposed by Fire Chief Charles E. Masten, to the city planning commission for further study and recommendations.

Masten told the council the trial closure of the street (between the city fire and police stations) for the last six months while the fire station was being remodeled "has not caused the citizens of Sausalito any particular problem."

Masten said the one-block area, if closed, could provide a training area for fire department personnel and parking for both policemen and firemen.

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said he thought the city should research the title to that part of Caledonia before making any decision on the closure. He explained it was possible that the persons who dedicated the land to the city for a street, might have specified the area remain a public street or revert back to the original owner.

George Changaris, of 118 Spencer Avenue, complained that voters asked to approve funds for expansion and remodeling of the police and fire stations in 1969 were not made aware that permanent closure of Caledonia was part of the deal.

And Howard Chadd, of 77 Central Avenue, objected to having to turn into Bridgeway tourist traffic from San Carlos on weekends, instead of being able to go down Caledonia.

Councilman Robin Sweeny said "several possibilities," such as making that one block a one-way street, should be looked into. She did not feel the council had enough information on the matter to make an intelligent decision.

The other council members concurred and asked the planning commission to make a thorough study of the situation.

The Sausalito City Council also:

FIRE ORDINANCE — Received a complete fire ordinance from Masten which would change city building requirements to insure each new building in the city would have adequate fire protection built into it. The council asked the chief to work with the city manager to "refine" the city's current fire ordinance to make it more effective.

TOWAWAY ZONE — Introduced an ordinance to establish a towaway zone on Johnson Street opposite the fire station. The fire chief said the zone, which would eliminate one parking space on the street, will make it much easier for fire vehicles leaving the station to turn onto Johnson Street.

SIGNS — Agreed to paint "keep clear" signs on Bridgeway at Johnson and San Carlos to warn motorists on Bridgeway to keep the intersections clear during traffic jams so turns from the two streets would be possible.

CLAIMS — Rejected, and referred to the city's insurance carrier, the following claims: $1,294 claim from Samuel Epstein for injuries received when his bicycle caught in a sewer grating and a $4,750 claim from Peter W. Edmister, who claims he was falsely arrested and "attacked" by a Sausalito police officer last November.

COUNTY DISTRICT — Went on record favoring a county-wide police services district which would take the burden for police protection in unincorporated areas off taxpayers who live in cities and pay city taxes for police service.

CONTRIBUTION — Accepted a $1,000 donation from the Sausalito Foundation to pay for landscaping of the city's newly-remodeled fire station.

LIGHTING PLAN Referred a lighting plan for municipal parking lot No. 1 to the community advisory appearance board. City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the system would cost the city $800 if city employees did the trenching work.

Addition To Home Approved

The Petaluma Board of Zoning Adjustments, over objections of city planning staff, last night approved a variance for a home addition at 1629 Annetta Drive.

Daniel Plumbley requested the variance to permit a 14-foot rearyard setback for the addition. The staff said granting approval might set bad precedent.

The board, however, said the addition would not have a bad effect on the neighborhood and voted unanimously to permit it.

The board also approved home occupation permits for James W. Tapp, income tax and bookkeeping at 1278 Ramona Lane; Flora Hutchinson, ceramics operations at 1309 McKenzie Avenue; Helen I. Rodgers, sewing classes at 313 Eastwood Drive, and Gordon M. Johnson, photography at 33 Payran Street.

Car Stolen From Hub Repair Shop

A 1960 Rambler sedan, owned by Alberts Transmission at 933 Francisco Boulevard, was stolen sometime during the last three weeks, police said.

Herbert W. Mueller of 24 Elm Avenue, San Anselmo, told police yesterday that the car was used by the auto shop as a "loaner" for customers and it was customary to leave the car unlocked with keys over the sun visor.

$60 Robbery In Tiburon

A Tiburon man was robbed of $60 Monday by two men who forced their way into his apartment in the Hilarita Housing Project and held him on his bed while they searched the residence.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said Joseph B. Kemp, of Apartment 73, Building O, reported that he was in bed about 10:45 p.m. when the two men pried open the front door, grabbed him and held him down.

Kemp said one man went through his pockets and searched the room. He told officers the pair found $60 he had hidden in a sock.

Marin Joins Suit Over AFDC Rules

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Marin and six other California counties have filed suit challenging state rules which they say force the issuing of welfare checks to persons earning as much as $16,000 a year.

The suit filed by Alameda, Butte, Marin, San Diego, San Mateo, Santa Clara and Tulare counties objects to regulations in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Such regulations permit families getting AFDC to deduct expenses of daily living from their private pay until their incomes are small enough to qualify for monthly welfare checks, the suit said.

Science Class Is Captivating For Kent Seventh Graders

When seventh graders start the study of astronomy in their science class at Kent School in Kentfield, they're quite likely soon to find themselves members of the Kent School Astronomical Society.

That's because John L. Richard, Kent's seventh grade science teacher for 16 years, has found the youngsters often find astronomy too interesting to drop when they pass on to other portions of the course. One of his former pupils, in fact, now is majoring in astronomy at Stanford University.

Eight years ago, Richard organized the astronomical society. Current membership, he said, is "about 40," which has been the average roll for several years.

The youngsters last year proved their interest by raising more than $200 to buy the club a 600-power telescope.

Mothers and fathers get interested, too, by attending star-watching meetings of the club — at which their sons and daughters show them how to use the telescope and how to identify the stars.

The astronomy club is not the extent of Richard's outside activities for the children. He also has an amateur radio club.

Richard has been at Kent School since completing his education for a teaching credential at University of San Francisco 17 years ago. He also has a master's degree in educational administration from San Francisco State College, and is assistant principal at Kent.

He taught sixth grade one year, then became the seventh grade science teacher — a job he likes so well he wants no other.

He views his extracurricular activities as an extension of the classroom. "When a student gets a little something out of a class, it's a little bit of you," he said, expressing his philosophy as a teacher.

Park Development To Be Discussed

Development of a park plaza in the heart of Sausalito's downtown area will be considered by the Sausalito Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

William Spangle and Associates (developers of Sausalito's central waterfront plan) and Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams, Inc., who formulated the park plaza plan, will present detailed recommendations to the commission.

First Cotati Filing For School Job

Penny-Davis Hanley, a Rohnert Park housewife and secretary, has become the first person to file candidacy papers for the April 20 election to the Cotati School District board.

The terms of Andrew J. Camozzi and Richard G. Lambert will expire.

No one has filed papers for election to the Old Adobe School District Board, Petaluma, also to be held on April 20. Filing closes on Feb. 25 at 5 p.m.

Terms expiring on the Old Adobe board include those of John Thompson and Dora Eldredge. The election will also fill the vacancy left by board member Robert E. Daly when he was appointed to the Petaluma City Council.

Like Timely Gifts

NEW YORK (UPI)—A nationwide survey shows wristwatches are the most popular hard-goods gift item among U.S. college students. More than 88 percent of America's 7 million college students wear watches, and one out of every six owns two or more wristwatches, according to Bulova Watch Co., researchers.

More Candidates Needed For School Board Posts

There has been no great rush of candidates so far for school board positions in Marin County which will be up for election April 20.

In San Rafael, for instance, there may be no contest, in the light of the situation this week.

Terms of three San Rafael Board of Education members expire: those of Herman L. Childress, Carl J. Brown, and John C. Pfeiffer.

Brown and Pfeiffer have both announced they will not be candidates, Brown because he feels eight years on the board is enough, Pfeiffer because he expects to move from San Rafael. Childress had said he probably would not seek another term, but took out a candidacy petition this week.

As of this writing, three such petitions were out, but none had yet been returned to the city clerk's office.

Deadline for filing for the San Rafael board is noon Feb. 11, as the board of education is elected under city election rules. This means that only a week remains for candidates to enter the race.

In other school districts in the county, candidates have until 5 p.m. Feb. 25 to file. Few have done so as yet.

There may be a last-minute rush, but in San Rafael and elsewhere. It does not take long to get 10 signatures to a petition, which is all that are now required in the San Rafael election; and no signature except the candidate's is required for filing for other school boards.

There are, however, disadvantages to waiting until the last minute to file:

1. A potential candidate who might be well qualified holds back thinking there is going to be a large field, and finds out too late — after the deadline —that there are only enough candidates to fill the positions open, or not even that many. This has happened in Marin school districts.

2. On the other hand, when all hold back, there may appear to be too few candidates, and many may rush in to file at the last minute, some of them to find out afterward that others have filed whom they have supported rather than entering the race themselves.

3. The lack of early candidates clears the way for the machinations of "king makers" who wish to put together tickets of persons whom they feel they can control, or who represent a special interest. When these are entered near the close of the filing period, the fact that they will run as a ticket does not become known until too late for others to oppose them.

4. The time is shortened for the public to learn of the candidates and perhaps urge others into the race. The public's choice in the election is thereby limited.

School board positions pay nothing, are very time-consuming, are generally thankless, and have little political appeal. But no position of local public service is more important. We need the best to run our schools. And a wide choice at the polling place is necessary to get the best.

Don't Knock Money

It has been fashionable to despise money for about 20 years, especially among the young. Especially other people's money, too. There's nothing glamorous about being a money-grubber, we may think.

When we were young, we were imbued with this idea. We had been reared in rich America, where nobody suffered serious deprivation — or so we thought then. Then we happened to spend a year in Hong Kong, which is perhaps the world's most money-minded city. And we haven't looked down on the green stuff since.

Getting the most out of one's funds becomes a blend of mathematics and a fine art when one has very limited means. Living with the Chinese, we were much more aware that money is the result of toil, thrift, sweat, talent, genius, learning, sleepless nights, close figuring and that old intangible, luck.

Don't knock money. We don't appreciate it until we are without it. Unless, of course, government printing presses render it valueless.

Dumke's Plan Offers Hope For Restoring Colleges' Role

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Finally, a measure of reform in the operation of the state college system has been suggested by a high official in state service, and if even a portion of his recommendations are carried out, there is some hope yet for acclimating the antiquated operation to modern times.

Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the California State Colleges, has proposed that ways be found to reduce the traditional four-year undergraduate program to three years or less.

In addition, he has suggested that students be given credit for work undertaken off campus, and that they pay the full costs for courses not required for their degree or credential.

What the suggestions add up to is that the halcyon days of securing an education at the choice of the students are over and gone. What Dumke is trying to do is put education on a business basis so that it can be provided for people who want it and can absorb it, and who intend to use it after it is provided for them.

HE SAYS his plan would provide room for some 12,500 students who are "knocking at the doors" of the state colleges, raise some $10 million to $12 million, benefit the state's taxpayers by giving them their money's worth, and cut down the time the student spends in acquiring his education.

It's fairly well conceded that the chancellor's suggestions will find little favor with the die-hard proponents of the old school, particularly those professors who condescend to teaching a few hours a week. Neither will the ideas be popular with those who teach and take unessential courses at state expense.

Few students would come through with money to pay for courses they do not need for degrees or credentials, which would either decrease the teaching staff, or put teachers to work in providing the essential elements of education.

DUMKE ALSO hopes to reduce duplication in the eduation system. He says that if a student can write well, there is no need for him to sit through a course in elementary composition, and if he knows basic American history from his high school studies, no need to repeat this as a freshman.

Dumke says a student should be allowed to demonstrate his competence on nationally recognized examinations. Also, he suggested credits, after proper examinations, for courses given by television.

The important thing about the report is that an educator of Dumke's caliber came forward with plans to improve the system. It is to be hoped the state board also sees the necessity for preventing complete breakdown and goes ahead with implementation of his suggestions.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Divorce Court Adds Relief Costs

I have been reading in the paper about all of the pressure that is being brought to bear on the mothers on welfare. When will the public, the tax paying public look into why the mothers are on welfare.

This morning I went to court, a divorce action and heard my husband plead poverty, he cannot pay his child support. He took the business, started running around with whomever, neglected to work at the business but denied my rights to it, and all the judge had to say was that he should do better. What are our children supposed to eat? To wear? We are constantly harrassed by this "poor man", but then that is to be expected in a divorce. The courts expect everyone to lie; try telling the truth, it doesn't get you anywhere.

How many mothers would be on welfare if the fathers were made to share the financial costs of raising the children they helped bring into the world? Most mothers are like I am, work five or six days a week and still it isn't enough to give their children what they need plus the time away from them while they work... The welfare laws may not be the best but the divorce laws need changing now to help these mothers meet their responsibilities...

If taxes for the public assistance program are going to be reduced, and they certainly should be, everyone is going to have to accept some responsibility for changing our outdated child support laws and make the fathers, not the state, support their children.

Is It Rock That Lacks Integrity?

In regard to the controversy over the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael, consider the phrase, "it (the rock) lacks integrity."

My dictionary has this to say about integrity, in usage:

A. The walls were standing though not in their integrity.

B. He did but restore the law to her integrity.

C. Better is the poor that walketh in his integrity than he that is perverse in lippes, and is a fool.

I would interpret "perverse in lippes" as men or women who speak perverted of mouth.

'Revenue Sharing' Just Baited Hook

The $16 billion "revenue sharing" concept recently announced by President Nixon is nothing more than a baited hook with a long string.

I agree with the President's concern that too much power has been transferred to Washington; however, Mr. Nixon's proposed method of returning power to local governments is actually a means of further destroying the autonomy of local self-government. Revenue sharing is just another name for federal aid. Federal aid means federal controls and there is no logical or legal way to avoid it.

For Mr. Nixon to say there are no strings attached to shared revenue is for him to be extremely reckless with the truth. The string on the end of the hook can be pulled in at the whim of the federal bureaucrats, and once hooked, our local government is reeled in also — becoming nothing more than an administrative region of "Big Brother"...

If Mr. Nixon is really sincere all he has to do is simply cut taxes by $16 billion plus the amount it would cost to administer the program. It is past time we realized that federal revenue is not pumped out of the Potomac River.

Beach and Wallet: To Much Greed

Tuesday (Jan. 19) was a big disaster day for many Marin residents. The oil spill destroyed the bay waters and waterfowl beyond belief. It was really unbelievable to witness so many people giving generously of their own time and money to help in the endless effort to clean up the mess. I caught oil soaked birds that lined the Strawberry beach shoreline. Equipped with waders and a net, I walked the shoreline for hours picking up birds that were too tired to fly or weren't able. It was difficult catching these frightened birds and they bit hard as a defense.

. . . It was depressing for me and other workers to see the grebes, scooters and coots that were brought in to be washed and fed. Their wings clung fast to their bodies with crude tar oil and I myself had a hard time trying to wash it off my own hands.

Tuesday was also a disaster day for me because I lost my wallet while dropping off birds at the Audubon Sanctuary. After asking dozens of people and running an ad in the I-J for my wallet containing my driver's license, Social Security card, medical card, and things which couldn't be replaced, I received a "postage due" letter with the contents of my wallet and a scribbled note saying:

"I am sorry for the wallet and money being missing. But consider yourself lucky that I was able to send this to you." Signed "a friend."

What a friend! He kept the $7 and the wallet, probably as a reward for himself. I didn't mind the money as much as the wallet, which was a present. I was offering a reward but he chose his own. Too much greed from my way of thinking!

Puppy Rescued By Large Dog

I had a fantastic experience with my puppy that I would like to share with your readers.

My puppy was saved by another dog named "Sam," but I don't know the owner's name. I would like very much to have you print what happened so they might be thanked for having such a wonderful dog, and know just what their dog did. I think it is really something for an animal's intelligence to know to save another dog's life.

The puppy was playing in the College of Marin creek and fell off the bank into the water, and couldn't swim. He started to go under, and a Labrador retriever jumped in after the puppy and brought him to safety . . .

Since "Sam" didn't tell where he was from or who he belonged to, (I) would like to thank the people who own "Sam."

THE DRUMMONDS

Revenue Sharing Will Require All-Out Effort By President

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

(This is the last column in which Geoffrey Drummond participated with his father. He died at the age of 40 in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 29.)

They used one a year ago when Nixon asked for a modest beginning toward revenue-sharing with the hard-pressed states and cities. The democratic majority of the House Ways and Means Committee simply refused to hold any hearings whatsoever. No hearings, no vote, no bill, no nothing.

Now the President has won a mini-victory. A mini-victory with a maxi-threat. When Chairman Wilbur Mills recently met with the President he assured him there would be committee hearings this time, but the second he got to Capitol Hill he assured his colleague that "I'll have hearings for the purpose of killing it."

Thus Congressman Mills provides Nixon with a committee forum for revenue-sharing with a built-in trap door through which he aims to drop it to oblivion at the earliest opportunity.

IF THIS IS the kind of cavalier treatment so important and carefully considered a governmental reform is to receive, Nixon will have to make it a transcendent issue in the nation. Winning public backing for his revenue-sharing policy will have to be as important to Nixon as winning public support for his Vietnam policy. This will require stronger presidential advocacy than he has yet put behind any domestic program.

He seems ready to do so.

We cannot recall any domestic program in recent years which received the degree of public support which the revenue-sharing plan already gets. The latest Gallup Poll, completed before the impetus of the "State of the Union" address, shows 77 per cent in favor and only 14 per cent opposed.

Such public approval will have to be sustained and marshaled and focused directly on Congress if it is to be effective. Only the President can do this, but he has a spontaneous consensus to build on.

IT NEEDS TO BE understood that revenue-sharing, however, needed for itself, is only a means to a much more important end. The end is to reverse the long-time flow of power and resources from local and state government to Washington.

The goal of revenue-sharing is to put the federal taxpayers' monies nearer to where the problems are and to enable those who are directly involved to have more to say about what is to be done with them.

Today in Washington there are some 1,400 grant-in-aid programs costing about $17 billion a year, designed to put federal funds where they would do the most good. They are not doing much good at all. They constitute an overlapping, unmanageable, administrative monster, and something better is needed.

IT WILL BE indeed a bold revolution if we can begin to shift significantly some of the roles and resources of government back to the states and localities where those who are nearest to the problems can have the means to deal with them.

There is additional evidence that this is what the American people want to see happen. Some years ago the greatest concern of the public, as reflected in the polls, was over the out-reaching power of Big Labor. But for the past decades all the polls showed that the greatest concern is with Big Government. It was a new balance struck between Washington and the states and localities.

We somehow doubt that the status-quo congressmen can indefinitely foil the public conviction that now is the time to arrest the flow of power to Washington. And that more needs will be better met by so doing.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Cambodia Raids Adhere To Letter Of The Law

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — The greatest concrete accomplishment of this administration is its large-scale withdrawal of American forces from Southeast Asia in a phased, responsible way.

Outside the combat activities of the enemy himself, the greatest threat to continuation of that orderly withdrawal comes from politicians on Capitol Hill who would tighten restrictions on U.S. action there to the point at which only a pell-mell, unprotected bugout would be possible.

In the hysteria following the President's decision to send American troops into Cambodia last spring, the legislative branch asserted itself to insure that he would not do it again. When it eventually became law, the Cooper-Church Amendment was an important symbolic action, the first time Congress had used its power over the military budget to draw geographical limits on a war already under way.

But it was by no means a unanimous congressional decision, and in the debating and dealing process very clear limits were drawn on the limitations themselves.

UNSATISFIED WITH the fact that the restrictions Congress passed are being observed by the military, disappointed legislators who could not push through their exact desired language now complain that the administration is violating the "spirit" of the amendment.

This comes from Democratic presidential aspirants, who are contesting with typewriters and blue pencils to see who can make the most points against Mr. Nixon, and from some who have no foreseeable chance at the presidency, such as Frank Church of Idaho, co-author of the amendment.

With commendable patience, Secretaries Melvin Laird and William Rogers went up to explain recent operations by American planes and helicopters in and over Cambodia. They convinced some of the earlier complainants, including the other co-author of the amendment, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky. But not Church.

They have to be patient because they have to keep coming back to the Hill for more money. But Rep. Sam Stratton of New York is not in their position, and his response to the outcry about the "spirit" of the law rang loudest.

"WHERE DO WE get all this talk about 'spirit' anyway?" he asked on the floor of the House. "This amendment was never really passed by Congress in the normal course: It was slipped through in the closing days of the last Congress in a conference committee as, frankly, a ransom to the Senate for their approval of the supplemental foreign aid appropriations for Cambodia.

"The House never really debated Cooper-Church. We never explored the full implications of it, let alone the 'spirit' of it. And the only time the House actually voted on Cooper-Church, last spring, we voted against it.

"Last December's acceptance was strictly a shotgun wedding, and so we are committed only to the actual letter of that amendment and not to any broad implications which somebody might think are involved but which never became any part of the legislative history.

"And the letter of Cooper-Church is very simple: No American ground troops or military advisers in Cambodia. And that provision is being scrupulously adhered to."

THAT COVERS it. It doesn't silence those complaining, for they have their motives. One of those motives may be to raise so much ruckus in advance of a violation of the amendment that the administration will be doubly sure not to risk a transgression. If in thus sounding the alarm they stuck to statements of fact, that effort could not be faulted.

But a great deal of fact-stretching was ventured in this most recent flareup of the debate over Cambodian involvement.

If a majority of Congress want Cambodia to collapse and to open up the entire western flank of South Vietnam while good-faith efforts at American withdrawal continue, then it can pass a new law prohibiting U.S. overflights of Cambodian soil. But let it be stated in the letter of the law, not in some nebulous "spirit" that exists only in the mind of the complainant.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

School Reform Report Gets Down To Specifics

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Reports of government-appointed commissions generally are long on "padding" and short on content; but such is not the case with the 57-page report of the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform.

On the report's release, principal attention was given its proposals to abolish teacher tenure, and to replace county schools offices with a system of regional offices of the California Department of Education. But others of its recommendations are equally revolutionary.

One calls for complete rewriting of the California Education code, which contains some 32,000 sections of which many contradict each other. It advocates legislation setting up a commission to draft a whole new code "which would prescribe only minimum limitations," freeing local school districts from the stultifying and often incomprehensible restrictions of the multiplicity of state laws.

THE COMMISSION headed by Robert E. Hanson, also advocates considerable increase in responsibilities of the state Board of Education, and a corresponding decrease in policy responsibilities of the state Department of Education.

This move toward putting educational policy in the hands of those representing the public rather than the education profession would be augmented by making the state superintendent appointive, which the governor's commission — like many before it — advocates.

The state board, says the report, should be given responsibility for assessing the financial needs of the public schools and presenting them in an annual budget to the governor and legislature; for defining the priority of state goals in education, and for prescribing minimum standards of accomplishment.

TYING THIS to the concept of accountability, the commission calls for annual assessment of students' achievement at each grade level, and for student performance objectives on which this would be based.

It strikes at the legislature's habit of mandating new programs, then leaving it up to the local districts to find money for them. "All mandated educational programs (should) be funded by the state." it declares.

Besides advocating repeal of tenure laws, the commission criticizes the lockstep salary schedule by which teachers advance in pay solely on the basis of graduate credits and years of service. Like Gov. Ronald Reagan, it calls for consideration of "merit pay." But it goes farther.

"Career ladders should be provided," says the report, "to permit outstanding teachers to . . .earn as much as, or more than, administrators." To do this, it advocates multiple salary schedules "provided on a competitive basis" and defined in part in terms of responsibilities.

TAKING A CRITICAL look at where the money goes, the commission notes: "Research studies show that on the average at least one-third of a classroom teacher's time is spent in activities which are non-professional in nature." With California teacher salaries aggregating $1,837,000,000 last year, this means more than $600 million in professional salaries was paid for non-professional work, it observes.

Hiring instructional aides has done little to reduce this, the report says. It advocates, instead, using students in teaching training programs. It proposes that a major portion of the state scholarship fund be used for working grants to such students.

There are many other specific suggestions in the report.

Usually, such reports create a brief flurry, then are filed away to gather dust for a few years, after which another commission is created to do the job over again. Perhaps, however, because of its brevity and specificity, this one will have a better fate.

Trial Set For Women On Pot

Belinda Zell, 24, of Stinson Beach has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to two felony charges of seeling marijuana to a narcotics agent.

Trial was set Monday for the week of April 5.

Mrs. Zell was arrested on a warrant Sept. 16 after she allegedly sold a kilo of marijuana July 9 and three lids of marijuana July 27.

Higher Education Feels Pinch Of Reagan's Proposed Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed new state budget asks college and university professors to work harder at the same pay so California can meet its higher education demands.

Reagan also provided newly elected state Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles with more flexibility in running the Department of Education.

The Governor proposed 394 "unspecified positions" costing $9 million which Riles could use as he deems best in administering the agency that guides the educational destinies of California's 4.3 million elementary and high school students. "It is important that the state superintendent of public instruction be held accountable for his programs, not for the programs of the past," Reagan said.

In higher education, the Republican Governor closed the purse strings on the University of California and gave a modest increase to the state colleges.

The university requested $375.1 million in state funds for operation of its nine campuses expected to enroll 110,586 students next fall, an increase of 4 per cent above the current enrollment.

Reagan pared the request down to $337 million, just about the same amount budgeted for this year.

The 19-campus state college system asked $369 million to enroll an expected 221,020 students next fall, a 9 per cent enrollment increase.

The governor authorized the colleges $316 million, a $6 million increase over their present operating budget.

And in his budget message, Reagan told faculty members that for the second straight year they could not expect a pay hike, but would be expected to reach more in the classroom.

The governor noted that it has been "considered customary" that college faculty members teach 12 classroom hours a week and university professors nine per week. He said many have fallen below this set standard.

The State Department of Finance said the average college instructor spends 10 hours a week in the classroom and the typical university faculty member about seven.

"The budget will require an increased teaching load on the part of the faculty in both segments, but it still will not bring the average teaching load above those standards which have been considered the norm," he said.

At the university, Reagan said, 100 faculty positions will be eliminated "through normal attrition," meaning those who leave will not be replaced.

In capital outlay for higher education, the state colleges will be allocated $49.3 million to finance residence halls, college unions, parking lots and health centers.

The proposed capital construction program for the university totals $44.4 million, including $23.9 million from student tuition.

Reagan proposed closing the Frederick Burke School at San Francisco State College at a savings of $387,104. The school instructs teachers in advanced methods of their profession.

Other reductions include $823,000 to eliminate the college's out of state recruitment program, $500,000 from a special social workers master of arts program and $294,000 for special leaves and research.

The Governor also proposed to keep the state's support of local school districts at its current level of $1.6 billion, including an $88 million boost voted by the legislature last year.

State support for the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges was cut by $1 million to $4.4 million. The junior colleges are financed locally.

The No-Bail Program Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A no-bail program should be continued in San Francisco despite the withdrawal of Economic Opportunities Council financial support, the city's Crime Commission declared on Monday.

If the "Own Recognizance" program is allowed to die, it will cost the city both financially and socially, chairman William Orrock Jr. and committee executive Irving Reichert Jr. told a news conference.

Alternatives would be constructing a bigger bail or permitting judges to free defendants without the background investigation furnished by the O. R. Program.

Both said the program saves the city from $330,000 to $665,000 a year and keeps 400 persons a day out of jail.

We've changed.

For years, power disc brakes have been a much-wanted extra-cost item. On many cars they still are extra cost.

Discs give excellent straight-line stopping. They also give improved wet-weather performance.

Something else included with each and every Impala: power ventilation. You get a continuous change of air inside without opening a window, and without moving the car.

We're building more car into every car.

Make your own comparisons. Make it to your Chevrolet dealer's. And have a Value Showdown.

Superior Court Will Handle 'Los Siete' Case

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—Municipal Court robbery charges that had been superseded by a grand jury indictment was dismissed Monday for six Latin American youths.

All six were charged with robbery on a San Mateo County beach following the slaying on a San Francisco street of a policeman during a stolen property investigation.

A jury previously had acquitted the six of a homicide charge in the officer's death.

While the six were in Municipal Court, some 200 demonstrators gathered outside, some waving red flags.

The six are to be arraigned next Tuesday.

BART Link To Marin Is Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Bay Area Rapid Transit District should be ready to build a mass transit link to Marin County, one of its directors declared on Monday.

The Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District is considering a commuter system linking San Francisco and Marin and director William C. Blake declared at a committee meeting "We should step right up ... and say, 'OK, we'll build it.'"

Among the plans being considered by the bridge district is one linking a rail system with BART via a bridge across San Francisco Bay to Richmond.

BART is constructing a rail system connecting Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties.

The bridge district is to report to the Legislature in April on its recommendation for a system north of San Francisco.

Tools Missing

LeRoy French No. 1 Underwater Photog

Gosh, Marin County is producing all kinds of sports celebrities. Like Suyderhoud in water skiing, Sharon Walsh in tennis, Juli McKinstry in figure skating, Johnny Boccabella in baseball, etc. and etc.

Now, along comes LeRoy French of San Rafael who this weekend in Santa Monica will receive an award as "Underwater Photographer of the Year" for his work in 1970.

The seventh American to be so honored, French joins the diver-photographer liked of Jacques and Phillipe Cousteau, Hans Hass, Flip Schulke, Luis Marden, Dr. Dimitri Rebikoff, Lamar Boren, Ben Cropp, Stanton Watermank Ludwig Sillner and Roberto Merlo to receive this award.

Arthur Godfrey of television-radio fame, an outspoken conservationist, will present the award to French at the 14th annual Underwater Film Festival and Explorers Ecological Exposition Feb. 5-7 at Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

According to Bennett J. Mintz, public relations director for the film festival, "French was cited for his continuing efforts, but more important, for his anti-pollution picture that will be shown Friday."

Known here for several years as one of the best diver-photographers, French will gain this international award for his aqua-flick that, according to Mintz, "looks at sea pollution through the eyes of a child who will never see this world as it was intended. In the documentary, French looks at a tanker sunk during World War II that is still leaking oil and destroying surrounding animal and plant life."

The San Rafael man has concentrated most of his underwater photographic efforts in the Bahamas, Virgin Islands and around Grand Cayman Island, about 150 miles southeast of Cuba.

A smart businessman who runs a successful dive shop, French two years ago founded Sojourns, Ltd. for those who wanted to dive and photograph in far away places — the last remaining unpolluted areas of man.

The ideas for Sojourns struck French when he was on Grand Cayman Island. He had been photographing the underwater wonders of the untouched area and decided to gather some of his dive shop customers for trips to Grand Cayman, Mexico, the Philippines and other exotic areas.

His sales pitch was simple: Would you rather spend $100 each on six or eight diving weekends during the year and see nothing, or blow $800 in one shot for 17 days of the greatest diving in the world?

His concept is more than just one of recreation. It's one of preservation, too.

Just before leaving for his award-winning trip to Santa Monica today, he said: "Some years ago diving resorts were established in the Bahamas that were supposed to answer all the needs. But after they put up hotels and a cement plant and a hydro-electric outlet, they polluted the water so badly that nobody would go there to dive.

"We've established what we like to think of as small 'Garden of Edens' where the undersea world will be preserved. We strongly discourage spearfishing or the taking of any plant or animal life; we encourage our Sojourners to photograph underwater and forever preserve th e beauty."

OPENING MOMENTS — This was the scene yesterday afternoon at College of Marin at the start of the action as the Redwood Giants (dark uniforms) met the Tamalpais Indians to finish their bomb scare aborted game. A near capacity crowd of 1,400, more than twice as many as saw the first part of the game last week at Tam, were in attendance as Redwood remained undefeated in Marin County Athletic League Play with a 48-44 victory.

STRENGTH AND FINESSE — Redwood High School reserve guard Rich Hagler (25), pulled down an offensive rebound and immediately went up over Tamalpais' Clifford Hall to score early in the fourth quarter yesterday at College of Marin. Hagler's bucket gave the Giants an eight point lead, and they went on to win by four.

Redwood Clips Tam, 48-44 To Take Commanding Lead

By DAVID EINSTEIN

All the ingredients for high drama were jammed inside College of Marin's spacious gym yesterday afternoon, as the Tamalpais High School Indians and the Redwood High Giants met to complete their bomb scare-abbreviated basketball game.

The finished product, however, wasn't dramatic as the Giants of Larkspur, exuding confidence, outmuscled and outshot the Indians of Mill Valley to win, 48-44.

A near capacity crowd of 1,400, more than twice as large as saw the first two and a half quarters of the game last Tuesday night, came to Kentfield expecting to witness a small war. The contest was a battle for first place in the Marin County Athletic League, and had been ferociously fought until a telephoned bomb threat interrupted the game at the Tam gym with 4:06 left in the third quarter and Redwood leading, 30-27.

Tam's John Earl Huff, who was on the free throw line shooting one when action was postponed, missed the shot as the game was resumed, and that set the tone. The Giants, who remain undefeated in MCAL play with seven wins, opened up a six-poinf lead at the end of the third quarter, widened it to 10 midway through the final period and relaxed in the final minutes.

The overriding factor that enabled the Giants to dominate both ends of the court was their powerful rebounding; they pulled down four rebounds under their own basket, while shutting off completely at the defensive end. Most of the work was done by center Steve McGee, but he got timely help from Scott Trobbe, Tim Hennessey and Rich Hagler.

Tam's main hope was that their center Will Garner, the league's leading scorer, couldn't possibly be as off target as he was last Tuesday.

Seaver Sets A Goal For 20-Game Year

By FRED DOWN
By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, who a year ago thought a 30-victory season was a reasonable goal, is aiming at a much more modest achievement in 1971: He wants to be a 20-game winner again.

The 26-year old right-hander, who had a 25-7 record in 1969 and an 18-12 mark in 1970, revealed that he has set a goal for himself for the first time in his career Tuesday when he signed a 1971 contract estimated at $91,000. He is believed to have been paid $80,000 in 1970.

"I never really have set goals for myself before, but I hope to win at least 20 games in 1971 and help the club win our division," said Seaver at the signing ceremony. "What the Mets are paying, they expect me to win 20 games. I know I'm capable of much better than last year."

Seaver, the National League's Cy Young Award winner as pitcher of the year in 1969, seemed on his way to another 23-25-victory season in 1970 when he had a 16-5 record in mid-August. He suddenly slumped, however, and had a 2-7 record for the remainder of the season.

"It was a case of physical tiredness leading to mental exhaustion," said Seaver Tuesday. "One thing led to another and it just snowballed."

Despite his late-season slump, Seaver led the National League with a 2.81 earned run average and struck out 283 batters in 291 innings.

Jerry Koosman, who slumped to 12 victories in 1970 after winning 19 games in 1968 and 17 in 1969, also signed with the Mets Tuesday. The big left-hander's salary is estimated at $57,000.

On other fronts:

Dave Cash, who hit .314 last season and is likely to take over as the regular second baseman this year, signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates along with infielders Jackie Hernandez and Frank Taveras. Hernandez was obtained in a winter trade with the Kansas City Royals while Taveras played last season with Gastonia in the Western Carolinas League.

The Pirates also announced the signing of pitchers Nelson Briles, Ed Acosta and Larry Killingsworth. Briles, 6-7 with a 6.22 ERA last season, was acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Ken Harrelson, the mod-man of the Cleveland Indians, said in Miami, Fla., that he has signed with the club but doesn't know what his salary is. He said he signed his name to a blank contract and is confident the Indians will fill in a living wage.

Pitcher Jim Kaat has signed his contract with Minnesota but Twins' owner Calvin Griffth revealed that Jim Perry, the American League's Cy Young Award winner last year, is acting coy.

Griffith said that Perry

Close, But Sonoma State Loses 16th Straight Game

The Sonoma State College Cossacks this season have been one of the West Coast's two most consistent basketball teams. The other, Southern California, hasn't lost, and is top ranked in the nation. The Cossacks haven't won, and are mired in the cellar of the Far West Conference.

Last night at Humboldt State, the Rohnert Park team absorbed its 16th setback of the season, but came closer to winning than usual. They trailed by only four points with less than two minutes left to play, but couldn't stand the prosperity and finally lost, 81-72.

Bob Williams proved unstoppable for the Lumberjacks as he poured in 30 points, and helped his team establish a 14-point lead over Sonoma midway through the second half. The Cossacks rallied admirably behind Jeff Barker to close the gap finally to four, but Humboldt employed a stall in the final minute, forcing Sonoma to foul.

Barker led the Cossacks with 16 points, followed by Mark Buckley with 12, and Mel Peterson with 11. Larry Austin, usually their top scorer, was held to just nine points, all in the first half.

Lanier, Gallagher In Fold

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants now have 15 men under contract, including first-line infielders Hal Lanier and Al Gallagher.

Lanier, Gallagher and southpaw hurlers John Cumberland and Mike Davison inked 1971 pacts Tuesday with the Giants.

Lanier's signing was the biggest news because he had let loose a winter blast at the club in which he said he wanted to be traded.

The Giants went into the winter meetings in Los Angeles with the announcement that they were looking for a shortstop, hardly a show of confidence in Lanier and Tito Fuentes who fought for the job last season.

But vice president Jerry Donovan and Lanier had a lengthy talk and apparently ironed things out.

In 130 games, Lanier handled 675 chances, 83 of them during a double play. He hit .231, but knocked in 41 runs on 101 hits.

Gallagher, the Giants' only native San Franciscan, hit .266 as a rookie and delivered six pinch hits, including a game-winning homer.

Cumberland, acquired from the Yankees in a trade, was sent down to Phoenix but returned long enough to compile a 2-0 record with one earned run surrendered in 11 innings. He might be a starter this time around.

Davison was 3-5 in 30 games.

The 15 men signed include stars Willie McCovey and Gaylord Perry, working on the second year of hefty two-year pacts.

Mullins Shows Finishing Finesse To Beat Hawks

Mullins was the hero as San Francisco battled from nine points behind in the fourth quarter to nip Maravich and the Atlanta Hawks 101-99 for the Warriors' fourth straight victory before 5,459 ecstatic fans. It also marked the third time in four games this season that the Gold Shirts have prevailed over the Southerners.

Maravich outscored Mullins 27-26 but the Warriors guard drove the middle and scored the go-ahead basket to put the Warriors on top 100-99 with 18 seconds remaining.

Seconds later, Warrior guard Nick Jones flicked the ball away from Walt Hazzard and Jerry Lucas gained possession. Mullins was then fouled by Hazzard and made one of the two free throws to end the scoring with five seconds left and would up tallying 11 of San Francisco's 30 points in the final period.

Walt Bellamy collected 17 rebounds for Atlanta, but the Warriors countered that with a one-two punch of Lucas, who grabbed 16 and Nate Thurmond who plucked 15.

San Francisco produced a balanced attack which also found Joe Ellis and Thurmond each scoring 16 points and Lucas adding 15. Hazzard hit for 23 points, including 14 in the first quarter which helped the Hawks to a 57-55 halftime lead. Atlanta built its cushion to 10 points in the third period before Mullins led the fourth-quarter charge.

The win gave the Warriors a 31-26 record and a stronger hold on second place in the NBA West, 2 1-2 games behind leader Los Angeles.

San Francisco plays at Phoenix on Thursday night and at Portland Friday before returning to the Oakland Coliseum-Arena Saturday for a go-round with Lew Alcindor and the Milwaukee Bucks. Then they have to play Los Angeles Sunday for their fourth game in as many days.

Washington Defense Home For The Aged

One of the troubles with the United States of American is, it has never known what to do with its aged. It pushes them down to St. Petersburg or Long Beach or Leisure World and hands them a Panama hat or a shuffleboard stick and lets them doze in the sun.

We have had various plans for them over the years — the Townsend plan, the Sinclair plan, and the George McLain movement.

BUT NOW, George Allen has opened up a whole new career for senior citizens. No longer need they weave baskets or sort castoff clothing or even babysit the grandchildren. There are openings for retired people in the Washington Redskins' defensive backfield. George has just traded for the entire linebacking corps of the Los Angeles Rams, three players whose ages this season will be 35 (Jack Pardee), 33 (Maxie Baughan) and 32 (Myron Pottios). All but Pottios had retired to the carpet slippers and hotwater bottle at least once.

THE WASHINGTON backfield is now officially Sun City East. Instead of their position numbers, the players will wear their social security numbers. Lawrence Welk will do the halftime shows and, in the locker rooms, the pinups of Raquel Welch will be replaced by Mae West and Lillian Russell. On the team bus, the squad will sing a medley of Civil War songs.

George Allen, as a coach, has never ceased to be astonished that you could get real live football players for pieces of paper. He knows that other staffs are dazzled by the prospect of draft choices the way savages used to be for beads. George scatters draft choices like confetti.

HIS PHILOSOPHY is simple: It takes five or more years to make a "pro," i.e., a man who will make only one or no mistakes a game. George would just as soon let some other franchise endure that first four years of mistakes which blood a player.

History is on his side. A scanning of the Rams' first draft choices in recent years dredges up such all-timers as Billy Cannon, Terry Baker, Rufus Guthrie, Bill Munson. Allen attaches so little weight to draftees, he dealt off Jim Seymour, a first draft selection, for a taxi-squad lineman last year.

THE RAMS' trading record is considerably better than their drafting record. They got several crack years out of supposedly over-the-hill linemen like Roosevelt Grier, Roger Brown, and Maxie Baughan. Allen considered that luring Pardee, Baughan, and Eddie Meador out of retirement was considerably more of a feat than dipping into the NFL lottery and coming up with nothing.

When you consider the Rams came up with VMI quarterbacks, Vanderbilt halfbacks, and scatterarm Heisman Trophy winners — none of whom could make the team — in the days when only a dozen teams were carving up the existing talent, Allen wonders why you should have faith in an expansion era when your "first round draft choice" might be the 26th player chosen.

THE RAMS now have a lot of draft choices but nolinebackers. The Washington Redskins have a generation gap. They should change the name to the Washington Skinheads. The country might be giving the kids the vote, but George is bucking the trend. He doesn't trust anyone under 30 — not backing up his line anyway. If he had the rights to Jim Plunkett, he'd probably deal them for George Blanda — or George Plimpton.

Marin In Campbell Tonight

The College of Marin Tars, who less than a month ago had the best record of any junior college basketball team in the state and were fourth ranked, tonight will be fighting to stay alive in the Camino Norte Conference when they meet the West Valley J. C. Vikings in Campbell.

Having lost two of their last three games, the Tars of Kentfield now stand tied with West Valley in third place, behind the two teams that beat them, undefeated De Anza and once defeated Contra Costa. A loss tonight, in the final game of the first of two round robins, would jeopardize their survival as far as post season playoffs are concerned.

Overall, Marin's record is still magnificent, 19-3; that didn't seem to impress De Anza last Saturday night. The Cupertino Cagers rattled the Tars into missing 11 layups, and won, 82-60.

The main matchup tonight will be between Marin center Roosevelt Green and West Valley's Joe Gallagher. The latter, who gives up two inches to Green, is, according to Marin coach John Panagakis, the best 6-foot-4 pivot man in Northern California.

If the Tars can get by West Valley, they will be in what Panagakis considers good shape going into the second half of the season. This for two reasons. They'll have the home court advantage against De Anza, Contra Costa and West Valley, and they'll have the services of former Tamalpais High School star Floyd Jackson, who becomes eligible Friday night against Skyline.

BYU Signs Three Blacks For Football

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—Brigham Young University has signed three junior college transfers—all blacks—to play spring football.

The trio will join two other black football players who played varsity and freshman ball at the Mormon-owned school last fall.

BYU has been the target of demonstrators during various sporting events over the past two years because of alleged racial discrimination on the part of the Church of Latterday Saints which runs the school. As a result, the school had stepped up its recruitment of black athletes.

The school already had two blacks in its football program last fall. Ron Knight, a transfer from North Eastern Oklahoma A&M, played on the varsity, and Tony Williams, Oakland, Calif.,played freshman ball.

Terra Linda Lad Provides Fine Marin Sports Story

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Marin County Athletic League water polo, like soccer, was an orphaned sport this year, without a season to call its own.

In the case of soccer, it was the football teams that monopolized the use of fields during the first months of the school year, and chased the minor sport into November. Water polo suffered a less glorious fate at the hands of girls' swimming, which traditionally has used the pools in the fall.

So water polo limped along, without sufficient pre-season competition, because other leagues in other areas play normal seasons, collateral with football. And when they did find suitable games, Marin teams invariably got their socks beat off because they, at the beginning of their season, were up against teams at the tail end of theirs.

But for at least one person, all this was a blessing. Pat Ellington of Terra Linda never would have played during an autumn season. He spent the entire month of October flat on his back with infectious hepatitis.

That the senior forward came back to help his team record a perfect league season, and that in the process he finished second in scoring for the second straight year, is one of the nicer stories of the school year.

"He's gotta be one of the two or three best players in the league," Terra Linda coach Chuck Metz says of Ellington. Other coaches obviously agree, because they named him to the all-league first team for the second straight year.

A prospectus, written by Metz the day before Ellington was released from Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital, describes the blond star as having "tremendous hands and size.

COMEBACK — Pat Ellington of Terra Linda High School came out of hospital in time to help his water polo team to championship.

Should be an outstanding player, but at the present time is hospitalized, and is a doubtful participant. If he doesn't get back it will be a big loss. We all hope 'Duke' gets well soon."

Contrary to the prognosis of doctors, who said it would be from six months to a year before he could play again, Ellington was back in the water less than two months after being struck down. Admittedly, he was not in any kind of shape. "I'd lost a lot of the skills —swimming strength and ball handling."

His first game was the last preseason contest for the Trojans; it meant that, besides playing in a decidedly weakened condition, he had to go into league competition without any preseason training.

For the first seven league games, up until the Christmas break, Ellington was definitely not his normal self, but he still managed to hold down the third spot in scoring at the season's halfway point.

The holiday rest was obviously the turning point, because in the last five games of the season, he was, according to Metz, "As strong as he has ever been, and better than he was last year."

He was so good, in fact, that he missed being named unanimously to the all-league team by a single vote. Only one player, Doug Brockbank of Redwood, got the unanimous nod, and he, also, led the league in scoring with 79 goals. Ellington had 67.

Three other Trojans were chosen to the first all-league team. Forwards Steve Batory and Thom Gutherie both made it, as did deep goalie Bertil Johanson. Such talent is almost always the product of a well-nourished system, and Terra Linda is no exception.

Metz, who has been the coach since the team was started three years ago, began then with a team composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores. Today those sophomores, including Ellington, Batory and Gutherie, are seniors, and the club is enjoying the harvest of its labor. Their superiority over the rest of the league can be evidenced by the fact that they scored 193 goals, to just 73 for their opponents. Both were the best figures in the league.

"My team probably has as much or more talent than any team I've seen in the area," said Metz, with the qualification that he doesn't have a real superstar like some East Bay teams. But his front line is undoubtedly one of the finest around.

Now the Marin coaches are exploring the possibility of doing what soccer has already accomplished — changing to a fall sport. The need is not as urgent as for soccer, which was forced to play under horrible field conditions and winter rains. But the need is there, if only to insure suitable preseason competition.

Wrong there. He made the first shot he tried, but thereafter was a picture of frustration, hitting only one more shot in seven attempts.

But the pressure was on the 6-foot-3 junior, admittedly the Indians' only threat against Redwood's stifling defense, and he did manage to lead all scorers in the Kentfield portion of the game with seven points.

Redwood got the same balanced scoring yesterday that has marked its play all year. Trobbe, who took game honors with 16 points, and McGee collected five each, with three each going to Hennessey and Hagler, and two to Mike Connor.

Clifford Hall, who had six points yesterday including a last ditch layup that accounted for the final margin, finished the game with 11 points to lead Tam. Garner and John Earl Huff had 10 each. The Indians are now 5-2 in league play.

returned his unsigned contract with a note reading: "Mr. Griffith, you have sent me somebody else's contract."

Griffith retorted, "When I send a man a contract for $60,000, I know who I'm sending it to."

Pitcher Jim McGlothlin and farmhands Stan Swanson and Mickey Pless signed with the Cincinnati Reds. McGlothlin, hampered by leg and knee injuries, finished at 14-10 after an 11-4 start... Chris Cannizzaro, who batted .279 last season, and pitcher Gerald Nyman agreed to terms with the San Diego Padres. Nyman was 9-13 with a 4.09 ERA at Salt Lake City last season ... The San Francisco Giants upped their contented list to 15 players with the signing of infielders Hal Lanier and Al Gallagher and pitchers John Cumberland and Mike Davison ... The Kansas City Royals acquired outfielder-first baseman Carl Taylor from the Milwaukee Brewers for catcher Ellie Rodriguez.

Reggie Jackson Rejects Offer

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) —Outfield Reggie Jackson reportedly has rejected the Oakland A's first contract offer.

Jackson slumped to 23 homers and 66 rbi's in 1970 after a great 1969 campaign that saw him belt 47 roundtrippers. He fanned 135 times in 426 at bats last year.

He has been tearing up the winter league here and has hit 20 homers already—highest the league has seen in more than 20 years.

Revenge Victory For Cotate Five

The Rancho Cotate High School Cougars won a revenge victory over the El Molino High Lions yesterday, 72-46 in a North Bay II League basketball game in Forestville.

The Cougars of Rohnert Park, getting a well balanced scoring output from their starters, were never challenged as they evened their league record at 4-4. The win was an unusually easy one over a team that early in the year defeated them.

Steve and Mike Wlodarzcyk scored 14 and 13 points respectively to lead the assault, and Ron Seiler hit 12. Top man for El Molino was Wayne Catron with 16.

BOWLING TIPS

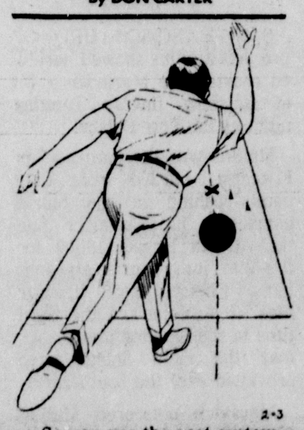
By DON CARTER



2-3

So you use the spot system, but do you really watch the spot as you deliver the ball? Many bowlers have a spot in mind, but as the ball nears it they start watching the ball instead. Afterward, they cannot tell you whether the ball went over the spot, or to the right or left of it. Making corrections, therefore, is very difficult. Concentrate on watching the spot.

Hicke Looking For Face Mask

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —The California Seals will be looking for a victory tonight against the Pittsburgh Penguins while winger Bill Hicke will be looking for a face mask in California.

Hicke underwent an operation Tuesday morning at Peralta Hospital and said that whether he would play Friday against Montreal is undecided. Much depends if he can find the right type of mask to cover his injured nose.

"The doctor said if I was a normal patient he wouldn't let me do anything for a month," Hicke said. "But he's a hockey fan and understands the situation so I'll be out there if I can locate a cage type, football type, mask."

Cutter Labs Has Growth Potential

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am putting my wife and I through college on a part-time job and am able to purchase shares of Cutter Labs Class A common stock on a profit-sharing plan through my job. My main concern is growth, with income being only a secondary consideration. Should I hold my Cutter shares for growth or sell to buy a better growth issue? — D.R.

A. Although Cutter's earnings record has been somewhat erratic, the basic growth of the firm's business has been impressive. Sales have increased each year of the past ten. In fact, they have climbed over 100 per cent-plus since 1961.

The primary reason for the company's rather sluggish recent profit performance is the major building program which Cutter initiated in 1967. While this has been a restrictive element, the fruits of this effort have begun to show up in most results with benefits expected to be substantial in years ahead.

For the first nine months of 1970, Cutter reported a 12 per cent advance in net income to $2 million on an 18 per cent increase in sales to the $52.09 million level. Margins were curtailed somewhat by higher labor costs and increased expenses for raw materials. However, pretax earnings rose 6 per cent to $3.8 million. Cutter is believed to be the foremost producer of plasma fractions, such as Plasmanate for shock, Konyne for hemophilia and immune globulins for measles and various other diseases, areas expected to enjoy continued strong demand.

In prosthetics, Cutter has been working for a number of years with a leading Japanese doctor in the development of a new, low profile heart valve which is being marketed at present — another field with sizeable potential. Moreover, the firm is also working with leading orthopedic surgeons on various kinds of artificial joints.

Cutter's involvement in these untapped markets plus the bullish outlook for health care products augur well for the company's future prospects.

If Tax Preference Items Exceed $30,000, Study The New Rules

Tax Preferences have an additional 10 per cent tax. However, this does not apply to you unless you have a total of tax preference income in excess of your $30,000 exemption and the income tax for the year.

What is tax preference income? It is:

1. Excess Investment Interest
2. Capital Gains
3. Accelerated Depreciation on Real Property
4. Accelerated Depreciation on Personal Property subject to a net lease
5. Bargain element in stock options
6. Depletion
7. Excess amortization of pollution control facilities and railroad rolling stock
8. Excess bad debt deductions of financial institutions

In addition, there are special rules for:

1. Estates and Trusts and Common Trust Fund Participants
2. Tax-Option Corporations
3. Regulated Investment Companies and Real Estate Investment Trusts.

The 10 per cent minimum tax on tax preference items applies for 1970 and thereafter (except excess investment interest only to 1972). There are special rules for fiscal year taxpayers. In computing the 10 per cent tax, the total amount of your tax preference items is reduced by your $30,000 exemption. In the case of married persons filing separate returns, the exemption is $15,000 each.

Your tax preference income is further reduced by the amount of income tax that you pay for the year with certain adjustments.

Chances are that only the first six of the above items would apply to the individual taxpayer.

1. Excess investment interest. The interest you pay for your investments in excess of the income, less the other expenses of the investment.
2. Capital Gains. The untaxed half of your long-term capital gain income is a preference income item.
3. Accelerated depreciation on real property. The excess of accelerated depreciation on buildings and other depreciable real property over straight line is a tax preference item.
4. Personal property subject to a net lease. The excess of accelerated depreciation over straight line is a tax preference item.
5. Bargain element in stock options. The difference between the stock option price and the fair market value at the time of purchase is, in some cases, a tax preference item.
6. Percentage depletion. The allowable depletion less your adjusted basis of the property at the end of the prior year is preference income.

If it is possible that you will have any of these tax preference items and the total would amount to more than $30,000, be sure to study these new rules.

A good source of information is the book "Your Federal Income Tax 1971 Edition for Individuals" for sale by IRS or by the government printing office for 75 cents. It's a bargain in tax advise and the cost is deductible.

Carlson Asks Air Fare Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The president of the nation's largest airline said a fare hike for the financially ailing air carriers in in the national interest.

Edward E. Carlson, who took over United Air Lines two months ago, told a Senate Aviation Subcommittee the airlines lost more than $100 million in 1970, and "1971 could be another troublesome year."

United itself lost $40 million in 1970, and its earnings dropped to the point where it could be disqualified by law from borrowing money in 1972 from insurance companies, a major source of funds for the airlines, Carlson claimed.

Stocks Fall Slightly On Heavy Sales

NEW YORK (UPI) --Stocks were slightly lower in heavy turnover near noon Wednesday.

The setback was largely the result of profit taking, although investors appeared a little concerned over reports of a major allied offensive near the Laotian border.

Declines were leading advances by about 50 issues, while the Dow Jones industrial average was off about a point.

Washington sources said earlier this week that 25,000 South Vietnamese and 9,000 American troops were involved in a military operation in the northwestern corner of South Vietnam. The Nixon administration said no U. S. ground forces would enter Laos, but did not rule out air support.

One analyst said Laos could become a disquieting market factor, but noted that not enough is known yet for investors to turn jumpy.

Prices were firm in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Advances were leading declines by around 100 issues.

On the big board, trading in American Motors was halted by an influx of trading orders following the announcement of a profitable first quarter in the period ended Dec. 31 against a loss a year ago.

Prior to the trading halt American Motors' stock was up 7-8 after being down earlier. Other automotive stocks surrendered factions.

Steel Production Up 2.5 Per Cent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steel production rose by 2½ per cent last week to 2,662,000 tons from 2,596,000 tons the week before, the American Iron & Steel Institute reported.

Production in the week ended Jan. 30 was equal to 109.1 on the institute's new index (average weekly production 1967 equals 100, or 2,439,701 tons) compared with 106.4 the week before.

Production from the start of the year through Jan. 30 totaled 10,881,000 tons, compared with 10,908,000 tons at the same point in 1970.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 3, the 34th day of 1971.

The moon is in the first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn. Those born on this day are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this day in history:

In 1917 the United States broke off diplomatic relations with Germany after that nation announced unrestricted submarine warfare.

In 1924 Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington. He was the 28th president.

In 1966 the Russians put an unmanned satellite on the moon with a soft landing.

A thought for today: British writer Samuel Butler said, "I do not mind lying, but hate inaccuracy.

Funds Collected For City Hall

The initial campaign for contributions toward redecoration of Novato City Hall netted $440 from individuals, organizations and churches, according to Be Carpenter, project chairman.

The names of contributors will be on a scroll at the entrance to the city hall.

More contributions are needed to complete the project, Mrs. Carpenter said. Persons who contribute in the coming year will be named on a second scroll to be placed at city hall next January, she said.

Dummy's King Of Spades Proves The Key To Victory

"You get what you pay for, my boy," my Uncle Throckmorton used to tell me after too many glasses of good Sussex ale. "Be ready to pay for your pleasure, and run as fast as you can when somebody offers you something for nothing." I always listened to the old boy, because he always had a bridge hand to prove his point.

FREE FINESSE?

"I led the six of spades from the West hand," my uncle related, "and South thought for a moment or two. Then he muttered something about a free finesse and played dummy's jack of spades.

"East covered with the queen of spades, and South won with the ace, muttering something about costing him nothing. That man came to a bad end, my boy. Went into the House of Lords and was never heard of again."

I filled up his glass and asked him what happened on the bridge hand.

Nothing to it, my boy. South led a diamond, and I took the ace. I returned the ten of spades, of course, just in case my partner had the unguarded nine. You see what would happen if I led a low spade?"

LOSS OF MOMENTUM

I saw. East would be allowed to win the trick with the nine of spades and would be unable to continue the suit. That loss of momentum would allow declarer to make his contract.

"I knocked out the king of spades," my uncle continued, "and got in with the ace of clubs in time to defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. Free finesse, indeed. Harrumph!"

RIGHT AS USUAL

As usual, my Uncle Throckmorton was right. South should play the low spade from dummy at the first trick, winning with the ace. He leads a diamond, and West takes the diamond ace and leads another spade.

Only now can South afford the spade finesse. East wins with the queen of spades but cannot continue the spades. South regains the lead and knocks out the ace of clubs while dummy still has the king of spades to stop the dangerous suit.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - Q 9
♥ - J 10 8 6 4
♦ - 8 4
♣ - 10 6 5 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

In addition to the long heart suit you have strength in spades and something of value in clubs. You cannot be sure that two hearts would be a better contract that 1 no-trump.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Reynolds Metals Company says it has collected 80 million empty cans since its nationwide aluminum can recycling program began a year ago.

The company collected 3.4 million cans in the San Francisco Bay area alone, a spokesman said, and paid $17,000 to people who brought the cans to recycling centers here.

Dominican School Opening Courses For Teachers

Twelve in-service courses for elementary and high school teachers, sponsored by the Dominican College Department of Education, will begin in Marin this week.

The classes are under the direction of Charles Lavaroni, assistant professor of education and director of elementary student teaching at Dominican. With the exception of a three-day seminar on food on March 26 and 27 and April 1, all courses will offer three units of college credit.

Subjects include handling the disturbing child in the classroom, classroom guitar, multi-ethnic studies and designing classroom environments for creative learning. The classes will be held at locations throughout the county.

Further information on the courses and the dates times and locations may be obtained from Lavaroni at the college.

Dinery Chain Wins Use Permit

Love's Restaurant Chain plans to open a new restaurant just south of McDonald's Restaurant on the east side of Highway 101 at Alto.

Kenco Development Co., the builder of Love's Restaurants, won a use permit Monday from Ralph D. Cairns, Marin County deputy zoning administrator.

Cairns said the use permit is subject to design review, a land division to separate the new restaurant site from a car wash planned by Clean Machines Incorporated, and approval of sewer hookup from the Richardson Bay Sanitary District.

The deputy zoning administrator also denied Robert Rhoads's request that a 5,000 square foot substandard lot be legalized at 125 Greenbrae Boardwalk, Larkspur.

District Seeks Bids On Auto

The auto still has 40,000 miles remaining on its 50,000-mile warranty.

Closing date for bids is Feb. 15 at the district office. The district has set a minimum of $2,100 for bids and has required a returnable 10 per cent deposit with the bids.

Probation Report Asked On Teen-Ager

The Case of Dennis Kevin Healey, 18, of 1802 Virginia Avenue, Novato, has been referred to the Marin County Probation Department for report Feb. 17 on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Healey was arrested by Novato police Sunday on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Healey and three juveniles, two boys and a girl, were in a car checked by police as it left the Pleasant Valley School grounds at 9:13 p.m.

Police said there was the odor of marijuana in the car and Healey was carrying what appeared to be marijuana in his pocket. The three other occupants were cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of being in a place where marijuana was being used.

Guilty Plea To Car Theft Count

Clarence Frank Spanos, 33, of Fairfax has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of car theft.

He had earlier pleaded innocent to the charge, as well as to charges of grand theft and embezzlement.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday dismissed the other two charges Monday at the request of the district attorney's office which said they were restatements of the car theft charge.

Sponos was arrested in August after a station wagon he rented in Mill Valley was found abandoned in Lake County and Spanos called the California Highway Patrol to claim the car.

Sentencing was set for March 22.

Show At Bank

THE GOOD MILEAGE TIRE

- 4-PLY NYLON CORD BODY FOR STRENGTH
- 24 MONTH TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

| Tread Wear Expectancy | Tread Wearout Allowance |
|---|---|
| 40,000 miles | Prorated on Miles Driven |
| 40 month | $10.00 |
| 39 month | 8.00 |
| 36 month | 6.00 |
| 33 month | 5.00 |
| 30 month | 4.00 |
| 24 month | 3.00 |
| 18 month | 2.00 |
